LACK OF FUNDS HOLDS UP PAY FOR TEACHERS

Strawn Is Gloomy on Loan Outlook.

BY OSCAR HEWITT.

Another day of disappointing effort passed in hunting cash to continue operating the county and city governments and the public schools. Last night the outlook was more gloomy than on Monday.

H. Wallace Caldwell, president of the board of education, said "there is no hope" of selling tax anticipation warrants to obtain money on which to operate the schools. He added: "Where we will get the necessary money I don't know, unless from the state legislature."

"It will be extremely difficult to sell corporate tax warrants," said George K. Schmidt, city controller.

No Bidders on Loans.

The county has twice offered $7,000,000 in tax warrants and has been unable to get any bidders. The city has been unable to find a taker for $625,000 in tax warrants of the municipal tuberculosis sanitarium. The city, county and school board are out of operating cash.

"Because public officials have been unable to obtain loans or otherwise secure operating revenue," reads a statement from Silas H. Strawn of the citizens' committee, "some of my associates and I have been spending the last three days and nights in a strenuous effort to relieve the distress in our charitable institutions, city and county. We have been attempting to get cash for the care of the sick, injured, orphans, blind and dependent wards of the community."

Strawn Report Explains.

To date the Strawn committee has failed. The statement explains the reason as follows:

"The banks have heretofore been the source from which funds have been derived for the several governments functioning in the city of Chicago. They have already purchased tax anticipation warrants to the amount of $185,000,000. Consistent with their duty to their directors and the public, they can advance no more funds. They owe an obligation to their depositors and to their customers who need money to operate business. Therefore, it has seemed to me that the only source of supply from which funds could be derived is the taxpayers. Thus far we have been unable to induce the taxpayers to purchase tax anticipation warrants issued by the several governments against taxes for the year of 1930."

Shows Serious Situation.

Mr. Strawn's statement depicts the situation as much more serious than is shown by any statements issued by the public officials.

"The statement furnished me by the county controller," said Mr. Strawn, "sets out that there will be due March 1 salaries for employés totaling $2,250,000, and other outstanding liabilities of $3,315,000. It shows there is immediate need of $75,000 for the children's home finding fund, of $85,000 for the Illinois Training school fund, of $270,000 for the mothers' pension fund, and $85,000 for the relief of the blind fund.

Can't Meet Pay Rolls.

"The city controller writes me that the expense of maintaining the municipal tuberculosis sanitarium requires a total of approximately $185,000 a month for salaries and other expense, such as food, supplies, coal, light and power; and they have no money to meet their pay rolls for a part of the month of January and of December and February. He states that they still have unexhausted $400,000 of tax anticipation warrants for the years of 1928 and 1929, which they are unable to sell because there are no purchasers.

"He further states that funds are immediately needed for this sanitarium, the pensions funds of the city, and the public library. The controller also writes that the policemen and firemen were not paid on their last pay day, and that the expenses for salaries and wages during January will total $3,300,000."

Nurses Not Paid.

Switching to the county hospital, Mr. Strawn's statement says:

"The nurses in the county hospital have not been paid for the last month. They have wages in arrears between $60,000 and $70,000. The nursing association, which furnishes these nurses at cost to the county, has been paid nothing by the county for the services during the year of 1929, except for the first two months.

"The association has been com-

BULLETIN.

The thermometer was steadily falling during the early morning hours and at 3 o'clock had reached an unofficial 4 below zero.

The third frigid wave of this winter—one promising to be less severe but more protracted than that which sank the temperature 16 degrees below zero last week—was surging over Chicago and the central states last night and early this morning.

Forecaster C. A. Donnel said today would be fair with a possible maximum temperature of 15 degrees in the late afternoon and a decline perhaps to zero again during the night. Tomorrow's outlook is for about the same performance.

"There's really not a whiff of warm weather in sight," stated Mr. Donnel. "A broad area of high atmospheric pressure extends clear across Canada from Alaska to Quebec and there's no compensating low area in the United States. Hence we expect the weather situation to remain indefinitely at a status quo and the Canadian cold will continue to filter down across the border until a low pressure area develops somewhere to alter the weather map."

3 Below at 2 A. M.

Attaining a chilly maximum of 10 degrees at 1 o'clock yesterday, the mercury slipped a degree or two each hour thereafter until, when the last official record was taken at 9 p. m., the temperature was 2 above.

At 2 o'clock this morning the central coast guard thermometer, which usually corresponds with the official thermometer atop the federal building, showed 3 below zero. Mr. Donnel had predicted a probable reading of 5 below zero downtown and 10 below in the western suburbs by daybreak.

Two Deaths Laid to Cold.

Three deaths were attributed to the cold yesterday in the metropolitan area. Louise Brown, 75 year old spinster, was found frozen to death in bed by an insurance agent who called to collect a premium at her home, 6342 South Aberdeen street.

Steve Franciscowicz, 40 years old, of McCook, a western suburb, was stricken apparently while asleep walking in his bare feet and was found dead in a driveway at 4937 South Engledale avenue, McCook.

Seeking shelter from a temperature 5 below zero at Rockford, Murray Gregory, 57 years old, of that town, crept into a dry kiln at the Winnebago manufacturing plant and was suffocated in his sleep.

From Chicago's suburbs, and from downstate, Iowa, Wisconsin, Minnesota and Nebraska last night came reports of temperatures ranging between 10 and 20 below zero. The Associated Press reported trains and motorists snowbound in the southwest, where a blizzard raged yesterday.

Go for Sleigh Ride.

A fluffy, sparkling snow covered the city during the early hours yesterday morning. A winter enthusiast, H. P. Huleguard, seized the opportunity, hired an old fashioned cutter and team and took Miss Marian Fruh, 237 Eugenie street, for a sleigh ride in Lincoln park.

STORE OWNER SLAIN FIGHTING BANDITS FOR $30

Nicholas Koutuzas, 45 years old, proprietor of a fruit market at 1951 Larrabee street, was shot to death last night defending $30 from two robbers. The gunmen fled without touching the cash register.

A few minutes before 7 o'clock two young men entered the bakery of John Kulak at 1949 Larrabee street, and were refused change for a $20 bill by the baker's daughter, Florence, who was suspicious of their manner. They went next door to Koutuzas' store.

A moment later, Miss Kulak heard cries for help and two shots. She called the Hudson avenue police. When Lieut. Edward Kelly and a police squad entered the fruit market they found Koutuzas on his back beside the overturned counter, with his daughters, Anna, 7 years old, and Ellen, 4, weeping as they tried to lift his head. He died while being taken to St. Joseph's hospital. He had been shot in the forehead and below the heart.

Naval High Lights

Here are some of the high lights on the opening of the London naval conference from The Tribune's correspondents and press services:

Mr. Steele describes the opening of the conference in the house of lords.

Mr. Wales tells how leaders decide to veil future sessions in secrecy.

King George, in welcome speech, declares naval limitation and reduction means sacrifices by all nations.

"Big Five," leaders of the various delegations, pledge nations to work toward effective slashing of naval costs. All speeches marked by lack of any specific statement of policy.

BY JOHN STEELE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Jan. 21.—The five power naval conference was opened today in the thickest fog London has seen in several months. It darkened the streets, chilled the delegates to the marrow, and drifted into the gilded chamber of the house of lords, where the delegates met.

Perhaps it was the fog, or perhaps it was the magnitude of the task before them, but whatever the reason, today's proceedings were like those of a party of poker players sitting down for a big game and feeling each other out carefully before the real game begins. The utmost politeness prevailed, but their cards were held close to their chests. Not a single card was laid on the table, and not the slightest indication was given of the proposals to be made by any power.

Hint at Differences.

Only in one or two speeches did sentences slip out which might be interpreted as indicating that the speaker, on behalf of his nation, differed in his views from those expressed by others in the preliminary talks.

The physical arrangements for the conference were perfect. The delegates sat on a dais, around a horseshoe table. At the opening of the proceedings the break in the middle of the horseshoe was occupied by a huge golden throne which King George usually uses in Buckingham palace.

When the king had finished speaking and left the room, four husky movers whisked the throne away, slung a table into the gap and placed an ordinary red armchair for Ramsay MacDonald, son of Scottish fisherfolk and Socialist prime minister of England, who took his sovereign's place as the presiding officer of the conference. The seats were all filled nearly an hour before the king was due to arrive, and there was a good deal of speculation as to whether the doctors would allow him to come out in the fog.

Appears Exactly on Time.

At the stroke of 11 o'clock there was a stir in the anteroom and the great audience rose to its feet as the king appeared, flanked on one side by Prime Minister MacDonald and on the other by an official of the household.

This was the king's first public appearance since Armistice day in 1928, when he caught the cold which resulted in the illness that almost caused his death. Many were shocked by his changed appearance. While he looked bronzed and ruddy from outdoor life, he has aged greatly, and he walked not with his old springy step but like an automaton.

He read his speech in a clear voice, but it was an evident effort, and when he left immediately afterward the automatonism of his walk was even more evident.

King Dressed Simply.

The king wore a frock coat and striped trousers, with a dark tie. He drove from Buckingham palace in a plain closed automobile and his only protection was a few extra policemen scattered along the route. Immediately after his speech he drove back to the palace and later in the afternoon returned to his country home at Sandringham.

The fog was responsible for one incident which for a time caused comment. That was the absence of Ambassador Charles G. Dawes during the king's speech. His was the only vacant chair. He arrived when the king had nearly finished, and when he took his seat he whispered to his fellow delegates that he had been held up by the fog.

His explanation repudiated Senator Reed's suggestion that he anticipated a tie vote. The senator was recalling Gen. Dawes' famous nap in Washington while he was Vice President and Charles B. Warren was a nominee for an embassy.

MacDonald Named Chairman.

After the king had gone Secretary of State Henry L. Stimson formally proposed Mr. MacDonald as chairman of the conference. Premier Tardieu of France seconded the motion, and

"BIG 5" ORDERS PUBLIC BARRED FROM MEETINGS

BY HENRY WALES.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Jan. 21.—Secrecy—that old foe of open covenants openly arrived at, which the late President Woodrow Wilson introduced to Europe a decade ago—descended tonight on the five power naval conference before it was even a day old.

First of all, it was blandly announced that the next plenary session on Thursday does not mean a public seance, as plenary always has hitherto meant, but only a full meeting of all delegates of the five powers, with the press and public rigorously barred.

The explanation was extremely lame. Some said the word "private" was forgotten in the communique of yesterday, but most informants fell back on the explanation that St. James's palace is too small to permit newspaper men to attend the session.

Stimson Unable to See Press.

Then the American delegation announced that Secretary of State Stimson regretted his inability to foregather with the newspapermen nightly, and the unexpected stress of important consultations made it unlikely that he would be able to see them daily. So Hugh R. Wilson, American minister to Switzerland, was named to impart information to the press daily.

The French delegation was frankly surprised at the conference suddenly going into secret session at the second meeting, as it had been confidently expected that the press would be admitted to hear the five delegations expose their viewpoints on requirements and demands. Even the continental diplomats seem slightly flabbergasted that the Anglo-American promoted conference should meet behind locked doors.

"We expected that the Thursday meeting would be plenary, and therefore public, for the journalists to hear each nation expound its necessities supported by solid arguments of facts," said one French spokesman tonight.

Whole Meet May be Secret.

The British explain that it is impossible to find any other hall outside St. James's palace large enough to house the delegates, regardless of the press.

"Does that mean that no sessions held in the palace will ever be open to newspapermen?" the reporters asked.

The officials were unable to reply.

Six delegates from Washington, Paris and London attending a dinner at Keith Merryll's home were pledged to strict secrecy concerning the subject of tonight's discussions.

Premier Andre Tardieu of France and Foreign Minister Aristide Briand declined to comment on the matter beyond stating, "We are dining with friends."

British Deplore Tactics.

The decision to adopt secret tactics is generally deplored by the English press, and correspondents of several London newspapers were sent to interview foreign journalists for their reactions tonight preparatory to a campaign for reasonable publicity.

It is pointed out here that the league of nations disarmament conference was practically all held publicly, even when such radical delegates as Maxim Litvinoff, Russian acting commissar of foreign affairs, attended with soviet Russia's wholesale disarmament program, and the Geneva tri-party conference in 1927 began with an open meeting when the viewpoints of Great Britain, Japan and America were frankly outlined.

MRS. W. J. BRYAN DIES; HUSBAND WAS HER CAREER

Los Angeles, Cal., Jan. 21.—[Special.]—Mrs. William Jennings Bryan, widow of the late Democratic political leader, died here tonight of arthritis.

Her son William J. Jr., Los Angeles attorney, and her daughter, Mrs. Grace Bryan Hargreaves, were with her at her death. Mrs. Bryan was 65 years old. She recently returned from a stay in Miami, Fla. Funeral arrangements are being held up awaiting word from another daughter, Congresswoman Ruth Bryan Owens of Florida, who is in Washington.

She was not regarded as seriously ill until recently, although Mrs. Bryan's condition began to concern her family shortly after her famous husband expired in 1926.

Mrs. Bryan, was known to thousands of their political friends as "Bryan's inspiration." Throughout the more than 35 years of Mr. Bryan's political career she was his constant companion, always at his side in victory or defeat. "My mental safety valve," he called her.

After the death of Mr. Bryan his widow completed his memoirs, in which she wrote what constituted the guiding principle of her life: "I hold the theory that if a wife does not show an interest in her husband's work and does not go with him when he asks her, the time will come when he will cease to ask her."

Her husband's career was Mrs. Bryan's life. They discussed everything together—men, questions, events and every new political issue. She assisted him with his enormous volume of mail and read aloud to him while he chopped down trees for exercise.

Find Missing Melrose Park Cop and Wife

Fears for the safety of at least two of the three Melrose Park citizens who disappeared from their homes last Friday, supposedly spirited away to their deaths by an alcohol ring, were dispelled last night. Policeman Emil Ristau of the Melrose Park force and his wife, Olga, were found at the home of Mrs. Ristau's mother, Mrs. Hannah Olin, 1144 Indiana avenue, Aurora.

The whereabouts of former Police Lieut. Rocco Passarella of Melrose Park, who disappeared at the same time as the Ristaus after handing in his resignation from the force, was still a mystery early this morning, but in view of the discovery of the Ristaus it was no longer believed that he had come to harm.

They Show No Gratitude.

Policeman Ristau and his wife evinced no gratitude at being discovered. They were seated in Mrs. Olin's home with their coats on and a handbag packed when a reporter entered. They thought the reporter was a taxicab driver and that is why he entered.

Mrs. Ristau was not unwilling to disclose her identity but her husband at first declared he was not Ristau and knew no one of that name. A few minutes later, however, he admitted he was the missing Melrose Park policeman.

But he refused at that time to answer all questions as to why he and his wife had fled from Melrose Park and what they were doing in Aurora.

"I've got nothing to say," Ristau said. "I'm going back to Melrose Park and I'll tell my story there. I don't know where Passarella is."

Go to Brother's Home.

Then he and his wife jumped into an automobile and headed for Melrose Park. There he was found at the home of his brother, William F. Ristau, 818 North 16th avenue, and became more communicative.

"Last Friday morning," Ristau said, "I met Passarella in my brother Bill's tire and battery shop at 1419 Lake street, Melrose Park. 'It looks pretty bad for us, kid,' Passarella told me, and he gave me to understand that he was going to get out of town because of threats from the alky gang.

"He and I had a case coming up that morning in federal court on a 1,000 gallon still we had raided on Jan. 10 at 918 23d avenue. The still was supposed to be run by Paul Buona. When Passarella told me he was going to light out I didn't see any reason why I should be left with that case, so I got Mrs. Ristau and we went to Aurora to see her mother, who has been very ill lately. I didn't say anything to any one about our going on account of all the threats Passarella and I had received."

Try to Kill Prosecutor.

Another incident which it was believed might have a connection with the Melrose Park case was revealed last night when it was learned that an attempt had been made to kill Assistant State's Attorney Edward Markham, who lives at 125 South 17th avenue, Maywood.

About 9 o'clock last Thursday night Markham was placing one of his automobiles in a garage next to his home when he was startled by a shout from his 13 year old brother. He rushed to the rear of his home and was heading for his own garage, where he keeps another car, when a man stepped out of the shadows and fired at him. The bullet missed, and Markham ran into his home for his own gun.

Tamper with Auto Wires.

When he emerged the gunman had fled. Markham went to his garage, he said, and found that some one had been tampering with the wiring of the automobile kept there. He summoned the Maywood police and they agreed after an investigation that an attempt appeared to have been made to connect a bomb to the motor of the prosecutor's car.

Markham said he had no idea of the reason for such an attack. According to Lieut. Henry Christensen of the Maywood police, the prosecutor declared he had no connection with the investigation or prosecution of Melrose Park bootleggers.

then began two hours of speech-making.

One after another the leading delegates got up solemnly and poured out platitudes. Not one gave a real indication of what was in his mind. All began with fulsome thanks to King George for "his graciousness" in welcoming the delegates.

The unreality was increased by the meticulous translation of every speech into French, although all the delegates understood English. Even Dino Grandi, Italian foreign minister and chief of the Italian delegation, spoke in English, and this, too, was translated into French. Reijiro Wakatsuki of Japan spoke in sonorous Japanese, which was translated first into English and then into French.

MacDonald Cuts It Short.

Before the end, however, Mr. MacDonald tired of this waste of time and announced that the last two speeches, those of T. E. Wilford, minister of justice and defense of New Zealand, and T. E. Waters of South Africa, would not be translated, but that a French version could be obtained if any one wanted it.

Despite the careful efforts to say nothing, one or two points emerge, on close study. One was the clause in Mr. MacDonald's speech in which he emphasized that any reduction in armament which may be achieved must be by agreement. This is a specific repudiation of the demands by some members of his own party that Great Britain set an example by scrapping battleships, no matter what any one else does. Mr. MacDonald restated in diplomatic language the words he has used in conversation:

"I am not going to leave myself open to attack by any Tom, Dick, and Harry."

Repudiates Global Limitation.

Another point which stood out in Mr. MacDonald's speech was his repudiation of the French thesis of global tonnage limitation.

"A ton used in ships for one purpose," he said, "is a totally different thing from a ton used in ships for another purpose."

He also stressed the fact that he regarded this conference as only the beginning of a series of progressive reductions of armaments and that he expected frequent reviews of the position.

Premier Tardieu of France avoided the difficult question of global tonnage versus categories, but made it clear that France still regarded this conference as only preliminary to the work of the league of nations preparatory disarmament commission and its decisions, and that the decisions of this conference required its sanction before they are definitely adopted.

Stimson Plays Close Poker.

Mr. Stimson, who followed Mr. MacDonald, played very close poker. He indicated only that his agreement with Mr. MacDonald was that disarmament be progressive and that a decision arrived at here might be revised further at later conferences.

When Sig. Grandi of Italy arose, every one strained to hear what Premier Mussolini's representative had to say. All sorts of rumors were flying that he had a bomb ready to throw into the conference, but if it was a bomb at all, it was a very little one. It was an announcement that Italy stood for a drastic reduction on the ground that a half measure was always a failure.

M. Wakatsuki of Japan announced that his nation was ready to go the limit on naval disarmament.

Tonight Mr. Stimson and the other chief delegates met at dinner at the residence of Keith Merryll, a member of the American state department and an old friend of Mr. Stimson's. After dinner the agenda of the conference was discussed.

Real Game Opens Tomorrow.

The real game of the conference begins Thursday. Tomorrow is an off day, which may be devoted to private conversations, but at 10 o'clock Thursday morning the full conference will meet in secret in St. James' palace. The agenda calls for a statement by each delegation of his country's position.

How much the public will be allowed to learn about what goes on is still problematical. One thing certain is that it will not be all.

It is worth remarking that the delegates will be spared none of the horrors of war. Behind them at today's meeting was a great mural painting of the death of Nelson at Trafalgar, and on the opposite wall was another of Wellington meeting Blucher at Waterloo. The room of St. James' palace where the delegates will meet Thursday is hung with portraits of Great Britain's great admirals of all the ages.

Immediately after the inaugural sitting Sig. Grandi and M. Tardieu left the house of lords together and had a tête-à-tête luncheon at the latter's hotel. Whatever hopes there may have been that the two statesmen might conciliate the opposing views of the Italian and French delegations regarding parity for Italy with France were dashed to the ground. It was learned that both stuck to their guns and neither yielded an inch to the other's arguments.

REAL REDUCTION, KEYNOTE OF ALL 'BIG FIVE' ENVOYS

Praise Efforts, but Make No Concrete Proposals.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Jan. 21.—In addition to the address of welcome by King George, the opening of the naval reduction conference was marked by speeches by the "Big Five"—the leading delegates from Great Britain, the United States, Japan, France, and Italy.

Spirit of Doubt Menaces World; End It—MAC DONALD.

After thanking King George in behalf of the conference for his address, Prime Minister MacDonald of Great Britain said:

"Every country today—wealthy and poverty-striken alike—feels the burden of arms, dreads their competitive development, doubts the value of the security they give and would like to escape from their influence and power. And yet, as has been shown again and again, the difficulties in the way are manifold. All, however, come principally from one source—a lack of confidence.

"The spirit of doubt whispers: There will be some states which will refuse to carry out its obligations to the community of peaceful states; the machinery of arbitration will break down somewhere and somehow; do what we may, a situation will arise one day when a deadlock of some kind will have to be faced and there will be but one remaining method—fight.'

"Habit Controls Thinking."

"Thus, a habit of mind nurtured by the experience of many generations controls our thinking and our actions, casts a shiver of hesitancy over all our peace efforts and prevents a great change in our attitude toward militarism as a means of national security. How easy it is to retard the progress of states when an old habit can be enlisted to fight enlightened reason.

"The whole world is turning its eyes upon us today. It expects that we shall deliberate and negotiate on the assumption that, having put our names to pacts of peace, we mean to respect our signatures. It prays that we shall not only relieve it of burdens but establish it still more securely in the ways of peace.

"Above all, it demands from us an agreement to stop competition which recently has begun to show itself both in the types and the number of ships. If we are not careful we shall be once more involved in feverish competition such as heralded the outbreak of the war in 1914."

Praises Work of League.

Mr. MacDonald then paid tribute to the work of the league of nations as a "mighty moral bulwark against war." He cited the entry of the United States into the world court and the number of nations who have signed the optional clause for arbitration as "definite and irrevocable steps in the displacement of military power by judicial process in the settlement of international disputes."

"Public servants like us," he said, "will fail in our duty if we do not diminish military power in proportion to the increase of this political security. On the other hand, no one can say that an absolute security for peace and justice yet has been found.

Difference in Needs.

"It will both smooth and shorten our work, perhaps, if we could assume two things in our discussions. The first is that we have different needs imposed upon us by geographical position, world responsibility, and points of attack in event of war.

"Conferences have broken down because there has been an unwillingness or an inability to understand that this is so; that, therefore, one ton used in ships for one purpose is totally a different thing from one ton used in ships for another purpose.

"I know that the plea of 'need' can be stretched almost to infinity, and that in it lurks danger; but if peace is in our hearts and reduction of armaments in our minds the substance of what constitutes our 'needs' can be fairly admitted by each of us as regards the other and be satisfied in the form and provisions of an agreement and the conference will be a conspicuous success.

All Armaments Linked.

"The second thing which we might assume is this: Although armaments cannot be divided into water-tight compartments—naval, land, and air forces—for practical purposes we must discuss them separately, always remembering, when coming to our conclusion regard each, that it has a relationship to the others.

"All nations have not the same interest in each arm of the military, but they have an interest in the general armed state of the world. The way of Great Britain is on the sea, for it is a small island. If this country can make a contribution to peace which will be one of deeds as well as one of words it must be as a naval power.

"That is why last June, after several attempts unsuccessfully to get such an understanding between the United States and ourselves as would make a wide international agreement possible, President Hoover, through his newly appointed ambassador to London, proposed to me that we should explore our differences once more.

"That was the sole purpose of our conversations and journeys and that is why we are here."

Navies Must Be Reduced by Successive Steps—STIMSON.

Secretary of State Stimson followed Mr. MacDonald. He said:

"Naval limitation is a continuous process. We regard disarmament as a goal to be reached by successive steps, by frequent revision and improvement. A solution reached today, however perfect, may not respond to conditions at a later date."

The chairman of the American delegation added that he and his colleagues were ready to remain in London until the present problems were solved and until the world was given an agreement that would carry it happily on to the time when the nations could meet again in the same spirit to look over the situation anew.

Stimson "Moved by Speeches."

Mr. Stimson said he had been profoundly impressed by the speeches he had just heard. He deemed it an auspicious event that the first meeting of the conference should take place in the houses of parliament "which have for Americans a deep significance as the cradle of our jurisprudence and of our fundamental ideas of human liberty."

"The use of international conferences of this sort for the purpose of limiting and reducing armaments is a recent development in world affairs," Mr. Stimson said, "so recent that a number of our colleagues at this table participated in the labors of the Washington conference, the first of the series of efforts devoted to this great end.

"I feel it is important to emphasize the fact that we do not look upon this effort toward disarmament as final. Naval limitation is a continuous process. We regard disarmament as a goal to be reached by successive steps, by frequent revision and improvement.

"Hopes for Future Cuts."

"A solution reached today, however perfect, may not respond to conditions at a later date. We sincerely hope that increased feeling of security may enable still more drastic reduction in the future. For that reason we feel that the sound and obvious course is to reach such agreements as it may be possible now, with the knowledge that they are open to revision at appropriate periods.

"We are convinced that in attacking now the naval problem we are following the practical and common sense path. We believe that any solution which we can make of this problem will be a tangible contribution to the success of the wider problem of general disarmament. There is a relationship between the land, sea and air forces which constitute national defense. We believe that a limitation of any one of these will contribute to an enlightened limitation of the others.

"We assure you on our part that we are prepared to coöperate in the fullest measure, to do our utmost to appreciate the difficulties of others and to continue such work as long as may be necessary to achieve our purpose.

"Our people demand of us a success; they recognize the disaster that a failure of this conference would bring to their dearest hopes and they are determined that we shall succeed."

Lift Heavy Burden, King Appeals

LONDON, Jan. 21.—(AP)—Following is the text of King George's address at today's opening session of the naval disarmament conference.

"It is with sincere satisfaction that I am present here to welcome the delegates of the five principal naval powers assembled with the object of eliminating the evil results of wasteful competition in naval armaments.

Every nation represented here is proud of its navy; proud of that navy's past achievements and inspiring traditions. It is not the fault of these traditions nor of our navies if competition in naval construction, due to the supposed necessities of policy, has led to a feeling of insecurity between nations and even to the risk of war.

Must Prevent Another War.

"Since the great war all peoples are determined that human statecraft shall leave nothing undone to prevent repetition of that grim and immense tragedy. In the interests of peace, which we are seeking to build up, one of its most important columns is agreement between the maritime nations on the limitation of naval strength and reduction to a point consistent with national security.

"The practical application of the principle of the reduction of naval armaments has in the past proven a matter of extreme difficulty. Great success was achieved in the conclusion of the Washington treaty of 1922, imposing certain limitations on the construction of capital ships and aircraft carriers." But hitherto all efforts to advance beyond that point have failed.

Believes All Nations Sincere.

"I believe that you, to whom your governments have entrusted the high mission of continuing the task begun at Washington, are animated with single minded intentions of working not with any selfish and exclusively nationalistic purpose but with noble inspiration and the resolve to remove once for all this particular obstacle from the path of ordered and civilized progress.

"All nations have varying needs demanding special consideration, but if each is equally determined to make some sacrifice as a contribution to the common good, I feel sure that your deliberations will confer great and lasting benefit not only upon the countries which you represent but upon mankind generally.

Hopes to Lift Burden.

"I earnestly trust that the results of this conference will lead to immediate alleviation of the heavy burdens of armaments now weighing upon the peoples of the world and also by facilitating the future work of the league preparatory commission on disarmament and hastening the time when a general disarmament conference can deal with this problem in an even more comprehensive manner. In this hope I shall follow your deliberations with closest interest and attention."

Shall We Do Work Well, or Otherwise?—TARDIEU.

Premier Tardieu of France, after saying the immediate object of the conference is to promote the solution of the problem of limitation and of reduction of naval armament, said:

"But we also know that within that limited field we shall presently make a decisive experiment in organization of world peace and this makes us fully conscious of the gravity of the occasion. A decisive experiment, for last April the preparatory committee on disarmament at Geneva recognized that it was impossible for them to make further progress in their work before the naval powers arrived at a preliminary agreement. This work is not one which can be evaded. The only question, as Roosevelt said, is whether we shall do it well or otherwise.

"The problem before us in its exact terms is the following: Our success in the limited task we are undertaking will open the way to success of the whole effort for disarmament. Our failure might postpone it for an indefinite period. Thus our responsibilities to the world which observes us and will pass judgment on us is clearly defined.

Task Not an Easy One.

"The task is not an easy one. In our modern world where rights, obligations, and interests are so inextricably mixed the position of maritime states shows evidently the greatest complexity. No mathematical formula will be equal to solution of such a problem, for no formula will resist the pressure of life.

"Our needs as naval powers are a positive factor, a factor which can be measured and compared and which, if interpreted in such a spirit of mutual understanding as leads at present, can supply a basis for mutual positions of tomorrow to be fixed by agreement for such a period as our conference may decide."

M. Tardieu added that the conference must find an honest and sincere middle course after considering the imperative duties imposed by security which will lead first to limitation and then to reduction of the heavy burden at present borne by mankind. The covenant of the league of nations and the Briand-Kellogg pact, he said, have in considerable measure "transformed our absolute needs into relative ones." He concluded:

"France brings to you as her contribution to this work both her good will and her will. Gentlemen, let us be equal to the noble duty which our people expect us to do and which will be done for the benefit of humanity if we approach it in a spirit of firm resolution."

Half Way Measures Always Fail—GRANDI.

After expressing hope that a solution would be found, Dino Grandi, Italian foreign minister, declared:

"We have become convinced, however, that the problem is one calling for courageous action, for in the field of disarmament there's much truth in the saying that 'half measures are always failures.'

"Mr. President, you have appealed to all of us to work in a spirit of good will so as to secure success for the cause of disarmament. Your words reflect the warmth and nobility of your convictions. With like sincerity and confidence allow me to say that the Italian delegation will be second to none in its effort to secure the end in view.

"The Fascist government is desirous of securing real and tangible results in the fields of disarmament and security, which two it considers linked indissolubly together, for two reasons, one of which I may call national and the other European or world-wide.

"The head of the Italian government, Sig. Mussolini, has laid down a vast program of work for the progress of our country, which requires a long period of peace for its execution and to which the major resources and best energies of the Italian people are devoted. Italy desires nothing better than to carry out this program in a peaceful Europe and a peaceful world.

"The Fascist government always has been ready to accept any proposal offering concrete prospects for disarmament and not only has it shown constantly its willingness to give in effect but it also has reduced spontaneously its armaments and maintained them at a minimum.

"Above all we hope this conference will lead to an agreement substantially reducing those huge naval credits which so heavily burden national resources, an agreement which will make it possible to devote to works of peace much of the vast sums now expended in naval armaments."

Japan Will Disarm Navy to the Limit—WAKATSUKI.

Former Premier Wakatsuki of Japan in his speech pledged his nation as being ready to go the limit in naval disarmament.

"She is ready," he said, "to effect not merely a limitation but an actual reduction in naval strengths, which she considers to be an appropriate and necessary program of peace, as well as a measure for relieving the nations from onerous financial burdens.

"It is the unanimous desire of the Japanese nation that peace should be lastingly established and the principle of international coöperation be firmly secured and upheld. The intense Japanese interest in the present conference is an eloquent sign of the pacific aspirations of our own country.

"Japan's only concern is to keep the sense of national security of the people undisturbed by retaining such force as is adequate for the defense of the empire but not sufficient for offensive operations.

"In conclusion, I desire to reiterate my confident hope that the conference will be an unqualified success, and that it will fulfill the eager expectancy of sorely tried humanity and earn the gratitude of generations to come."

LONDON PARLEY TO PASS UP FATE OF BATTLESHIPS?

Capital Believes Question Will Not Be Taken Up.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 21.—[Special.]—Information received today from the American delegation to the London naval reduction conference tended to confirm the opinion of Washington officials that the question of abolishing battleships will not be thrashed out at the parley which opened today.

While it is considered certain that a five year capital shipbuilding holiday will be declared, if any kind of a naval agreement is reached, it is not believed that the delegates attending the present parley will be called upon to decide whether the capital ship is or is not obsolete and ready for retirement. The best information available here is that the Hoover administration is prepared to accept a slash in battleship tonnage totals, but will decline to cut below a minimum of twelve ships, if a radical reduction in this category is proposed.

Would Require Scrapping.

By 1936 Great Britain and the United States will be down to fifteen battleships each, if the present 1922 battleship replacement agreement is carried out. To bring the number of capital ships for each power down to twelve it would be necessary to arrange for the scrapping of three additional ships as they reach the age of obsolescence.

It is considered very possible that the question of reducing the total battleship tonnages may be left for the proposed 1936 conference. Should the useful age of capital ships be increased to twenty-five years, it would be 1936 before the first of the American or British battleships would reach that age and therefore be adjudged obsolete. In case the age limit is left at twenty years, as at present, the United States would lose eleven ships through obsolescence by 1936 if no new replacements were built.

Might Agree on Twelve Each.

A maximum tonnage reduction of around 300,000 tons might be made by the United States at the London conference if a decision was reached to cut the number of battleships to twelve each for Great Britain and this country.

It is known that the President would like to effect an agreement which would bring this country's destroyer and submarine combined tonnage total of 377,536 tons, counting ships on the disposal list, down to around 220,000 tons. This would be effected by reducing the present destroyer total of 290,000 tons to around 150,000, and the present submarine tonnage of 87,000 to approximately 70,000. No reduction in cruiser tonnage is anticipated at present.

THIRTEEN SEIZED IN RAID.

Thirteen men were arrested late yesterday in a raid by Chicago avenue police on an alleged handbook above a tobacco shop at 606 North State street. John Fontane and George Duress were booked as keepers.

U. S. MARINES WITH NAVAL DELEGATION THRILL LONDON GIRLS

[Copyright, 1930, By the New York Times.]

LONDON, Jan. 21.—What is conceded the most colorful aspect of the visiting delegations to the naval conference seems to be the contingent of American marines who are acting as diplomatic couriers and guards of the confidential government files at the Ritz hotel.

The visiting delegates have been attracted by the British guards wearing high fur busbies on duty at St. James's palace, but Londoners in turn are equally fascinated by the neat, trim figures of the eleven American marines—a captain and ten noncommissioned officers.

Traffic has been held for them when they have marched en masse from the Ritz, in Piccadilly, to the American embassy, and in their two tone blue, gold trimmed uniforms and red striped trousers they are objects of high praise from admiring passersby, especially feminine ones.

These eleven marines were picked for this assignment from naval stations throughout the United States on the basis of an excellent record and appearance. Most of them have served in France, Nicaragua, Haiti and elsewhere, and all bear many medals on their chests.

HOOVER UP EARLY TO LISTEN IN ON KING'S ADDRESS

Hears It in Cellar; Clad in Old Sweater.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 21.—(AP)—As the naval limitation conference opened today in the royal gallery of the house of lords, the man who initiated the negotiations leading up to it sat in a basement room of the White House, clad in an old sweater, khaki trouches and canvas shoes, listening to the ceremonies over the radio.

President Hoover arose at 5 a. m., donned the outfit he wears during his early morning medicine ball game, and with a small company of friends went to the room where a powerful radio receiving set had been installed. The chief executive tuned in early on London to hear the preliminary descriptions and listened intently to King George opening the conference and to the heads of the delegations as they made their addresses.

The proceedings came in strongly and clearly. Those with the President said it was as though they were present in the royal gallery, except for the difference in the surroundings.

Hoover Pleased but Silent.

Mr Hoover was delighted with the atmosphere of mutual good will in which the parley had its beginning, but he made no comment.

Reiteration was given that the American delegation at London would be the speaking for the American government and that it was clothed with the authority to conduct the negotiations on behalf of the administration. With the President during the radio reception of the London proceedings were Attorney General Mitchell, Associate Justice Harlan F. Stone of the United States Supreme court, Lieut. Gen. Joel T. Boone, the White House physician, and Lawrence Richey and Walter Newton, two of the President's secretaries. All are members of the "medicine ball cabinet." After the last speech the party went to an inclosed court for the regular before-breakfast game.

Soviets Ridicule Parley.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

RIGA, Latvia, Jan. 21.—Radio stations in north Europe rebroadcast the opening of the London disarmament conference today.

Several speeches were broadcast later from Moscow and Leningrad stations ridiculing the conference as capitalistic society's effort to prevent future war and predicting that Red flags would wave over the world fleets some day. From Moscow this evening, Camisar J. Molotov in a speech commemorating the sixth anniversary of Lenine's death, said the communists would never rest until Lenine's last testament has been carried out and world capitalism destroyed.

HUNDREDS HEAR KING HERE.

Various and sundry speakers right here in Chicago have been known to put an audience to sleep. But it took King George of England, 3,000 miles away, to wake them up — at five o'clock in the morning. The British monarch's brief address opening the six power naval parley in London routed hundreds of Chicagoans out of bed before sunrise yesterday. King George talked scarcely six minutes. His voice betrayed no hint of his recent severe illness.

Mrs. A. G. Jennings Jr. Granted Paris Divorce

Mrs. Helen Bailey Rueping Jennings, formerly of Chicago, was granted a divorce from Albert Gould Jennings Jr., nephew of the late John Crimmins, Tammany boss, in the Paris courts yesterday, according to a dispatch. The bill charged desertion and non-support. The Jennings' marriage caused a stir in March, 1925, when it was discovered that they had wed secretly in Waukegan the preceding October. Mr. Jennings, well known in New York society, was then 23 years old. His bride had divorced Robert Rueping of Chicago twelve years before.

Women's Gowns Only Bright Spot in Drab Naval Setting

LONDON, Jan. 21.—(AP)—Women of the occident and of the orient—wives and daughters of delegates to the five power naval conference—sat clustered together as the conference convened in England's house of lords today, their costumes striking a flowerlike note in a sober setting.

So thoroughly feminine were the costumes of the women that the small block of seats which they occupied at the far end of the gallery seemed transformed into a veritable garden in the midst of London's fog laden atmosphere.

Ishbel MacDonald, daughter of Great Britain's prime minister, in a black costume, accentuated by bright red shoes, was one of the first of the women on the scene. She arrived with her father, but while he stopped to pose for photographers she hurried through the doorway.

U. S. Women Clad in Brown.

Then came the wives of the American delegates, Mrs. Henry L. Stimson, Mrs. David A. Reed, Mrs. Joseph T. Robinson and Mrs. Dwight W. Morrow. The quartet arrived together in a limousine without their husbands, all laughing gayly and looking forward with eagerness to the opening ceremonies of the conference. As though they had arranged the matter beforehand, all wore brown outfits, complete from hats to shoes.

Mme. Reijiro Wakatsuki and Lady Takarabe, wives of two of the Japanese delegates, arrived with their husbands, their diminutive oriental figures swathed in furs. Lady Takarabe's cloak was of delicate gray squirrel while Mme. Wakatsuki chose brown mink.

Margaret Bondfield in First Row.

Miss Margaret Bondfield, "Our Maggie," England's minister of labor and the only woman in the British cabinet, was one of the most prominent women in the gallery. She was seated in the first row, directly in front of the delegates, with other members of the British cabinet. She was the only woman who did not wear a hat, carrying hers in her hand.

This was her second appearance in public without a cane, upon which she has been dependent since she broke her ankle while bathing last autumn. She left early to have a bite of lunch before attending the opening session of parliament.

Another interesting woman spectator was Signora Agresti, official translator attached to the Italian delegation. She sat on the delegates' platform directly behind Foreign Minister Grandi of Italy, with whom she was frequently in whispered conference. Signora Agresti, granddaughter of Dante Gabriel Rossetti, the English poet, is one of the most widely known international translators.

BOMBING PLANES RUSH TO QUELL 1,000 TRIBESMEN

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

CAPE TOWN, Jan. 21.—Further serious tribal trouble in South Africa was reported today, from Sibesa, northern Transvaal. Col. J. P. Devilliers, commissioner of police, left Pretoria today by airplane to meet Sub-Commissioner Biddel of the affected area. Bombing planes with tear gas, pistols and other firearms will leave Pretoria tonight for Sibesa.

The trouble has arisen over appointment of Paswana as chief of the Fpfura tribe. Paswana and his brother, Sekonela, sons of the former chief, both aspired to leadership. Paswana was elected by the government, and his brother revolted with 1,000 natives.

If bombing planes fail, an armed force may be sent after the tribesmen and arrest Sekonela.

TOILS TO EDUCATE MATE; CHARGES HE'S UNFAITHFUL

Given Nominal Alimony "as Justice."

Nine years of sacrifice to send her husband through school to raise him to her intellectual level was rewarded by unfaithfulness as he neared the threshold of a promising career, Mrs. Alta E. Eastman, 33 years old, 918 Grace street, told Superior Judge Sabath yesterday. She demanded nominal temporary alimony in her separate maintenance suit against Homer J. Eastman as a matter of justice because of the $8,000 she said she advanced for his education. The judge awarded her $1 a day.

Mrs. Eastman is a graduate of the University of Minnesota. During her last year at school she met Eastman, a linotype operator for a Minneapolis newspaper. Eastman had only a grammar school education. They were married on July 28, 1921. She saw in her husband a man who had latent ability, which, if developed through education, would carry him to a successful position in life, she said.

Worked to Provide Education.

Spurred with the resolve to aid her husband, she took employment as a proofreader for a publishing house in Minneapolis and sent him through high school in three years. He worked faithfully at his studies and gave promise of greater success, she said. To secure more money for her work she moved from one city to another as her husband began his college work at the University of Illinois, where he remained two years, and then went to the University of North Dakota.

He took the degree of bachelor of science at the latter school. He then entered the school of medicine at the University of Minnesota and plans to receive a degree there next year. During this period Mrs. Eastman moved constantly in search of higher wages so that they spent only a third of their married life together.

Wants "to Live Own Life."

She left him last Jan. 3 when she discovered that he had been keeping company with other women during her absence. When she reproached him, he is said to have told her that he must live his own life and could do so better without her.

"I don't begrudge a cent of the money I paid," she told Judge Sabath. "It was given joyously. I had dreams of sharing his success after my work was done. I bought him four cars during the nine years, only last fall I paid $150 for two suits and $75 for an overcoat for him so that he might look well at school.

Would Take Him Back.

"I'd be fool enough to take him back if he would promise to mend his ways. I was happy during the nine years. But now, I would like to have him pay something, not that I want him to support me, but just for the principle of the thing. There is nothing for me to do but go back to school. I might have been happily domesticated if I hadn't insisted on sending him on."

Attorney Charles R. Johnston, representing Mrs. Eastman, said, "If there is no precedent in such a case, there should be one now. This woman's love is unmistakable and her loyalty unrivaled. She should have the small recompense."

Judge Sabath entered the order, withholding comment until the hearing on her suit.

CHARGES MIDIRON BLOW FROM WIFE; GRANTED DIVORCE

Because, he said, his wife struck him with a midiron when he criticized her golf game, Jesse P. Bardwell, manager of Edward T. Ward & Sons Steel Co., won a divorce before Superior Judge Sabath from Mrs. Mary Bardwell, 5101 Woodlawn avenue, yesterday. The Bardwells were married in August, 1907, and separated in February, 1929. They have two daughters, Florence, 20 years old, and Marjorie, 18, both attending the University of Illinois.

Mrs. Bardwell filed a bill for separate maintenance last February. Her husband countered with a bill for divorce, citing the golf incident, which occurred at the Palos park golf course, he said. He charged that on another occasion his wife threw an incense burner at him.

Judge Sabath suggested that they drop the actions for the sake of the children. When they refused he asked that they reach a settlement. Attorney Frank B. Teed, representing Mrs. Bardwell, declared that she would drop her action if Bardwell would pay $150 a month alimony. Bardwell consented and won a decree.

POOR MEMORY COSTS 2 THIEVES JOURNEY TO CELL

Because their memories failed, Philip Sarvey, 18 years old, 622 Oakdale avenue, and Joseph Swain, 22, of 864 Aldine avenue, lost $500 and their liberty.

On Dec. 29 the pair robbed the office of Dr. Raymond F. Elmer, 3435 Sheffield avenue, and stole his cystoscope. Subsequently a patient informed the physician that he might trace the stolen instrument through Harold Peterson, 19 years old, 417 Barry avenue.

Peterson arranged a parley between the doctor and the thieves. They admitted having buried the cystoscope beneath an elevated platform and Dr. Elmer promised them $500 reward if they returned it.

The boys could not remember the exact spot of concealment, so yesterday the physician appeared against them in Boys' court and Judge Allegretti held them to the grand jury in bonds of $3,500 each, which they failed to provide.

SOCIETY WOMEN GIVE UP BRIDGE TO BATTLE FIRE

Eight society women who gathered at the home of Mrs. Farley Hopkins, 644 East Deerpath avenue, Lake Forest, yesterday, expecting to spend the afternoon playing bridge, were obliged to play firemen instead.

Mrs. Hopkins had kindled a grate fire and her guests were just drawing partners for bridge when a crackle and a billow of smoke from above the mantle warned them that the wall above the fire place was smoldering.

The guests helped Mrs. Hopkins carry out oriental rugs, oil paintings, and bric-a-brac and were scattering pails of water about the house when a fire company arrived. The damage caused by smoke and the firemen's axes was estimated at $1,200.

Mrs. Hopkins' guests, all of Lake Forest, were Mmes. John F. Jelke Jr., George McLaughlin Jr., Charles Glore, Kingman Douglas, Daniel R. Winter, Francis E. Manierre, Kent Chandler, and James M. Hokkins Jr.

SCHOOLS SHOW WORK OF HANDS AT EXPOSITION

Vocational Training Wins Visitors' Praise.

Young Chicago yesterday demonstrated to its elders that hands as well as heads are considered in this city's school system, and that handicaps may be overcome by intelligent education. Every nook and cranny of the Chicago Woman's Club building at 11th street and Michigan boulevard buzzed with activity from morning until night, as more than 1,000 students presented the day's program, every phase of which was jammed with spectators.

It was the first such educational exposition, to acquaint parents and club women with the work done in the schools. Color and art, music and action marked the hours, and a constant procession of visitors filed past the collections of articles either made or assembled in the school departments. Amazed and complimentary comments paid tribute to the extent and variety of the exhibits.

Variety of Work Shown.

The exhibits ranged all the way from a complete electric vacuum sweeper down to animal silhouettes clipped from paper by kindergartners. Intricate architectural drawings, technically accurate were there. So were beautiful woodwork pieces; carved metal bases for electric lamps; vivid, tasteful posters; model airplanes; flower designs in fondant, the work of apprentice bakers at Lane Tech; finely stitched dresses for tiny tots, made by crippled children of the Spalding school; and even a doll sized, three ring circus with the human and animal performers in clay.

At the luncheon at noon, at which Mrs. Helen Hefferan presided, Miss Jane Adams told of the enthusiasm she fosters for vocational training.

Praises Vocational Work.

"The less we know," she asserted, "the easier it is to forget what we know. Pupils who are allowed to leave school with only eight grades or less cannot be expected to retain very much of their book work, but if it is tied to the work of their hands it would be carried onward through life and amplified. Every child should be taught to use his hands early. It teaches him coördination of the hands and the mind."

That coördinatioin was in evidence throughout the day and in every part of the program and exhibits.

The greatest interest centered at the demonstration of the Parker Practice school, where deaf children of tender ages were delighted to show their progress in lip reading and in speaking. Three teachers, Miss Esther Howes, Miss Clara Newlee and Miss Helen Hammer, gave instructions as to dispositions of objects, which the smallest youngsters carried out as readily as though their hearing was perfect.

Bogan Is Speaker.

Older children demonstrated their speaking voices, which they themselves never have heard.

At a dinner last night Supt. William J. Bogan gave a brief review of the school activities, paying especial tribute to the progress made in the field of music.

In a strong plea for the continuation school Supt. Bogan said that the 85,000 pupils of high school age who are working bring in as much wealth as the entire city budget. These young people are privileged to attend only one day of school a week, he pointed out, and though they are of the neediest families and deprivation of this much education puts a hardship on them, the continuation schools are almost continually in peril because of budget limitations.

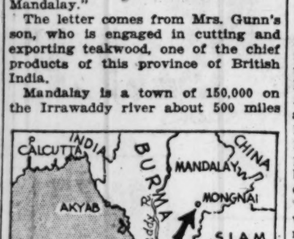
From Mongnai, Burma



Letter received by Mrs. C. G. Gunn, 1003 Rush street, Chicago.

Mongnai is a small town in the jungle district of the South Shan states of Burma, 160 miles southeast of Mandalay, the town made famous by Kipling's poem, "On the Road to Mandalay."

The letter comes from Mrs. Gunn's son, who is engaged in cutting and exporting teakwood, one of the chief products of this province of British India.

Mandalay is a town of 150,000 on the Irrawaddy river about 500 miles from its delta, which empties into the Bay of Bengal. The river is navigable for 900 miles from the sea.

British interests in Burma extend back to 1612 when the East India company established agencies near Rangoon, the present capital.

The first Burma war in 1826 gave the British a firm foothold and this has been steadily extended until Rangoon now rules 262,732 square miles with a population of upwards of 13,000,000.

The Burmans belong to the same group as the Tibetans and are mostly Buddhists in religion.

MALONE MOVES TO TRIM DOWN SUBURBAN TAXES

Calls on Officials to List 1928 Expenditures.

William H. Malone, chairman of the state tax commission, yesterday sent to the more than 400 tax spending bodies in Cook county outside Chicago a demand that they furnish to the commission a record of their total expenditures during 1928.

The purpose of this move, Mr. Malone explained, is to insure against any of the towns receiving more money than they spent during the last year. The ordinary procedure is for the taxing bodies to ask a certain levy based upon their needs during the coming year. This time, because of the delay in the reassessment, the year has passed and the exact amount spent by each town may be ascertained.

Taxpayers Welcome Move.

Suburban taxpayers welcomed the news, it was reported, because the new procedure is expected to whittle tax bills considerably. Suburbanites have been storming the assessors' offices with complaints about increased assessments. In some cases values have been raised to three times the 1927 assessment values, and the taxpayers feared that this meant tax bills would be increased to an equal extent.

"I expect plenty of loud protests will be made when the demands are received," commented the tax commission chairman. "Many of the taxing bodies, no doubt, had been quietly waiting in the expectation of getting the usual levy and having plenty of extra money to spend. But they can't get away with it."

Says Commission Has Power.

So far as is known, such a request has never been made before by the tax commission. But the law on the subject is clear and gives the commission the requisite power, Mr. Malone said. Several lawyers, including Hayden Bell, county attorney, advised him he was well within his rights, he said. The letters read:

"You are hereby requested and directed to furnish the state tax commission fro myour records, books, papers and documents, the following information:

"1. The total expenditures for general corporate purposes during 1928, including liabilities incurred and unpaid, if any.

"2. The total expenditures for bonds or other extraordinary expenditures for 1928. School districts should show full expenditures for educational purposes and for building purposes separately."

Pay Roll Bandits Get $400 in Bed Company Robbery

Cowing a dozen employés of the Hub Metal Bed company on the second floor at 4343 South Ashland avenue, late yesterday, a pair of pay roll bandits seized $400 cash from the manager, James Schaffer, warned the victims to make no outcry, and escaped.

LACK OF FUNDS HOLDS UP PAY FOR TEACHERS

Strawn Gloomy Over Loan Outlook.

pelled to borrow $1,000,000. The bank was very liberal in extending credit, but will go no farther. Henry P. Chandler, chairman of the finance committee of the nursing association, tells me that the injustice to the nurses who are caring for the sick in the county hospital, the injury to the service, and the hardship and suffering that will inevitably ensue soon unless the situation is remedied, are apparent."

Cites Bartelme Report.

Relative to the wards of the Juvenile court, Mr. Strawn said:

"Judge Mary Bartelme of the Juvenile court writes me that the employés of the court, numbering 135—some of them men of families numbering two to eight—and several widowed mothers, have not been paid since the middle of December. The judge says that the employés are inquiring where they can secure loans from loan sharks, or outside employment. She writes that unless something is done to relieve the situation many people who seek and have a right to the services of the court will be turned away or directed to private organizations.

"She further relates: 'More than 1,000 children mentally or physically unfit, or because they are behavior problems, are not eligible to institutions and are placed in foster family homes by five different agencies. The family is paid $25 a month for care and maintenance of the child. This fund was exhausted on Sept. 1 last, so that no new cases can be taken on. What will be done with such children this year I do not know.'"

Can't Pay Teachers.

At the school board offices President Caldwell said: "The school teachers will not be paid next Friday. There is no money; they can't be paid."

The pay roll for the teachers totals approximately $1,700,000.

The only relief plan suggested is that of Mayor Thompson, who urges a tax increase on the central business district of $15,000,000, by increasing the valuations $300,000,000. Thomas V. Sullivan, tax attorney for the school board, has complained against the reassessment valuations off 1,700 pieces of real estate. In discussing procedure yesterday, Edward R. Litsinger, member of the board of review, urged that the matter be expedited.

"We are getting to the point where municipal functions may be cut off," he said. "It is a desperate situation."

"There is an extreme emergency in all local governments," said Charles V. Barrett, another member of the board.

Asked what he had in mind relative to curtailing service, Mr. Litsinger said: "I would not be surprised if the street lights were shut off. I'm not sure that there will not be a complete breakdown of the govenmental finances."

The school board is expected to adopt finally today its $101,000,000 budget. The law firm of Chapman & Cutler will give an opinion saying that it is valid. From taxes the board has appropriated for educational purposes $46,901,555. Henry Cutler said yesterday that the board might have appropriated $50,600,000. The difference is the allowance of 10 per cent for loss and cost of collection.

The county board called a meeting for yesterday and then suddenly declared it off. It is humored the commissioners thought they had found a bidder on the $7,000,000 tax anticipation warrants. It was said the meeting would be held today.

5218 Happy People give up Their Secret

Buoyant, Zestful Health, and the Joy that goes with it, is Easy to Have, they say

JUST suppose you could get 5000 joyously happy people together in one big hall and could ask them what made them all so full of pep. Suppose, strangely enough, that all of them had discovered the same way to be happy. You would feel that here, if anywhere in the world, was the secret of how to get real joy out of life.

This is just what has happened during the last few weeks. We knew there were millions of people who had found the secret of happiness in the same way, and we asked them in one or two small announcements in the magazines and newspapers to tell us their story. Letters came to us from practically all over the globe.

They have found the way to Happiness!

The secret of happiness these people had discovered was all the same. Most of them had been brought to make their discovery by the advice of a trusted physician; many had been advised by some wise and experienced trained nurse; hundreds had received the advice of some good friend.

All of them said, "The secret of happiness is health."

How to get this health? The way that all of these people had discovered was not some magic medicine, not some powerful drug, not some difficult course of training—but only a simple, harmless natural method. It was to keep the body internally clean, sweeping its natural poisons away each day, regularly as clock work—by the use of Nujol.

These people had made a great discovery. They had found out that Nujol contains no drugs; that it is as tasteless and colorless as pure water; pleasant to take and forms no habit; that it cannot hurt you, no matter how much you take; that it is non-fattening; not absorbed by the body; that it is only the internal lubrication your body needs, just like any other machine.

It sounds like a fairy tale, doesn't it, to be well and happy so easily? Well, all you need to do to find out if these people have made a real discovery is to get a bottle of Nujol today at any drug store and take it for two weeks. See if you don't join the happy millions who have discovered that the sure way to happiness is through health. Begin Nujol tonight!

COMPLETE JURY TO DECIDE FATE OF MRS. O'BRIEN

Open Arguments Today in Murder Case.

CRIMINAL COURT.

Steve Cominski, Harry Rents, and Thomas Wyatt, robbery, sentenced to 1 year to life each in the penitentiary by Judge Walter Steffen.

Malcolm Booth, robbery, sentenced to 1 year to life in the penitentiary; Robert Short, robbery, sentenced to 1 year to life in the penitentiary by Judge Otto Kerner.

Peter Grabowski, contributing to delinquency, sentenced to 1 year in the bridewell by Judge Peter Schwaba.

The last panel of the jury to try Genevieve O'Brien for the murder of her husband, William, was selected and sworn in late yesterday. The jurors promised not to be influenced by the fact that Mrs. O'Brien expects to become a mother.

Assistant State's Attorney Harry Ditchburne, in examining the prospective jurors in the court of Judge Harry B. Miller, where Mrs. O'Brien is on trial, rather stole the thunder of the defense by himself introducing the first hint of Genevieve's condition to veniremen.

In customary fashion, as he has done since the impaneling of a jury began Monday morning, he asked, "Do you believe that women are amenable to all the laws of the land the same as men?"

"Yes, sir," said the man being examined.

Quizzes Prospective Juror.

"And in case there may be something about the defendant's physical condition at this time brought out during the trial, would that have any effect on you?"

"Well, it might," said the man who was the first to whom the question had been put.

"Cause, your honor," the prosecutor said, and the venireman was excused.

Eight jurors already had been sworn in. No hint had been given up to that time that the prosecution, conducted by Assistant State's Attorneys Ditchburne and Walker Butler, would ask such a question.

"Since Mr. Ditchburne has already cautioned you regarding the defendant's condition, which I carefully refrained from mentioning," Charles S. Dougherty, defense counsel, said when he began examining the panel tendered by the state, "I will ask you, does the fact that this defendant is pregnant prejudice you against her?"

Touches on Death Penalty.

"And you will not shrink from doing your duty if you feel that the evidence warrants severe punishment? You have no scruples against the death penalty?" Mr. Ditchburne asked.

"The defendant will undoubtedly take the stand. If a recital of testimony concerning improper relations with the co-defendant is introduced, will you be prejudiced against her?" Mr. Dougherty asked.

Mrs. O'Brien, small and pale, dressed in dark clothes which accentuated her pallor, put a shaking hand to her mouth and turned her head away from the jury box.

It was an efficient procedure, questioning of the jurors. "Almost a record breaking speed," boasted attorneys for both state and defense.

The 23 year old defendant sat there tying her handkerchief in knots, or cast a furtive, timid glance toward the jury box.

Mrs. Dorr Absent.

The place behind the railing in the courtroom which was occupied by Mrs. Rose Dorr, faithful wife of Howard Dorr, during his trial, yesterday was filled by another woman. Mrs. Dorr, it was said by Barratt O'Hara, attorney for Dorr, was in a serious condition and was in the care of a physician.

"A doctor who attended her following the return of the verdict last Saturday night insisted on her going away to a quiet place where no mention of her husband would be made. He feared she might become mentally deranged if she stayed here," Mr. O'Hara said. "She is watched constantly so that she will not attempt to take her life."

Although the courtroom was filled to capacity, it lacked the four long rows of chairs, reserved principally for women, which were brought in during the trial of Howard Dorr, supposedly Genevieve's lover, who was convicted of the murder of O'Brien.

Members of Jury.

Six young men and six men 40 years old or older compose the jury. They are Thomas F. Drury, 23, 5344 North Latrobe avenue, building contractor; Gordon Brownlie, 24, 2930 Eastwood avenue, cut stone contractor; Irving A. Turner, 30, 8735 South Hermitage avenue, machinist; Robert McGarrie, 48, 24 East 107th street, real estate collector; Keith E. Nevitt, 32, 3108 Grace street, salesman; Albert D. Viele, 28, 7102 Jeffery avenue, accountant; E. G. Wallace, 41, 1438 Thorndale avenue, tool designer; Joseph O. Brammer, 40, 7819 South Hermitage avenue, assistant buyer; Donald R. Rose, 24, 4636 Malden street, fire insurance agent; Joseph Lipp, 51, 846 Marianna street, supervisor with the elevated lines; J. C. Fanta, 49, 1842 West Fillmore, pattern maker, and Harry T. Fennell, 43, 353 West 126th street, steel company foreman.

Opening arguments by Assistant State's Attorney Ditchburne and Defense Attorney Hoffman will be heard this morning. It is expected that state's testimony will be completed in two or three days, and that the case may go to the jury Saturday night.

Among the state's first witnesses will be Don O'Brien, father of William J. O'Brien, who with his wife attended yesterday's session, in the same places they occupied during Dorr's trial.

MISSING

BARBARA LE BAN.

The police were asked yesterday to search for Barbara Le Ban, 14 year old freshman at Englewood High school, who has been missing from her home at 3436 Wallace street, since early Monday morning. According to her mother, Mrs. Mary Le Ban, the girl left home on Monday to go to school and has not been heard from since. Teachers at Englewood High school said that Barbara had been absent from classes both yesterday and Monday.

SAMUEL FELTON, DEAN OF RAIL EXECUTIVES, ILL

Samuel M. Felton, dean of Chicago rail executives, is seriously ill in Passavant hospital following a paralytic stroke last November, it was learned yesterday. Mr. Felton is 77 years old. He is chairman of the board of the Chicago Great Western railroad.

Mrs. Hopewell L. Rogers, 900 North Michigan avenue, a daughter, said last night that Mr. Felton was resting somewhat easier, but that there had been little change in his condition for some time. Mr. Felton began his railroad career in 1868.

SCHMIDT PLACES CITY FUND TOTAL AT $111,315,810

$40,949,190 in Cash; Rest in Securities.

City Controller Schmidt reported yesterday that the city's funds as of Dec. 31, 1929, totaled $111,315,810, of which $40,949,190 was in cash and $70,366,620 in securities. An analysis of the controller's statement shows that the transit fund of $57,175,224 is invested entirely in securities.

The analysis shows also that $8,648,564 of special funds has been invested. These special funds, according to city officials, should not be invested or loaned to the corporate fund in exchange for tax anticipation warrants, as the cash may be needed at any time.

Victor S. Petterson, deputy controller, said that the city's money is one lump amount and that separation of each fund into cash and securities is no more possible than a bank could tell a depositor just what percentage of his account was in cash and how much had been loaned or invested.

Funds Are Listed.

The funds and the amounts listed for each are shown by the controller as follows:

Water	$ 484,655.24
Special assessment	13,594,921.48
Library	151,456.13
Sanitarium	33,602.40
Schools	12,637,620.16
River straightening	2,684,851.52
Sinking fund special	7,497,120.00
Vehicle tax	1,101,628.37
Miscellaneous funds	4,642,832.68
Bond funds	12,002,517.66
Traction fund	57,175,224.57
Total	$111,315,810.21

Certain funds, totaling $49,497,754, were pointed out by Petterson as those which should not be invested or borrowed from for corporate uses. The balance sheet, however, shows only $40,949,190 in cash, which leaves the inference that the difference, $8,548,564, can be present only in securities.

Deposits Total $44,122,362.

The deposits of the transit companies from 1908 to 1929, inclusive, total $44,122,362, according to the balance sheet. Interest earnings, minus $1,534,421, which has been paid out for transit investigations, bring the total to $57,175,224. Interest earnings of $1,416,797 which have accrued to the transit fund but have not yet been distributed to it would raise the fund to $58,592,022, according to the controller.

HAFFA APPEALS CONVICTION TO SUPREME COURT

Titus A. Haffa, former alderman, who is under sentence of two years in the penitentiary and $11,000 fine for conspiracy to violate the dry law, filed a petition for a writ of certiorari on Monday before the United States Supreme court, it was learned yesterday. According to John B. Boddie, Haffa's counsel, an effort to reverse the conviction will be made on the ground that the court which sentenced Haffa did not instruct the jury properly in regard to testimony as to his good character.

Haffa was convicted and sentence was passed nearly a year ago. He then carried his case to the United States Circuit Court of Appeals. The Appellate court upheld the original verdict in an opinion returned recently, but a stay of execution was granted when Haffa said he wished to appeal to the Supreme court.

A plea entered by Haffa in a Cook county court was overruled yesterday when Judge Arnold Heap refused to vacate forfeiture of a $5,000 bond which the former alderman had posted to insure that he would make a monthly payment of $100 to Mrs. Anna Eurich. Last April Mrs. Eurich signed a complaint against Haffa charging violation of the Illinois securities law because she said he had sold $8,000 in stock of the National Ice company, an unqualified company. The case was not tried because Haffa promised to make restitution at the rate of $100 per month. Recently Mrs. Eurich complained that he had skipped a payment and the bond was ordered forfeited.

OUTLYING TRADE GROUP OFFICERS AT SNOW PARLEY

G. O. P. Head Seeks Secrecy for Conference.

BY PARKE BROWN.

Apparently with every effort for secrecy, Chairman B. W. Snow of the Cook county Republican central committee called into conference yesterday something like a hundred officers of neighborhood business men's associations and similar organizations.

He failed to mention the meeting to newspaper men who talked to him, but it was discovered in the Jackson boulevard offices of a grain brokerage house with which he is connected. The subject before the meeting was the selection of candidates for the April primary, but no names were mentioned and the only business transacted was the appointment of a subcommittee from the gathering which is to keep in touch with Snow and his fellow slate makers.

Promises Business Committee.

Those named on the committee were Harry E. Weimer, Harry M. Clark, E. H. Bangston, Leo Borwick, Sidney Brandell, Otto Kasper, L. E. Smith, Leonard T. Fish, Theodore Becker, T. M. Murdock, and Samuel Bilsky, all chosen from business men's associations from districts outside the loop and the central section of the city.

In addressing the meeting Snow said that he was carrying out the promise he made when elected county chairman last month—that he would appoint a committee of business men to pass on his organization's candidates. Another utterance of his also was recalled—his statement at a caucus last week that he and his associates would not "come to the loop" for their candidates, but would obtain them from the several sections of the city.

Slate Trouble Reported.

But politically his move was construed as confirming reports that he and his fellow slate makers are having difficulty in making up their ticket and may revert to a previously half formed decision to withhold the selection of candidates until the last day for filing primary petitions, Feb. 17, when it will be possible to choose indorsees from the entire field of aspirants.

What is troubling the slate makers chiefly, it is said, is that the opposition already is charging that the present county committee majority now is nothing more nor less than a city hall or Thompson organization.

Bar to Important Places.

This situation, says the gossip, has made it difficult for the Snow group to fill some of the most important places on the ticket such as those of sheriff and county treasurer.

It is understood that Maj. Carlos Ames, an 86th division veteran, former secretary of the Lincoln park board and now president of the city civil service commission, has been considered favorably for sheriff, but his friends say that he is scheduled to run as the candidate of the Illinois Republican Service Men's league which last Saturday put forward Howard P. Savage as its candidate for county treasurer.

The indorsement of the soldiers and sailors' organization is said to lie between Ames and Gen. John J. Garrity, who served as chief of police under a previous Thompson administration, with the indications in favor of Ames. If Ames receives this O. K. he will run as a service man's candidate but he might be indorsed later by the county committee.

May Approve Savage.

There is said to be the same possibility in the case of former National Commander Savage. Snow and his organization had groomed Assessor Charles Krutchkoff for the treasurership for months, but recently he asserted his intention to run again for the tax levying board, and Snow and his associates have no favorites to take his place. Therefore they may get behind Savage later.

Such a move by Snow and his associates, it is said, would create an uncomfortable situation for United States Senator Deneen, who already is believed to have been handed a problem by Fred Lundin's support of the candidacy of Walter E. Bacon for the county treasurer's office. The gossip is that Deneen indorsement of any candidate for this office except Bacon will cost the senator the votes of the Lundin organization in the fight for his own renomination. And it is said he has no choice of his own for the place.

Calls Special Elections.

Chairman Snow's task in reference to the sheriff's job also is complicated, according to report, by the personal ambition of Ald. William H. Feigenbutz of the 45th ward, which he also represents as ward committeeman. Although Feigenbutz is said to have proposed Ald. Oscar Nelson of the 46th ward as a candidate for sheriff some of his friends say he wants a chance at the job himself.

Gov. Emmerson yesterday issued the calls for the special elections necessary to fill the vacancies of Peter M. Schbawa on the Municipal bench and of the late Frank D. Comerford in the Superior court. They will coincide with the regular elections. The nominations for the City bench seat of Judge Schwaba, who resigned when elected to the Superior court, will be made in the April primaries, and the nominations for the Comerford place will be made in county conventions. Both elections come on Nov. 4.

FOUR ADMIT TAILOR SHOP ROBBERY. When Abe Greenberg 6240 South Morgan street, opened his tailor shop at 6003 Blackstone avenue yesterday, he found a window broken and the shelves looted. An hour later four Negroes, arrested while unloading clothing at a rooming house at 24th street and Michigan avenue, admitted the robbery.

RIVAL RUM RUNNING GANGS STAGE BATTLE ON CANADIAN ISLAND

Buffalo, N. Y., Jan. 21.—(AP)—Guns supposed to be those of liquor smugglers and hijackers roared today on the western end of Navy island, Canadian territory in the upper Niagara river. The pistol battle, it was believed, marked the reopening of warfare between Detroit and Buffalo rum runners. The result, however, has not been ascertained, the river being filled with ice floes and customs men refraining from visiting the island because of the danger. Navy island long has been a base of liquor operations, being outside of the jurisdiction of United States officers.

CANNERS TRAIN SPOTLIGHT ON TIN CANS AND TARIFF

Senator Warns of Menace of Italian Tomatoes.

The tariff on tomatoes, the personalities of pumpkins and the cutting down of the number of can sizes in which our foods are packed were discussed yesterday at the annual convention of the National Canners' association at the Stevens hotel.

Senator Millard E. Tydings, Maryland Democrat and foe of prohibition, passed a part of three hours he spent in Chicago telling the tomato section of the association how the Italian canners have grown to be a serious menace to the canners in Maryland and to the farmers who grow the tomatoes that go into the cans.

"In the state of Maryland," he said, "from time to time we have seen canning houses closed because it was not profitable to operate them. We have seen fields of tomatoes rotting because it was not profitable to pick them. When the new tariff bill is passed I hope that this condition will either disappear or be greatly minimized."

Importation Increases.

In 1922, when the present tariff bill carrying a tariff of only 15 per cent ad valorem on canned tomatoes was passed, Senator Tydings showed that 11,000,000 pounds was imported. This increased until in 1928 the importations reached 93,000,000 pounds. Figures furnished by the association demonstrate this this amount was doubled and more in 1929 and that foreigners sent us around 200,000,000 pounds. This is estimated to equal 25 to 33 per cent of an average tomato pack by the industry in America. It is equivalent to the average production annually in Maryland, the leading tomato packing state.

To equalize the selling price here so that Americans—growers and canners—can compete, the association requested a 60 per cent duty. The house of representatives passed a bill for a 40 per cent tariff and the senate finance committee has recommended 50 per cent. It is expected that 45 per cent is the probable figure that will come out in the final bill. Senator Tydings, who actively favors the higher schedule asserted that no senator had opposed the 50 per cent figure.

Takes Rap at Prohibition.

While here, Senator Tydings also made some observations on the prohibition question. In his judgment, he said, more liquor is being drunk than before prohibition, although it costs more, and the total drink bill is greater.

"This bald myth that the country is saving money that would go elsewhere if there was no prohibition is refuted by every government report bearing on the subject," he declared. "The death rate from alcoholism is mounting. Approximately 1,500,000 sets of distilling apparatus were seized in the last ten years. Federal prisons are overflowing and many new courts have had to be created to care for liquor violators. If prohibition is a success then all the people of the United States are the king of England."

Then the senator boarded a train for Washington.

Explains the Pumpkin.

As for the pumpkins, an able explanation as to why the stout hesquashes of Oregon are heavier and thicker in the can than the mild ones that grow on the banks of the Wabash was given by H. R. Smith of the association's research department. It's all because the Oregon kind have six times as much starch as the Indiana kind, and make stiffer, but not necessarily better pies.

In fact, some customers have been deceived by the Oregon variety and have come to believe that no pumpkin could be so strong physically—that stiffening material must have been added. This is incorrect.

A conference on the standardization of cans was attended by canners, food brokers, and wholesale grocers. P. H. H. Dunn of the department of commerce presented a statement showing that of 64 sizes of cans in common use today, only 27 are necessary to take care of the needs.

A reduction in the number of sizes would effect important economies in the handling of stock by wholesalers as well as in canning machinery and in the manufacture of cans, it was pointed out.

The National Wholesale Grocers' association, meeting in the Congress hotel, forwarded to President Hoover a telegram assuring him the organization would do everything possible to keep and increase prosperity all over the country.

Another food organization, the National Preservers' association, which differs from the canners mainly in using sugar in its products, is advocating legislation that will force preservers who add pectin to their jams and jellies, to make them look like what they aren't, to brand their goods "imitation preserves." Yesterday afternoon Dr. Harry Barnard, former technical director of the American Bakery institute, suggested a campaign to get mothers to feed their children a fourth meal daily at 4 p. m.

UPWARD TREND OF EMPLOYMENT SHOWN IN REPORT

Gradual Recovery Noted by Secretary Davis.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 21.—(AP)—An upward trend in employment during the last two weeks for the first time since the stock market deflation last November was reported to President Hoover today by Secretary Davis.

"The tide of employment all over the country has changed in the right direction," the chief executive said, after receiving information that the steel, iron and automobile industries, along with virtually every other major industry in the country, had shown increased activity since Jan. 6.

Secretary Davis said "We can expect a great deal of business in 1930," and that the present year "should see us well on the way to complete recovery" from the depression during the last few months of 1929.

Started with New Year.

Jan. 1 actually marked the turn upward in employment, the secretary said, but it was not entirely evident until Jan. 6, when reports showed a steady gain.

Meanwhile, at the interstate commerce commission today, applications were filed by two railroads for permission to issue $30,000,000 in bonds, a large part of which is to be spent for improvements this year.

The Delaware, Lackawanna and Western sought authority to sell $25,000,000 of Morris and Essex railroad bonds, expecting to spend approximately $16,000,000 on improvements. Permission was asked by the New York, New Haven and Hartford to issue $4,545,000 of equipment trust certificates to finance partially the purchase of new equipment costing $5,670,646.

Lamont Sees Advance.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 21.—[Special.]—Secretary of Commerce Robert P. Lamont today informed a conference attended by business representatives of key industries in the construction and building field that he believed a firm foundation for future progress in the building industry is being laid.

Secretary Lamont called attention to the vast amount of public and semi-public construction work scheduled for the coming year and asserted that the seven billion program for federal, state, and major industrial construction and replacement during 1930, augurs well for continued satisfactory business conditions.

Alister MacDonald, son of Premier Ramsay MacDonald of Great Britain, will arrive here tomorrow morning from Detroit to study Chicago skyscrapers. Mr. MacDonald, who is an architect, will be met here by John A. Holabird and Hubert Burnham of the Century of Progress architectural committee and will be a guest at Hull house, where his parents spent part of their honeymoon.

JUDGE ATTACKS RUM SNOOPERS; FREES CAPTIVE

Ocala, Fla., Jan. 21.—(AP)—Denouncing as "high handed and outrageous," methods employed by customs patrol inspectors who "ride up and down the highways of Florida, away from any border, holding up automobiles of citizens to search them for liquor," Federal Judge Lake Jones of Jacksonville today dismissed a charge against Willie Lewis, on trial for transporting liquor.

Two customs patrol inspectors had testified against Lewis. One of them, T. S. Wisehart of Tampa, told the court he found liquor in only about 50 per cent of the cars he searched.

"Citizens of this country have rights," Judge Jones said, and addressing one of the inspectors on the witness stand, he added:

"No law in the world gives you the right to ride up and down the state holding up citizens. It ought to be stopped."

CHARLES H. SWIFT SUES MOTORIST FOR AUTO CRASH

Charles H. Swift, vice president of Swift & Co., yesterday filed the praecipe of a $15,000 damage suit in the Superior court against Albert E. Rockwell, a mechanic, 2840 South Keeler avenue. The suit is brought, Attorney Joseph W. H. Hinshaw explained, for injuries Mr. Swift incurred in an auto accident last Aug. 21.

Mr. Swift returning from his office to his home at 209 Lake Shore drive in his automobile, driven by a chauffeur, the Swift car was sideswiped by the automobile driven by Rockwell. The damages asked cover both for the injury to Mr. Swift and damage to the car.

Three deaths yesterday raised the 1930 Cook county motor toll to 37. The victims:

Louis Leske, 61 years old, 2140 Waveland avenue, died in the Illinois Masonic hospital of injuries incurred when he was struck by an automobile at Hamilton avenue and Addison street. Walter Dobel, 3425 Melrose street, the driver, was held.

Barnett Sharfstein, 29 years old, 3253 Potomac avenue. Died in the Lutheran Memorial hospital of injuries received when he was struck by an automobile at Grand and Harding avenues on Jan. 16.

Frank Migliardi, 58 years old, 1445 Taylor street. Died in the Mother Cabrini hostiptal of injuries received on Monday when he was struck by an automobile at Taylor street and Ashland avenue. Louis Trznadel, 1737 West Cullerton sareet, driver of the car, was held.

Richard J. Dunne, 1204 Cleveland street, Evanston, son of former Gov. Edward F. Dunne, won his eighth continuance from Justice James W. Corcoran in the Evanston police court, when he was arraigned yesterday on a charge of driving while intoxicated. Dunne was arrested on Nov. 23 after he crashed into the automobile of Charles Brechouse, 621 11th street, Wilmette, at Ridge avenue and Reba place, Evanston. Justice Corcoran refused to divulge his reason for granting the continuance.

47 Years' Practice Taught Dr. Caldwell

Many things about Men and Women

DR. CALDWELL loved people. He studied the habits of his patients and tried to improve their ways of living. His observations over a long period of time convinced him many people were ruining their health by a careless choice of laxatives. Then he determined to write a prescription which would get at the cause of constipation and correct it quickly and safely.

How successful his efforts were is best shown by the fact that the prescription he wrote back in 1885 has become the world's most popular laxative! He prescribed a mixture of herbs and other pure ingredients now known as Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, in thousands of cases where bad breath, coated tongue, gas, headaches, biliousness, and lack of appetite, or energy showed him that the bowels of men, women or children were sluggish. It proved successful in the most obstinate cases. So men liked it. Old folks liked it because it never gripes. Children liked its pleasant taste. And everybody is pleased with the gentle way it accomplishes its purpose.

By 1888, the demand for this laxative was so great that the doctor permitted it to be bottled and sold by drugstores. Today you can obtain Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin from any drugstore in the world.

GRUNDY TARIFF LEAGUE HIRED 2 ON U. S. PAY ROLL

Lobby Quiz Finds $40,000 Is Spent for G. O. P.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 21.—[Special.]—Radical Republican and Democratic members of the senate's lobby investigating committee fairly glowed today over new "scandals" in disclosures that Senator Joe Grundy's American Tariff league not only spent $40,000 in the 1928 presidential campaign, spreading Republican protective tariff propaganda, but also carried attaches of congressional tariff committees on its pay roll.

Ever since Grundy, Pennsylvania's master tariff lobbyist, told them to their faces they represented "backward states," which should have no voice in framing national policies, the lobby investigators have waited for a chance to dig into the operations of the American Tariff league which Grundy organized and through which he worked for a decade or more.

Grundy resigned the vice presidency of the league when he was appointed to the senate last December.

Story of Proposed Hookup.

Between the testimony of W. Warren Barbour, the league's treasurer, and the latter's files, the story of a proposed "hookup" between the league and the Republican national committee was pieced together. Under the plan, conceived by Grundy and Barbour, and approved by Dr. Hubert Work, then chairman of the Republican national committee, the league was to undertake the "protective tariff educational" phase of the 1928 campaign.

Barbour, a huge man and a former amateur boxing champion, drummed nervously on the table as he told how the league, after a special fund of $40,000 was collected, fearing that its relations with the Republican national committee might be misconstrued, ended the "hookup," and carried on "the educational campaign" independently.

"The special fund," Barbour wrote to contributors, notifying them of the change in plans, "can be used entirely independent of any political party and in exactly the same way as we had planned."

"But," demanded Senator T. H. Caraway [Dem., Ark.], chairman of the lobby committee, "are you aware that the law requires reports to congress of all political contributions?"

"Yes," replied Barbour.

"Well, did you report this expenditure to the secretary of the senate, or the clerk of the house?" asked Caraway.

"No," answered Barbour. "They were not political contributions or expenditures."

Here's Second Sensation.

The second sensation of the morning came when Barbour was confronted with excerpts from the minutes of the league's executive committee showing that E. N. Dingley, tariff expert of the senate finance committee, and Clayton F. Moore, clerk of the house ways and means committee, were both carried on the league's pay roll as "Washington correspondents" for the American Economist or the Tariff Review, publications sponsored by the league.

The employment to write special articles for the two publications dealing with the tariff situation covered a four year period and ended, Barbour testified, in January, 1929, when the pending tariff revision bill came to congress. Moore, according to a hasty calculation by Senator J. J. Blaine [Rep., Wis.] received approximately $1,866 during the four years, and Dingley, a son of the late chairman of the house ways and means committee, received $1,541 in the same period.

Bingham-Eyanson Affair.

"Isn't this the same sort of thing we encountered in the Bingham-Eyanson affair?" asked Senator Blaine. "There we had an official of a tariff association on the pay roll of a congressional committee."

Barbour declared he was not familiar with the employment of C. L. Eyanson, official of the Connecticut Manufacturers' association, by Senator Hiram Bingham [Rep., Conn.] or the fact that Eyanson, as the senator's personal tariff adviser, attended executive sessions of the senate finance committee during the framing of the tariff bill. Barbour indignantly denied that he or the league hoped to influence tariff legislation by employing Moore and Dingley.

When Senator Blaine produced a letter written by Barbour to the league members urging them to communicate with their congressman on the tariff, Barbour declared the letter was "part of the league's educational campaign."

Realizes Sanctity of Oath.

"I suppose," said Senator T. J. Walsh [Dem., Mont.], "you realize the sanctity of your oath?"

"Certainly," answered Barbour.

"Well, on the sanctity of the oath under which you testify, do you want to tell us that is educational work?" asked Walsh.

"I certainly think it is. It is advancing protection as a policy. We were telling every one to see every congressman," responded Barbour.

"How does that differ from the ordinary work of a lobbyist?" demanded Walsh.

"To be perfectly frank with you," said Barbour, "I don't know what a lobbyist is. I would like you to tell me."

"Just look at your own organization and you have as fine an example as I know of," interjected Caraway, sarcastically.

MYSTERIOUS BEAST NEAR CAPITAL BEING HUNTED BY POLICE

Washington, D. C., Jan. 21.—(AP)—A wild beast, real or mythical, which has been the object of an unsuccessful ten day chase along the city's outskirts, today had convinced Washingtonians so thoroughly of its reality that an augmented force of police and citizens joined in the hunt.

Walter Johnson, manager of the Washington baseball team, and his favorite fox hound, Rock, were among those trailing the beast, which is currently believed to be a panther or mountain lion.

Recently a hog was found dead, having been terribly mauled by a powerful animal with long sharp claws. Reports today from the same section said a dog had been killed, apparently after a sharp battle with the beast. Tracks have been found, but as yet no one has seen the killer.

Police Capt. Peck has called upon W. E. Crouch, acting chief of the predatory animal control division of the department of agriculture, asking him to furnish traps and an expert lion hunter.

In addition, Peck has detailed two of the best shots in the police department to the chase, and has warned citizens of northeast Washington to stay indoors at night.

U. S. DEPORTING OF ALIENS SHOWS GAIN IN DISTRICT

Illinois Hands Convicts to Officials.

Deportation of undesirable aliens from the Chicago district showed a decided increase during the last six months of 1929, according to a statement by S. D. Smith, director of immigration for this district. The area under Mr. Smith's direction includes Illinois, Wisconsin, eastern Iowa and northwestern Indiana.

During the last half of 1929, Mr. Smith said, 311 aliens were deported, as compared to 450 for the fiscal year which ended June 30, 1929. This number included a large number of criminals released from state institutions after expiration of minimum sentences. Others sent back had either entered this country illegally or overstayed temporary passports.

Deport More Criminals.

"The number of criminals we are able to deport is constantly rising," Mr. Smith said. "We have had increasingly the coöperation of state officials, a coöperation necessary to our efforts to rid the country of undesirable aliens. Unless prison authorities give us access to their records so that we may arrange for deportation of a criminal while he is still incarcerated, it is difficult for us to apprehend him.

"In Illinois the prisons are overcrowded and state officials are glad to have us take convicts off their hands. We have lists of deportable aliens at Joliet and Pontiac, and as fast as their minimum sentences are up or they are paroled, we get passports for them and ship them out of the country. At present there are approximately 300 at Joliet against whom we will issue warrants before they are free."

Law Names Crimes.

Immigration laws provide that an alien convicted of a crime involving moral turpitude within five years after arrival, or of two such crimes if he has come here since 1917, is subject to deportation.

Following is a table of deportations from this district during the years since active efforts to remove undesirable aliens were started:

1923	173	1927	262
1924	199	1928	360
1925	198	1929	450

Part of the increase since 1924, Mr. Smith said, has been due to the large number of aliens whose entry into the country was illegal on account of the immigration quota laws passed in that year.

AUTO THIEF SHOT; PAL CONFESSES FIFTY ROBBERIES

Police Sergt. William Doyle yesterday shot and probably fatally wounded Leo Szabieski, 8134 Burnham avenue, and arrested his companion, Joseph Durham, of 8533 Muskegon avenue, when the pair attempted to steal an automobile parked in front of 8526 Burnham avenue. The wounded man was taken to the South Chicago hospital.

At the South Chicago police station Durham confessed to the police that he and his companion had participated in more than fifty holdups since shortly before Christmas, most of the robberies occurring on the south side and in Calumet City, Whiting, and Gary. Victor Siatta, a Calumet City policeman, identified Durham as the man who slugged him and took away his gun during an oil station holdup recently. Durham had the gun when arrested.

Durham also admitted that he and Szabieski had taken part in the robbery of a Calumet City roadhouse in which six armed men took $200 from the manager and eight patrons.

DEBATE FURIOUS OVER PROPOSED NEW DRY LAWS

Each Side Blames Other for Killings.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 21.—[Special.]—Embattled wets and drys flew at each other's throats today in another frenzy of prohibition debating on the floor of the house.

Aroused by recent wet attacks on the prohibition casualty list, Representative L. C. Cramton [Rep., Mich.], spokesman for the Anti-Saloon league, arose in defense of the slaying of rum runners and the use of poisons in denaturing alcohol.

Representative F. H. La Guardia [Rep., N. Y.] immediately responded with a counter-attack on what he termed the aim of the drys to wreck four other constitutional amendments in order to save the eighteenth amendment.

Others on each side leaped into the fray and before it was over several thousand more words of prohibition oratory were written into the Congressional Record.

Enforcement Bills Offered.

Earlier in the day the recommendations of President Hoover's law enforcement commission for tightening up the dry law machinery were advanced a step by a subcommittee of the house judiciary committee. Following a closed door conference with Chairman George W. Wickersham and Roscoe Pound, a member of the commission, the chairman of the subcommittee, Representative C. A. Christopherson [Rep., S. D.], introduced in the house a bill embodying three of the proposals recommended in the commission's report. One of the bills outlines the procedure of handling minor prohibition cases before United States commissioners. The others would amend the Jones five-and-ten law to fine slight or casual offenses and to provide penalties for misdemeanors of not more than six months in jail and a fine of $500.

Another development of the day was a statement by Senator Otis F. Glenn [Rep., Ill.] asserting that his objections to the Jones law for its failure to distinguish between casual and major offenders had been vindicated by the Wickersham report.

Starts the Verbal Brickbats.

Representative Cramton took the floor for the purpose of pointing out that the pending Sirovich bill to forbid the use of poison wood alcohol as a denaturant would ruin the use of alcohol for industrial purposes. The largest part of his speech was devoted to quoting chemists. Before closing, however, he struck at the wets on their anti-shooting pleas.

"I have heard here, day after day, the sobbing oratory of a few highly vocal wets bemoaning the death of bootleggers and rum runners," he declared, "but these eloquent defenders of slain law violators voice little regret when an officer, a civic hero, dies at their hands."

It was this statement that brought La Guardia to his feet. Asserting that the prohibition law is responsible for the deaths of both officers and law violators, he contended that the drys were making matters much worse by blaming the killings upon "inflammatory" statements of the wets. If they could, he said, the drys would ban the right of free speech and a free press.

"Already in their effort to enforce the 18th amendment the drys are violating the fourth, forbidding unreasonable searches and seizures," he said. "At this moment they are working on bills to destroy the fifth, providing for grand jury indictments, and the sixth, guaranteeing a trial by jury. And now they seek to get rid of the first amendment guaranteeing free speech."

Representative Frank Oliver [Dem., N. Y.] cut in with the remark that he had never heard a more "inflammatory" statement than that of Cramton advocating the poisoning of industrial alcohol, while Representative L. M. Black [Dem., N. Y.] interposed that "the constitution means nothing to the drys."

Before the row was over Representative R. H. Clancy [Rep., Mich.] got in with a new assault on the Anti-Saloon league, describing it as an "insidious lobbying organization."

Glenn Quotes Chicago Writers.

Senator Glenn, who has been silent so far in the prohibition debates in the senate, issued his statement late in the day after reading of Wickersham's testimony before the house subcommittee, in advocacy of the bill to distinguish more clearly between casual and serious offenses under the Jones law.

"It is now stated that steps will be taken to amend the Jones law to provide for penalties of not more than six months imprisonment and a fine of $500 for slight or casual offenses," the Illinois senator said.

"This is exactly in line with my position on the senate floor when the Jones law was under consideration and for which I have been commended in editorials of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE and the Daily News.

"There can be no doubt that such a distinction between a major and minor offenses as now is proposed by Chairman Wickersham is essential for more effective enforcement, not only of prohibition, but of all criminal law. A slight offender is now led to greater crime by the belief that the punishment will be no harder if he is caught.

Conclusions Vindicated.

"I am, of course, gratified to find that, although the experience with the Jones law has been but brief, the study of its effect on law enforcement has already led government authorities to the conclusion that important changes are necessary. My position is thus vindicated by President Hoover's commission.

"In my opinion the recommendation of the commission that amendments to the Jones law be made which will reduce the penalties imposed upon minor violators will meet with the approval of the great body of sound minded citizens who are not extremists on either side."

SIR ESME BROADCASTS HIS "SWAN SONG" AS BRITISH ENVOY TO U. S.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 21.—(AP)—Delivering what he termed the "swan song" of a retiring British ambassador, Sir Esme Howard, dean of the diplomatic corps, expressed over the radio tonight his appreciation for "the hospitality I have received and the lessons I have learned."

Sir Esme will sail for England shortly with Lady Howard. His address having been preceded by a broadcast of British music, Sir Esme devoted most of his time to a "brief summary of the history of English music." While the thought of England is not usually connected with music, he said, there was a time, called the "golden age," when it was in the forefront of musical countries.

Sir Esme concluded his address with the hope that discords will never enter "the joint compositions" of English speaking countries.

J. HARRY SELZ ESTATE VALUED AT 2 MILLIONS

Stock Crash Cut Paper Listing $1,275,000.

The inventory of the estate of the late J. Harry Selz, president of Selz, Schwab & Co., shoe manufacturers, was filed yesterday before Leon Edelman, assistant to Probate Judge Horner. It estimates the present value of the estate, largely in stocks, at $2,000,000. At the time the will was filed, before the crash of the stock market, the estate was said to be approximately $3,275,000, and that is the basis for inheritance taxes—the actual value on day of death.

Shares.	Stock—	Market value.
330	Am Tel & Tel Co	$ 72,187
200	Chicago City Railways	5,000
4,000	Chicago Corp.	41,400
1,264	Commonwealth Edison Co.	281,652
550	Illinois Central Railroad	71,500
385	Continental Ill. Bank & Trust	267,190
496	International Harvester Co.	40,076
242	New York Central Railroad	41,382
1,500	Pullman Co.	124,500
600	Royal Dutch of N Y.	31,875
420	Sears-Roebuck Co	34,980
3,828	Standard Oil Co.	287,336
300	Western Union	59,700

The inventory lists many smaller holdings of stock, $50,000 in insurance, $70,000 in bonds and real estate. The chief holding of the nonlisted stock is 3,025 shares in the shoe company.

Mr. Selz died on Aug. 11. He was 65 years old and had been confined to his home since the preceding January with a heart ailment.

His will left the bulk of his estate to his widow, Mrs. Bertha Austrian Selz and two sons, Frank E. and Austin Selz. Under the will $50,000 is to be distributed to charities to be selected by Mrs. Selz.

CRAIN ANNOUNCES N. Y. MAGISTRATE COURTS INQUIRY

New York, Jan. 21.—[Special.]—District Attorney Crain announced today that on Monday he will begin one of the most sweeping investigations this city has seen in years, an investigation of the magistrates' courts of New York county.

His decision was prompted, the district attorney said, by "comments in the press" and by letters received criticising the procedure in the magistrates' courts. The inquiry will not be confined to the judicial conduct of the magistrates alone, he said, but will embrace all who are attached to these courts—a total of 636 persons on the city's pay roll.

The prosecutor gave three specific reasons for taking the matter up.

They were: [1] Justice to the honest members of the court personnel; [2] the fact that if the charges of corruption and extortion and favoritism are well founded the poor and needy are the chief victims; [3] the fact that public confidence in the courts has collapsed and that all courts and all law are consequently endangered.

YARROW PLEADS FOR FAIR DEAL IN CENSOR DEBATE

Argues Against Opponent of Book Snoopers.

The Rev. Philip Yarrow and Dr. J. William Terry discussed the subject of evil in books in a debate before the weekly forum of the City club yesterday on the question, "Does Chicago Need Book Censorship?" Mr. Yarrow said there ought to be censorship because there is a lot of evil in the world, especially in books, and it ought to be stamped out. Mr. Terry wasn't so much interested in evil as he was in personal liberty. He claimed the right to read whatever he pleased.

Mr. Yarrow, who is superintendent of the Illinois Vigilance association, defended his position against those who criticized him for his recent prosecution of book shops in search of bad books. He quoted extensively to prove the prevalence of smut.

Yarrow Answers Critics.

"I have been denounced as a faker," said Mr. Yarrow. . "As a matter of fact I am a properly ordained minister in good standing. They say I am a paid reformer; in 30 years of service with my association my total savings are less than $4,000. I am following the sign of the cross and they call me a racketeer.

"The newspapers of Chicago and throughout the country have been unjust and unfair to me. They have perpetrated lies, false impressions and dishonorable innuendoes in a libelous attack upon my character."

Mr. Yarrow concluded his argument for book censorship in Chicago by appealing for a square deal for himself.

Dr. Terry argued that book censorship usually defeats the purpose of the reformers by giving popularity to books which otherwise would go unnoticed.

"Censorship a Boomerang."

"The principal achievement of the Watch and Ward society of Boston," he said, "is to put into circulation books and magazines which otherwise might not enjoy popularity. One such book was 'Oil,' by Upton Sinclair, a work dealing wholly with an economic subject, which was suppressed for a single paragraph. Thereafter the book store in the Pennsylvania station in New York did a land office business selling to persons searching for that paragraph.

"The short story 'Hatrack' which caused the suppression of an issue of the American Mercury magazine, was another case in point. The book dealers sold out all copies of that magazine. The seventh chapter of the book of Proverbs contains a story dealing with many of the aspects which Watch and Ward society found objectionable in 'Hatrack,' and it is much more attractively told. I do not recommend the suppression of the Bible."

SEEKS SELLER OF 'BAD' BOOK TO DEALER WHO IS FINED FOR RESALE

Boston, Mass., Jan. 21.—[Special.]—Hoping to find the person who delivered to the Dunster House Book shop a copy of "Lady Chatterly's Lover," which in turn was sold to an agent of the Watch and Ward society, Attorney R. C. Evarts of Boston today advertised in the Boston newspapers for him to come forward "to aid in establishing the truth in the interest of justice." Evarts charges the Watch and Ward society with "framing" the sale on his client, who was fined $500.

It was brought out in the trial of James A. Delacey, proprietor of the Dunster house, that he had no copy of the book in stock when John Tait Slaymaker, agent of the Watch and Ward society, attempted to buy a copy of D. H. Lawrence's book. The copy which finally was sold to Slaymaker was brought to the shop, according to Mr. Delacey, by an unknown person after Slaymaker had asked Delacey if he would buy a copy of the book for him from a second hand dealer. This call was closely followed by another visit from Mr. Slaymaker, who purchased the book.

Evarts today said that "if the person delivered the book to the Dunster house in good faith he ought to be willing to come forward. If he did not deliver it in good faith undoubtedly I will never hear from him."

CLASSICS DYING UNDER DELUGE OF NEW BOOKS

Lippincott Warns Against "Literary Progress."

BY TOM PETTEY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Jan. 21.—[Special.]—The classics that delighted generations are dying under a mountain pile of best sellers, the National Association of Book Publishers was told here today at its annual meeting. The day is not so far away, booksellers were advised, when such books as "Pilgrim's Progress" will be found only in the libraries of colleges and the works of Shakespeare will be familiar only to research workers delving in curious old plays.

Book clubs, critics and the taste for "something light" were blamed for the decline of the classics, and the painful idea that today's best sellers may become tomorrow's classics was seriously discussed.

Progress Is Too Fast.

"Look what is happening to our classics," said Joseph W. Lippincott, head of the Philadelphia publishing house, in his address. "We are speeding up literary progress all right. It is on the trot. But I am afraid it may be carried too far.

"I am not sure therefore that this cry for something new is not becoming a menace. The flood of latest offerings, bountifully advertised, pampered by book clubs and boomed by literary critics, may swamp everything else.

"Were it not for their present use in the universities what would become of the classics? It is possible that books such as 'Pilgrim's Progress' will be buried in oblivion before another decade. Perhaps we in America are going to build up a classical literature of our own. It is worth thinking about. But if the older classics cannot be kept alive what hope can we have to prolong the life of books of today?

"The latest thing has the vogue. The phrase, 'Here is something new,' is apparently the open sesame to sales. The interest in the great books of the past shows signs of dying."

Other Publishers Dissent.

In view of divergent opinions expressed after the meeting by others who declared that the sale of the classics still was normal Mr. Lippincott was asked if he referred exclusively to the classics in speaking of a slackened demand. He then applied the more general term of "staple" literature to the category of books that had suffered, including besides the recognized classics other standard works.

"Among the most peculiar fads of the day," he said, "is the spirit of censorship which takes the form of ill advised laws that may place burdens on the innocent as well as on offenders. Fanatical outbursts also endanger books that have sold for generations without being questioned. They add one more push to some of the retreating classics."

Urges Publishers Be Consulted.

Mr. Lippincott thought that legislators dealing with proposed statutes which would affect books should give publishers' representatives an opportunity to point out, through their knowledge of the industry, both good and objectionable features of proposed laws.

He pictured librarians in the community as "veritable guide posts of reading" and said they have been greatly instrumental in keeping alive the standard books in all lines of reading.

"Another force which may turn people back to the best books of all time," Mr. Lippincott concluded, "is the recent stock market crash. Whenever the public faces new values in life, different conditions, and an outlook for a time is perplexing it inevitably turns to reading. The crash of 1907 proved that most books are not 'luxuries.' Books will undoubtedly again do their part in the process of reconstruction."

10,187 New Titles Last Year.

Statistics compiled at the meeting revealed that the publishing business reached a new peak last year. Back in 1919 the book business was on shaky legs with approximately 126,000,000 copies of 5,741 titles being run off on the presses. Books, however, played a part in the after-the-war reconstruction period and in 1929 there were 227,000,000 copies of 10,187 titles printed.

The book men reported that while in 1928 biography was the leader in the United States, the trend last year changed to fiction. Fiction, they said, also led in England and Germany. Works on philology and science showed gains.

Edward S. Mills, president of Longmans, Green & Co. of New York, was elected president of the association.

CLARE BRIGGS' WILL ATTACKED BY SECOND WIFE

New York, Jan. 21.—[Special.]—Mrs. Marie Briggs, second wife of Clare A. Briggs, the cartoonist, started suit today in Surrogate's court to break his will.

The document, filed for probate Jan. 10, left his estate of "more than $40,000" to Mrs. Ruth Owen Briggs, who divorced him in 1929, and to his three children. The second Mrs. Briggs alleges that when he signed it, Oct. 18, 1920, it was not in the presence of the witnesses who subscribed their names; that he was not of sound mind and legal capacity; and that he was "under the domination, control, and influence of Ruth Briggs, who induced him unlawfully to sign."

According to David M. Neuberberg, attorney for Mrs. Marie Briggs, the failure to alter the will after his divorce and remarriage seems to have been an oversight by the cartoonist. An insurance policy for $100,000 also stands in the name of the first Mrs. Briggs.

VOGUE Told You So!

For two whole years, Vogue has been watching this on-coming mode. Here are a few out of many reiterated warnings from its pages. Does not this prove that $2 invested in Vogue actually saves you $200?

As long ago as October 1, 1927, Vogue said: "Drapery and Length of Line...The Cut of Smart Frocks Grows More Complicated."

As long ago as February 1, 1928, Vogue said: The higher waist-line . . . Occasional frocks show this new note, and these have prepared the way for a fashion soon to come in greater numbers."

As long ago as November 10, 1928, Vogue said: "Do wear the skirts of your formal costumes, particularly the skirts of your evening gowns, definitely longer."

As long ago as January 19, 1929, Vogue said: "Great length and evening chic are synonymous . . ."

As long ago as April 13, 1929, Vogue said: "... longer, fuller skirts and higher waist-lines have been used so perfectly that they look right, smart and becoming."

As long ago as June 22, 1929, Vogue said: "The hem-line is travelling and so is the waist-line. One is going up, and the other is going down."

As long ago as July 20, 1929, Vogue said: "... sports and day skirts will be worn about four inches below the knee; afternoon dresses from four and a half inches to five and a half inches below the knee; evening dresses . . . at their longest point, trailing on the floor."

As long ago as August 3, 1929, Vogue said: "Hem-lines are hovering from four to five and a half inches below the knees."

As long ago as September 28, 1929, Vogue said: "...four inches below the knee now right for sports . . . slightly longer for afternoon . . . evening skirts are longer than ever, including more trains . . . absolutely new evening dresses with points that trail on the ground all around . . ."

As long ago as October 26, 1929, Vogue said: "... longer skirt—not more than fourteen inches off the ground for daytime wear, and, in the evening, touching or even dragging on the floor."

Today, Vogue says: ...but go to the newsstand now and buy your copy of January 18th Vogue! You need more than just a correct skirt length to accomplish smartness!

Women who studied Vogue, and profited by their study, knew months ago about the change in fashions that has caused such confusion among less well-informed women.

Women who read Vogue bought the longer skirt, the fitted waistline, the frock of complicated drapery...bought in time...and did not need to discard their entire wardrobes when the new mode suddenly became general.

Vogue Is Wise Before The Fact . . . Not After The Fact

Months ago, Vogue saw this trend coming. Again and again it warned you. If you bought by its correct predictions you saved Vogue's purchase price—not once,—but many times over.

If you failed to heed Vogue . . . if you were caught short on skirts and lacked margin in drapery . . . you are now discovering for yourself that the gown you buy and cast away half-worn is the really expensive gown . . . that gloves, shoes, hats, which just miss chic are the ones that cost more than you can afford.

Remember Vogue Is Not An Extravagance, It Is A Profit-Paying Investment

In the next few months during the very period in which Vogue's Special Fashion Numbers appear, you will be selecting your wardrobe, and spending hundreds of dollars.

Consider, then, that for $2 . . . a tiny fraction of your loss on a single ill-chosen gown . . . you may secure 10 issues of Vogue... 11 issues if you mail the coupon now... that will yield you enormous dividends in chic, and save Vogue's purchase price many times over . . . perhaps even in the very first issue you receive.

THIS INTRODUCTORY OFFER OPEN ONLY TO NEW SUBSCRIBERS

We cannot extend this Special Offer to those who are already familiar with Vogue. But if you do not know Vogue, or would like to know it better, sign and mail the coupon at once. CODIFIED MORALITY.

Congress in its persistent search for perfectibility has obstructed itself in noble effort by using unintelligent methods. It established a censorship of books in a tariff act. It used the interstate commerce act to put in the penitentiary citizens taken in sin. It used the income tax act to expose the sinfulness of private property and turn the owner of it over to the solicitations and importunities of people who would like to take it away from him. It used the postoffice regulations to check various infirmities of man, including his desire to gamble a little occasionally.

These are samples of the method, indirect and complicated, although it does get results. It may be noted, as another application of it, that it has been suggested that Philippine independence be put in the sugar schedule of the tariff bill. The system is obviously imperfect. The morals, the private conduct, the physical and mental activities of the American citizen require a code of laws, not these incidental attachments to interstate commerce, tariff, postal and other acts. This is trifling with the subject which the United States government makes its chief concern. The need is for direct, specific and codified legislation governing private conduct.

In comprehensive form it may very well take account of physical as well as moral good. To its prohibitions it may add prescriptions. The citizen who may not drink beer must take setting up exercises. The government which dictates in a citizen's library might also dictate in his kitchen, telling him, in addition to what he may not read, what he must eat. It would be considerate of his vitamins and his calories.

For the present the espionage apparently indicated by this full system of regulation would have to content itself with wire tapping, search without warrant and shooting on suspicion, but the government methods later could include television. The goldfish will then be in their bowl.

It is not necessary to present argument to show that the immediate need is for a codification of the moral laws of the United States government, the don'ts of the democracy, the regulations of personal conduct as permitted adult citizens.

As these regulations are now scattered about in many statutes having no direct bearing upon them or relation to them they are unimpressive and are not indicative of the real concern of the government. Being thus incidental they give no idea of the purpose of the government in its attitude toward private life and conduct. One might conclude that the subject was regarded as of no importance. Nothing but a moral code will be adequate.

DIPLOMATIC PRECEDENT.

Some of the observers in London and Washington are saying that the United States is in no danger of being outtraded in the naval negotiations. In this connection it is interesting to recall that the American delegation which adjusted the French debt accepted 50 cents on the dollar in the firm belief that if France were required to pay any more she would break under the strain. Just the other day the cables carried the news that the arrival of $43,200,000 in gold at Cherbourg gives France the largest gold reserve, per capita, in the world.

JUSTICE FOR THE MICHIGAN LIFERS.

Gov. Green of Michigan has commuted the sentences of the five obscure violators of liquor laws who had been sent to prison for life. Another victim, Alex Zack of Muskegon, finding himself confronted with the penitentiary for the rest of his life, relieved the state of his case by hanging himself in his cell in the county jail. The better known of the five who are aided by executive clemency are Fred Palm and Mrs. Etta Mae Miller.

The Michigan legislature amended the criminal code a year ago to moderate some of the dry excesses in the habitual criminal act. A distinction was made between certain classes of fourth offenders. If the maximum penalty for the fourth crime was less than five years the prisoner's sentence was fixed at seven and a half to fifteen years and not at life. The governor in commuting the life sentences gave the lifers the benefit of the revised code.

In a statement explaining this act of delayed justice the governor said that it was not "the intention of the commission that drew the criminal code, nor was it the intention of the legislature that passed the criminal code, that offenders whose fourth offense consisted of violations of the liquor law should be sent to prison for life."

It was, however, the intention of the Michigan drys who have controlled the legislature and who have made state administration circumspect or timid in offering any real opposition to fanatical dictatorship. Gov. Green appears personally to have regarded these brutal punishments with aversion, but his delay in relieving the state of its reputation for cruelty could be best explained by his feeling that if he did not proceed deliberately and cautiously his administration would be in more trouble than it could handle.

The leading prohibition bigots of Michigan have given every evidence of rejoicing over the sacrifice of life to their great joss. They have defended the law and have screamed at the liberalism which would have modified it. It is nowhere apparent that they ever succeeded, if they ever tried, to disturb the great traffic in contraband liquors which has Detroit as its center, but their delight has been to pull a few obscure persons out of an alley or out of their homes, and, finding them exposed to the savage law then available, send the wretches up on life terms for trivial violations. The state of the organized rum runners was the state of these indefensible life sentences.

The case of the bigots is psychopathic. They found a gratification in selecting here and there a victim for cruelty. The pain they could inflict had no connection with the enforcement of the law. The phenomenon merely indicated that fanaticism was seeking human sacrifices, a desire which recurs from time to time as bigotry finds itself free to act.

DEFENSE OF THE AMERICAN STANDARD OF LIVING.

The wage earner and the farmer have a direct and vital interest in the maintenance of the American navy strong enough at all times to defend the trade routes we use. The prices obtainable for our farm produce in the world market depend upon our ability to keep our communications open. The wages payable to our industrial workers depend more and more upon the maintenance of our foreign trade. The farmer leaders in their campaign for agricultural relief have declared eloquently that the American farmer would not be made a peasant, but there is nothing that would more surely compel him to live like a peasant as our failure to maintain a navy strong enough to protect our vast export. The American industrial worker lives upon a standard of material well being which he is determined to keep, but he cannot keep it if we give away our means of defending our foreign trade.

Labor leadership and agricultural leadership cannot afford to go to sleep while this issue is being determined. The notion that any reduction of naval expenditure is an acceptable relief to the wage earner and the farmer is superficial and shortsighted. Such relief can be purchased at too high a price. The American standard of living is dependent upon the maintenance of our foreign trade, export and import, and both labor and agriculture through their organization should be foremost in demanding its adequate defense.

PATRIOTISM AND FLYING SPEED.

Lieut. Alford Williams has announced the acceptance of an offer from a wealthy private citizen to finance the construction and competition of three racing seaplanes in the 1931 Schneider cup races. The planes would be American entries.

The necessity for private citizens to provide American competition in the speed tournament is a national scandal. The contest is not a stunt. It is far from being exclusively a sporting event. It is a test of national supremacy in one fundamental feature of flying and a goal to stimulate nations to greater endeavor in the air. The winning nation has the advantage and threat of superior speed and the ability to develop and handle that speed in time of war.

Because the former secretary of the navy regarded the Schneider contest as child's play, the United States was not officially represented in 1929. Neither were we unofficially represented, although, except for misfortune to his plane, Lieut. Williams would have raced, backed by a private purse. Consequently Great Britain has achieved the greatest flying speed of any nation. We have no doubt that American engineering and flying genius could challenge the British record, but with the government officially frowning on speed in the air that genius has not been inspired.

The backer of Lieut. Williams is performing a patriotic service. He is spending his money for the strengthening of national defense. It is regrettable that private citizens must save the United States from national shame.

THE CAPITAL GAIN TAX.

[Hartford, Conn., Courant.]

Although it is generally understood that no changes in our taxation laws will be undertaken at this session of congress, it would be of advantage to repeal outright, or at least gradually reduce, the capital gain tax which has proved itself to be one of the most iniquitous features of the income tax law. This tax operates to prevent the free movement of securities. By restricting the supply of stocks at times when they are most needed to stabilise market conditions, it encourages excessive brokers' loans. Rather than pay this tax to the federal government on profits that might be realized from the sale of securities, these securities are held and their market value increases out of proportion to their actual worth because the demand becomes greater than the supply. It is highly probable that the stock market would not have reached the dizzy heights it attained just before the collapse had it not been for this capital gain tax.

Early last spring a number of the country's leading bankers called attention to the danger inherent in this provision of the income tax. They predicted that largely because of it prices would soar and brokers' loans would increase to a staggering amount. These predictions were fulfilled, and largely because holders, both large and small, would not part with any portion of their holdings. They felt that the payment of the 12½ per cent tax would cut too deeply into their profits.

Senator Couzens of Michigan proposes that the tax be reduced to 10 per cent, but the treasury department seems to feel that if this were done revenue would be impaired. But if the tax is now so high that securities are not sold so freely as they would be otherwise, is it not likely that the government actually would get more revenue by lowering the tax? If it could be eliminated entirely and loss of revenue made up in other directions, a potential source of stock market danger would be removed. Furthermore, this tax tends to hinder the normal trend of transactions in real estate; indeed, its baneful influence can be found in many lines of business.

Its repeal is fully justified by the experience that has been had with it, but if repeal seems a too drastic step to take, its reduction to, say, 6 per cent would have a salutary effect.

REAL PATRIOTS.

"Some men do not realize the value of an opportunity to serve their country."

"And others do," rejoined Senator Sorghum. "Several gentlemen have signified a willingness to pay more for a seat in the senate than it would cost for a seat on the stock exchange."—Washington Star.

HELPING THE DEAF.

At the Cleveland meeting of the League for the Hard of Hearing a group of physicians of broad experience discussed methods of improving the hearing of the partially deaf. They started off agreed that partial deafness was the most widespread of all disorders. One asserted that one-half of the adult population hears poorly. Another said that "risings in the head" and other forms of ear trouble were the most prevalent of all disorders in childhood. Another said that when a child's hearing was twelve per cent below par he was liable to be regarded as dull in school or even feeble-minded.

Physicians are finding more people to be deaf than they formerly did, partly because hearing is now tested with newly devised electrical measuring apparatus. The physicians were of the opinion that there is not enough done to prevent deafness. Physicians should look in the ears in practically every case, whether there are ear symptoms or not. They should do this as a matter of routine just as they now count the pulse and respiration, take the temperature, look at the tongue, and use the stethoscope. Waiting for an ear drum to rupture or neglecting a discharging ear is almost certain to result in eventual deafness.

Certain measures of prevention were stressed. Since about one-eighth of the deafness comes in the distant wake of scarlet fever, the routine treatment of all cases of that disease with antitoxin was advocated.

One physician advocated teaching people to clear the nose by sucking the excretions back into the throat and then spitting them out or swallowing them. The nose is narrow in front and roomy behind. Any method of nose blowing is likely to force infection into the ear ducts. Sucking backward has the opposite tendency and is far safer.

Most of the speakers were agreed that the hearing of partially deafened people could be materially improved by treatment. Most of the treatment referred to was that directed at accessory factors in deafness. The sinuses are frequently infected and, being so, make the deafness worse. In every case of deafness the sinuses should be examined and, if found infected, they should be given proper treatment. In some cases of partial deafness polyps will be found in the nose. These should be removed and treatment to prevent them from returning should be given. In some cases, abnormalities in the nose will be found to be a contributing cause. In some cases trouble will be found in the teeth. Tonsils and adenoids are often at fault. Great susceptibility to colds is another contributing factor, that should not be overlooked. At times the trouble is with the diet or with sensitization to some protein food or pollen or dandruff.

FIRING ETIQUETTE.

Chicago, Jan. 17.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—Is an employer required to give an office employé, working for a weekly salary, a week's notice or a week's salary before firing him? J. H.

Depends on whether the employment is by the week or by some other period. Illinois cases tend to hold that the wage payment interval is not conclusive on this point. If the employe is discharged without legal ground during one of the recurrent periods of the employment he is entitled to pay to the end of such period, although he can be discharged at the end of the period without notice. Please be advised that a person who desires to come to the United States for permanent residence must secure a passport from the country of his citizenship and have it visaed by the American consul nearest his place of residence in New Zealand.

HOG-TIGHT FENCE PROBLEM.

Chicago, Jan. 15.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—I own 80 acres of grain land, all fenced with three strands of barbed wire, cattle tight, in good condition. My neighbor, owning the adjoining 80 acres, has it similarly cattle tight. He just notified me that I must make mine hog tight. All of it is rented out. Can he force me to put in mesh wire? C. F.

Yes, he can.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

How to the Line, let the quips fall where they may. By R. L.

YESSIR, WE HEARD THE KING YESTERDAY—

and we got a big kick out of it. Think of a king coming right into your own room and taking off his crown and hanging it on the hatrack and throwing his ermine robe over the back of a chair and sitting down on the sofa for a nice chat! Well, it was just like that yesterday morning when George, King of Great Britain and the north half of Ireland, made the opening speech at the naval conference in London and it was piped right into our house by the radio.

We had to crawl out of the hay at 4:30 a. m., which is no time to get up on a winter's morning. We heard somebody playing "God Save the King," with variations, on the pipe organ, and when we got tired of the variations and were just about to go back to bed, in popped the King. Yessir, the King himself, right in our own third floor, back, where about the last person you'd expect to find would be the King of England. Believe it or not. Didn't we hear him talking? Didn't the neighbors hear him talking? You bet they did, and pounded on the walls to prove it. But we just said, "Aw, go jump in the lake! No, no, not you, King! We mean that bird kicking on the wall over there."

Yessir, we talked to the King and we started to say, "How's the missus?" and "How about a nice hot cup of Java, King?" Or something friendly and natural like that. We couldn't get over the idea that he was really th room, just dropped in for a little visit, so to speak.

And even after he stopped talking and went away we looked at the hatrack to make sure he had put on his crown when he went out. We didn't want him to catch cold. It was all so real that we pretty near hollered after him, "Come on back, King, and we'll telephone for a taxi!" But we stopped at the door when we realized the King wouldn't need a taxi. The royal carriage was waiting down there in North State street.

OFFERING.

I shall not give you kisses,
Nor any sort of tears,
But I shall give you silence
Through all the future years.

I promise no fidelity,
Nor for you shall I grieve.
But silence is more difficult
For woman to achieve!

SHEILA STUART.

WELL, OF COURSE, you can't tell how it's going to come out, but if we were a big battleship right now, with Mr. Hoover and Ramsay MacDonald sneaking up on us with augers, steel drills, and all sorts of things that bore holes, we'd just break right away from our anchors, push right out into the great wide ocean, and say: "It's no use! They're going to get me anyhow! Good-by forever!" And dive straight down to the bottom of the sea.

HOW IT SOUNDS TO THE ANZACS.

Believe it or not, it's certainly queer the way the American language sounds to an Australian. Yesterday we found a little humorous story in the Sydney, Australia, Bulletin about an American who had just landed off the steamer and dropped into a pub for a drink. Listen now to the American talk:

"Say," commenced Sam, just off the Malolo and opening the conversation, "Arve been in this arlottment wan hour an' I'll say I kinda like it. The booze is Okaaay, an' the spirit you've got, meanin' everything spirit means, is mighty grand, believe me."

"Hedge it, Sam, hedge it! Cut out the frogswool."

"Now, that's queer. Back hoame we call frogswool horrse-feathers hafta we've used apple-sauce the once."

"And you Americans call your drinks sudden death, too, don't you?"

"Weal, the bast o' the bast is not so acootly poisonous. That lats out the hoame-stewed commardity, the some bein' baad and no two waays 'bout it. The big strike agin it is this: The 'leggerrs an' dealerrs mix cocktails, marryin' the bit o' good stuff with the baad. You caan't get the real stuff intrinsic. But Arm not divorcin' the boose, an' a unit reason why I made this trip was on account o' my hankerin' hafta a real drink."

Anyhow, we are all of us positive we don't talk that way. But maybe foreigners think that we're all wet when we try to reproduce their lingo.

AND WHILE WE'RE on the subject, it must have given those who know their England a laugh when the esteemed Chicago Daily Times in a little item regarding Sir Wilfred Grenfell called him "Sir Grenfell." Oh, my dear Daily Times! You should call him Sir Wilfred, NOT Sir Grenfell. Oh, not at all! Sir Grenfell! Oh, shocking! Really, it simply isn't done!

And We're Only About Three Jumps Ahead of That Guy as It Is.

Nelletta gently rebukes us for our getting-up-time story because we said that if some one told us a pretty, purling tale of soft boiled eggs, waffles, maple sirup, and coffee when we were struggling to get out of the hay we could leap up with enthusiasm. "Make up your mind the night before," says Nelletta, "to get up the next morning a half hour earlier than usual. Jump from your bed and stand in front of the open window and exercise arm and leg movements briskly for twenty minutes. Now, ten minutes for a cold shower, then sit down to a breakfast consisting of ½ grapefruit without sugar, 1 thin slice of dry toast, and 1 cup of black coffee without sugar. You'll be more than repaid in energy." Listen, Nelletta, that diet you recommend is all right if one is trying to reduce. But we still retain our girlish figger, and if you think we're going to cut out waffles and maple sirup and sugar you have another guess coming. And as for leaping from our downy couch and standing in front of the window and doing arm and leg exercises—NO! positively and absolutely NO! It isn't that we mind the neighbors, Nelletta; t'ell with the neighbors; let 'em look the other way; but if we jumped right out of bed for the open window in this down below zero weather and swung our arms and did the one-two-threes-rest at our age, Nelletta, we just know, the window being open and everything, that in would pop the very fellow we've been trying to dodge for years—the old Fool Killer. He's the guy we're watching out for, Nelletta, and we're going to dodge him as long as we can.

DRY-PACIFIST RULERS IN WASHINGTON

FROM THE TRIBUNE'S COLUMNS

65 YEARS AGO TODAY

JANUARY 22, 1865.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—The number of Union prisoners in the hands of the rebels is a fraction over 43,000. We hold 78,000 of the rebels, including twenty-one major and brigadier generals.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill.—A dispatch was read in the senate from Mayor Sherman of Chicago, saying that the common council of that city had passed a resolution protesting against the creation of the Chicago river commission.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa.—The Bulletin says: "A letter from Washington states that Frank P. Blair Sr. returned to Richmond with authority from President Lincoln to give safe conduct to Washington for peace commissioners from Jeff Davis."

CAIRO, Ill.—Present indications are that Gen. Thomas' army will not soon move from its present position on the Tennessee river, as winter quarters are being constructed. More than 2,000 rebel prisoners arrived here from Rock Island on their way south to be exchanged.

EDITORIAL.—The city of Chicago has learned with surprise that the lower house of the legislature has passed, with only three dissenting votes, the bill extending the charter of our city railroad companies, which have still 19 years to run, to 99 years. Such an act, so nearly unanimous, without waiting for the sanction of the common council of Chicago, or obtaining the assent of any portion of the people of Chicago, except those who are pecuniarily interested in the horse railway companies, demands the aroused attention and prompt action of our people.

30 YEARS AGO TODAY

JANUARY 22, 1900.

CHICAGO.—Capt. Frederick Ebersold, former chief of police, died at his home, 4401 Lake Park avenue, after an illness of nearly a year. He was born in Bavaria in 1841 and came to Chicago in 1857. He was chief when the Haymarket riot occurred, and that event brought him into wide notice.

LONDON.—Gen. Buller cabled under date of Jan. 21 that Gen. Warren had been engaged with the Boers near Ladysmith all day. Gen. Buller says: "The ground is difficult and as the fighting is all the time uphill it is difficult to say exactly how much we have gained, but I think we are making substantial progress."

SPEARMAN'S CAMP.—After ten hours of continuous and terrible fire on the 20th Gens. Hart and Clery advanced 1,000 yards.

LONDON.—Richard D. Blackmore, author of "Lorna Doone" and many other novels, died at Toddington at the age of 75.

10 YEARS AGO TODAY

JANUARY 22, 1920.

THE HAGUE.—The reply of the Dutch government to the demand of the allied powers that the former German emperor should be given up to them for trial is being drafted. It is predicted that Holland will decline. The former emperor has not been notified officially of the allies' demand.

DUBLIN.—Assistant Commissioner of Police Redmond was shot and killed in Harcourt street, one of Dublin's main thoroughfares. Three shots were fired at Constable Finegan of the royal Irish constabulary as he was entering his home, one of them hitting him. Police immediately began a search for the persons who fired at the constable. They paraded the streets in great force, accompanied by soldiers, firing indiscriminately. Soon the town was in a wild state of terror and alarm. In the home of Charles Culhane, president of the Sinn Fein club, all the windows were broken, and bullets knocked holes in the halls and shattered mirrors and pictures. Hand grenades also were thrown.

NEW YORK.—Mrs. Amanda C. Thomas was sued by Mrs. Milla D. Shonts for $1,000,000 damages for alienating the affections of the late Theodore P. Shonts, who named Mrs. Thomas as chief beneficiary under his will. So far as it could be learned this is the first case ever filed in which damages for the loss of affections of a dead man were claimed.

BE YOUR OWN ASSESSOR.

Chicago, Jan. 16.—Why not do away with assessors, cumbersome equalization boards, and other assessment machinery?

Let every man be his own assessor. Let him file with the clerk his own valuation of his property. Then make it any one's privilege to buy that property at the recorded valuation.

The same scheme could be used in the case of business. If any firm's filed valuation was too low, competitors would take care of the matter at once.

Valuations fixed, as at present, by a board of assessors, on things with which they are unfamiliar, can never be anything other than guesses. Guesses are unreliable—usually unjust.

Unjust valuations put a premium on tax dodging and a penalty on those willing to bear their proper share of governmental expense.

HARRY A. REA.

SCHOOLS AND AIRPORT.

Chicago, Jan. 17.—I was interested in your editorial on the municipal airport. Having gone into the matter carefully, a long term lease with proper revaluation clauses seemed the only legal way in which the matter could be handled. The Clearing property is section 16, which the United States government set aside in perpetuity for school purposes. The federal law states clearly that any money obtained by the sale of section 16 school land shall be invested and the income only can be used and for teachers' salaries. When Illinois became a state it accepted school fund land as provided by the federal government.

It may be interesting to know the Clearing land is the only section 16 which the board of education now owns intact. Also, the income derived from all funds invested from the sale of all school lands to date is only $57,000. The income from leased property is $1,005,000 a year.

In the face of these facts the board of education should be supported in a lease which is fair to our schools, the city, and the aviation industry, thereby preserving for the children of Chicago their heritage.

There is a bureau of building sites and surveys in our school system which after very scientific study recommends location of schools, and which should be asked to speak if the selfish interests back of this proposed transfer of the Clearing land for Clarendon beach property persist in their efforts.

JENNIE L. TYLER.

GOVERNMENT FOR ARRESTING PEOPLE.

Chicago, Jan. 17.—Dismiss the senate and the house; disband all legislative bodies; call off the disarmament conference; recall foreign ambassadors. All this is outside the province of government!

We have no less authority for the unusual declarations than Mrs. Catherine Waugh McCulloch, chairman of the law enforcement committee of the Chicago Woman's club, who publicly stated that "it costs a lot to enforce prohibition. It costs every government in the world heavily to arrest criminals. But that's what governments are for."

Well, we are among those deluded souls who still believe, with other old-fashioned Americans, that this is, or should be, "a government of the people, by the people, and for the people."

We resent the attempt to paraphrase this quotation to read: "A government of free people, by a fanatical, bigoted minority of the people, for the sole purpose of arresting the people."

How much longer must we be forced to listen to the caterwauling of pseudo-intellectuals? How much longer shall we be ruled by such asinine stupidity as exemplified by the statement that "governments are for the purpose of arresting people"?

WALTER F. SCHWANK,
CAPT. PAUL NORSTROM, U. S. R.

REAL SMOKE.

Chicago, Jan. 13.—In today's paper you published a picture of a chimney that was pouring forth smoke. The smoke from that chimney is inconsiderable compared to smoke from the railroad engines which stand between Van Buren and Madison streets on Canal street between 5 p. m. and 5:30 p. m. each day. Whoever is in charge of the smoke inspection should walk up Canal street at this time of day.

NINETY DAY WONDERS.

Chicago, Jan. 17.—Do you remember the "ninety day wonders," the fraternity brothers, so many of whom had officer jobs in the army? How the boys jeered and sneered concerning them! What pathetic figures they were, plying at bossing. But how right at home socially.

Now we read that the American Legion of all people sets up such a holler against abolishing the R. O. T. C. in the schools that, broke as the city is, money is found for continuing it and the simpleton system is saved. It's a great world. F. J. I.

The New Waxfree Havoline—produced by the revolutionary Govers Process—is the first pure unblended paraffin-base oil ever refined that is entirely free from wax! It is all lubricant.

Because it contains no wax, the New Waxfree Havoline circulates and lubricates every bearing instantly at temperatures where ordinary oils congeal in the oiling system. It permits your engine to turn over at the first touch of the starter at 5° below zero.

Because it is made from paraffin-base crude, this great new oil retains its sturdy body at engine temperatures as high as 500° F. Your motor requires this protection even in zero weather because the heat generated within an engine by exploding gasoline is always terrific.

No other oil in the world gives you this double protection. That is proved by definite figures—the specifications by which lubricating experts judge an oil. It is significant that the specifications of the New Waxfree Havoline are boldly published.

Impartial oil experts can tell you that these specifications show that the New Waxfree Havoline is the only oil which protects your engine at such extreme temperatures—that it is the only oil which meets every requirement of the ideal lubricant.

Surely, this is the oil for your car. If you want positive assurance that your engine is fully protected—that it will always be ready to "go" in the coldest weather, fill your crankcase with the proper grade of the New Waxfree Havoline today!

HISTORIAN TELLS HOW HE'D WRITE "500 WORD U. S."

Watches Tribune Contest with Interest.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 21.—[Special.]—Any history of the United States, whether it be in 500 or 500,000 words, would be incomplete unless it adequately chronicled the conquering of the west, is the opinion of Henry E. Bourne, managing editor of the American Historical Review, quarterly publication of the American Historical association.

"The amazing speed with which America was peopled and civilized is, without question, the outstanding feature of its history," Mr. Bourne said today, in commenting upon THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE'S $2,100 contest for the best 500 word history of the nation. "How to condense the military, industrial, political and social aspects, and at the same time to catch the spirit of the western movement from the early Atlantic colony era to the modern United States—a vast, unified, highly civilized republic—is the problem that challenges the contestants and one that would have to be solved if I were a judge of the contest."

Brevity a Valued Point.

It is Mr. Bourne's business to review and criticize historical writings of all kinds, but he confessed that he has known no previous attempt to compile a history so brief as 500 words.

"Brevity, however, is one of the attributes most sought after in historical literature," he continued.

The winning 500 word history, Mr. Bourne believes, will be one that devotes little of its contents to a narrative of wars and battles. More and more, he said, historians are getting away from the strictly military phases of a nation's development, and viewing its feats at arms in the light of causes and results, rather than the conflicts themselves.

Comments on Chicago Case.

"I certainly do not discount the value of inculcating patriotism into the minds of students," Mr. Bourne said, "but we recently saw in Chicago the absurdity of trying to make histories one sided and narrow pseudo-patriotic chronicles."

"Historians everywhere," Mr. Bourne said, "will watch with great interest the endeavor of ex-President Coolidge to write a 500 word American history to be carved upon the face of Mount Rushmore, in the Black Hills, the proposal which gave rise to THE TRIBUNE contest.

"Mr. Coolidge, no doubt, is the best qualified individual in the country to write such a history for he is noted for his brevity," Mr. Bourne added, "but I do not doubt that the contest prize winner will do the job about as well as he. In any event, the contest should set thousands of persons thinking in the terms of their country's progress and achievements, and it wouldn't hurt any of us to do a little more thinking along that line."

ROCKEFELLER RIDES IN PLANE ON GROUND AND HANDS OUT DIMES

Ormond Beach, Fla., Jan. 21.—[Special.]—For the first time in his life, John D. Rockefeller entered an airplane today and allowed himself to be taxied up and down the field but did not leave the ground.

When he arrived at the Ormond Beach golf course for his daily round of golf his attention was attracted to a low flying monoplane in which J. Stewart Harrison, vice president in charge of manufacturing of the Standard Oil company of Ohio, had flown from Cleveland. Mr. Harrison had brought greetings from executives attending the 60th anniversary of the founding of Standard Oil.

Mr. Rockefeller entered the plane, and after a ride about the field seemed very pleased, and gave Mr. and Mrs. D. L. Noyes, pilot and co-pilot respectively, a number of his shiny new dimes.

RUBIO SUPPORTS U. S. TREATMENT OF MEXICANS

President Elect Talks on Yankee Impressions.

BY JOHN CORNYN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MEXICO CITY, Jan. 21.—President Elect Pascual Ortiz Rubio has returned to Mexico from his trip through the United States with the feeling that he was very well treated.

He is not inclined to take the view of professional baiters of Uncle Sam and things American that the American government needs looking after or the part of Mexico. The press here still holds up Mexicans who migrate to the United States, temporarily or permanently, as martyrs worthy of the sympathy of Mexican people.

Supports U. S. Policy.

Ortiz Rubio expressed himself as satisfied with the treatment of Mexicans in the United States, and gave instances of expressions by American public officials that Mexicans are a valuable asset to American life.

He said that Mexicans legally entering the United States had nothing to fear, and as for those crossing the border illegally, it is not the business of the Mexican government to interfere in any way with the discipline that the United States might see fit to impose upon them.

The future president explained that his invitation to Mexicans, residing in the United States to return to Mexico naturally did not include trouble makers of previous revolutions, who might be expected to constitute a danger to the nation's peace. This sets at rest the rumor that the new president had issued a blanket invitation to all Mexicans, north of the Rio Grande, to return to Mexico after he assumed office.

Raps Trouble Stirring Mexicans.

His statement in respect to Mexicans in the United States follows:

"As far as I have seen and heard from Mexicans themselves, the greater part of our colony in the United States is hardworking, and enjoys the good will and support of American authorities. While I was in Kansas City the mayor publicly praised the Mexican colony there.

"As for Mexicans who have entered the United States without complying with the laws of immigration and who, when there, refuse to obey the laws of the land, they must naturally take the consequences."

HEALING SUNLIGHT floods SAN ANTONIO all winter

There are few "overcoat days" in San Antonio. While nights may be bracingly cool, the morning sun laughs away the hint of frost. Records of the U. S. Weather Bureau over a period of forty-four years show that January temperature averages 52.3 degrees; February, 55.4 degrees and March, 62.8 degrees.

For twenty-six years the Weather Bureau has charted the hours of actual sunlight here. January has 168.4 hours, which means that, on an average, the sun shines more than 7 hours a day for 24 days of the month. February, with 166.9 hours, averages more than six hours of sunlight a day for the entire month, while March's record jumps to 210.4 hours of sunlight or better than 7 hours for each of 30 days!

Golden, health-giving sunlight, pouring down from the blue Texas sky, floods the countryside with beneficent warmth . . . the tangy, intoxicating air woos you to a new joy in living . . . municipal tennis courts, polo fields, swimming pools, winding bridle paths, sporty golf courses and two score well-equipped public playgrounds for the children entice you to spend most of your time out-of-doors.

Every day is a new adventure in San Antonio. Motor over paved roads past Spanish missions gray with age . . . up into the hills . . . down to the sea . . . through miles of gardens, green with winter vegetables and golden with ripening citrus fruit.

A cosmopolitan city of 300,000 hospitable people, San Antonio offers you hotels, apartments and camps as luxurious or as simple as you like . . . 93 public and private schools and colleges provide for students of every age . . . modern art galleries . . . municipal and public libraries . . . museums . . . an active Little Theater movement housed in its own municipally-owned playhouse . . . lectures and an Open Forum season . . . a brief but brilliant season of Grand Opera . . . the activities of great army posts and flying fields . . . all these lend colorful interest to life in this enchanting city 200 years young!

You can loaf lazily on a sunny plaza under a whispering palm tree or play energetically in the freedom of the great Outdoors—for San Antonio is all things to all men!

Come south this winter and yield to the spell of San Antonio. You'll find new health and vigor in this fair land.

HOOSIERS HUDDLE ON HILLS AS ICY FLOODS ROAR BY

Rescue Parties Struggle On Despite Storm.

Vincennes, Ind., Jan. 21.—[Special.]—Thomas Ryan, Legionnaire and one of the largest landowners in this badly flooded county, today reported that 64 persons are living in a six room house isolated on a small knoll, the only dry spot on a farm of 1,560 acres. Of the 64, 15 are children. Two miles of water, ranging from two to twelve feet in depth and choked with heavy ice, has prevented boats from reaching them. Ryan said they have some hogs on the knoll, but the rest of their food probably is gone.

An 82 year old woman, mother of Clark Messell, is marooned in the second story of her home, unable to walk. It has been impossible to rescue her.

Risks Life for Baby's Milk.

Charles Deckard, grocer at Beal, another isolated community, risked his life walking over rotten ice to come here for canned milk to save a baby's life. He reported six families living in one small church at Beal and 30 people in another church there.

Further heavy snows today forecast more flood conditions upstate if the mercury rises soon.

The National Red Cross has assumed complete charge of all relief work in the Wabash and White rivers flood areas.

Refugee Camps Started.

Memphis, Tenn., Jan. 21.—(AP)—Working under the handicap of a sleet storm, volunteer crews under the direction of Walter Over, field representative of the American Red Cross, began the task of removing water-bound residents to refugee camps here today.

Refugees are to be housed in buildings where available and the surplus taken care of in tents and other quarters. Reports indicated that approximately 275 families will have to be brought here from the flooded area in Mississippi county, Arkansas, and about the same number in Poinsett county, to the south.

Charles Goes Right to Goal in His Chosen Profession

Charles Frederickson, 21 years old, who said he was from Hollywood, Cal., was locked up at the detective bureau yesterday when he was found sitting in a loop movie theater with a revolver strapped about his shoulder. He explained that he recently had been graduated from two schools for detectives and had come to Chicago to apply for a position as a policeman.

STATE CONVICTS FORMER WITNESS ON BOMBING CHARGES

Harlan Brown, 721 South Crawford avenue, a shipping clerk, refused to be the state's star witness in a bombing case against his former employer and a labor racketeer, and as a result he now faces a sentence of one to twenty years in the penitentiary on a charge of destruction of property by the use of a bomb. A jury in Judge William N. Gemmill's court brought in the guilty verdict last night.

Brown was charged with engineering the bombing of the home of Philip Bloom, 4860 North Hermitage avenue, on Dec. 4. The bomb caused damage to the Bloom home as well as to several adjacent buildings.

The defendant was employed as a shipping clerk in the factory of Nathan Vehon, 327 South Market street, manufacturer of women's garments. Bloom, a brother-in-law of Vehon, was his partner in business, but they parted and ill feeling developed, it was charged.

After the bombing Brown, the state charged, stole from Vehon and when he was caught he confessed the alleged bombing plot, according to the state's attorney's office. He agreed to be a state's witness, but when the bomb case was about to be brought to trial he balked and Assistant State's Attorneys C. Wayland Brooks and John Holman had him indicted for the crime, even though he did not explode the bomb. He said he had hired William Miller to do the actual bombing. Miller is now a fugitive from justice.

'BE BACK SOON!' BERLIN YELLS AS SCHURMAN GOES

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Jan. 21.—Hurrahs and calls of "Come back soon!" echoed in the Lehrter station here, while hundreds of high hats of prominent dignitaries were waved frantically as the train pulled out carrying the retiring American ambassador, Jacob Gould Schurman, to Hamburg, from where he will sail home on the S. S. George Washington.

Throngs outside waved farewell to Mr. Schurman, while on the platform German officialdom, the American colony, and the diplomatic corps joined in the biggest farewell ovation Berlin has given an ambassador in years.

Guards Keep Crowds Back.

Honor guards were stationed at the railroad station in their best uniforms, with black coats, bright buttons, and white cotton gloves, and formed a cordon around the officials to keep back the throngs of Berliners anxious to shout their last farewell to the ambassador.

President Hindenburg sent his chief aide, Dr. Meissner, to represent him. The late Dr. Gustav Stresemann's two sons brought farewell greetings from their mother. Despite the harassing political struggle raging around him, Dr. Hjalmar Schacht, president of the Reichsbank, who has always been close to Mr. Schurman, stood out in the mass.

Curtius Absent at Farewell.

Among the absent diplomats was Dr. Julius Curtius, foreign minister, who arrived from The Hague at 7 o'clock this morning, but it is rumored that the police asked him to avoid important public gathering centers and not expose himself to possible attacks of the Hitlerites, who are said to be enraged at his acceptance of the Young plan.

When the train bearing the German delegation arrived today the station was heavily guarded by detectives and police. Dr. Curtius will report to the Hindenburg cabinet tomorrow the results of The Hague conference.

YOUNG HUNTER BURNED TO DEATH IN BLAZING CABIN

Lester Benson, 19 years old, 3747 Eddy street, was burned to death and his companion, Chester Bell, 1134 Massasoit avenue, was seriously burned early yesterday when fire destroyed their hunting cabin at Diamond Lake, a mile from Mundelein in Lake county. The Mundelein fire department was called too late to rescue Benson from the cabin. His body was found among the ruins.

Both boys spent Monday duck hunting and retired at midnight after building a grate fire of logs. Bell, who was burned about the face, said that he was awakened by the smell of smoke and immediately aroused Benson. He said both started for the door, when Benson slipped and fell, slamming the door, and blocking his exit.

Bell, unable to rescue his companion, ran to the home of Robert Pratt, a neighbor, who notified the Mundelein fire department. Bell was then taken to the Elizabeth Condell Memorial hospital at Libertyville.

SINCLAIR LEWIS, IN DIVORCE PLEA, SEES INCOME UNDER $10,000

Reno, Nev., Jan. 21.—[Special.]—Sinclair Lewis, author of many best sellers of a few years ago, will have an income of less than $10,000 this year.

In a petition for modification of the decree of divorce granted Grace Hegger Lewis he asks that he be allowed to pay his former wife $200 a month instead of $1,000 monthly, and later on, if his gross income is larger than $9,600 a year, to pay her the difference between $200 a month and one-quarter of such income.

Lewis has met with reverses, the petition indicates, and expects to spend the entire year 1930 in writing a new novel in which labor will be featured. For this reason his income will be reduced greatly and he cannot figure it being more than $10,000, and estimates it at approximately $9,600.

Winter means one thing in North Dakota, another in Indiana, and something else again where Louisiana skirts the Gulf. Shell 400 "Extra Dry" Gasoline means the same thing everywhere—quick starting regardless of the weather. Shell 400 "Extra Dry" is periodically adjusted to the climatic requirements of each region where it is sold. The adjustments are made all year 'round and are based on a study of 15 years of weather in every 50-mile circle on the map. The result is a weather-wise motor fuel which starts as easily in Duluth as in Miami ... and assures uniformly fine performance everywhere.

JAPAN DISSOLVES DIET FOR FAILURE TO BACK PREMIER

Will Elect 466 to Lower House Feb. 20.

BY ST. CLAIR M'KELWAY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

TOKI, Jan. 22.—[Wednesday.]—With the opening of the London naval conference yesterday, the diet was dissolved by imperial order on account of nonsupport for the present Hamaguchi government. This action necessitates a general election, and precludes the possibility of the present legislative group taking part in the parley's naval problems.

Four hundred and sixty-six members of the lower house are to be elected by popular vote Feb. 20, and it is expected to be a victory for the present government, although the nation wide scandals, involving both major parties, may complicate issues considerably.

London Parley is Topic.

Until the dissolution order was promulgated late yesterday most of the interest in the brief session of the diet, which reopened after the New Year holidays, was centered on the London confence. Addresses by both Foreign Minister Kijuro Shidehara and Premier Yuko Hamaguchi featured the nation's hopes in the naval negotiations. Foreign Minister Shidehara declared:

"We offer no menace to any nation; we submit to menace from none."

The foreign minister further explained that Japan's demands for a 10-10-7 ratio were not affected by sentimental desires for national prestige, but were based solely upon a desire for full defense.

Concerning Chinese-Japanese relations, Shidehara did not mention the Obata episode, in which Torikichi Obata, Japan's envoy to Peiping, was refused by the Chinese. This incident is still hanging fire.

Urges China to Avoid Pitfalls.

"Japan cannot dismiss an apprehension, borne out by various historical instances, that in any country faced with political difficulties, like China, there is a temptation for the man in power to resort to an adventurous foreign policy with an eye to diverting the people's minds from internal to external affairs," said Mr. Shidehara. "I sincerely trust that responsible Chinese statesmen will avoid such temptations and will proceed to work out the country's destiny in slow and measured steps."

Of the Chinese-soviet dispute, Mr. Shidehara insisted that Japan has maintained an attitude of neutrality throughout, claiming that the cause for not answering American Secretary of State Henry L. Stimson's note was fear of being embroiled in the dispute itself.

Premier Hamaguchi discussed the naval conference hopes and domestic policies, stressing the successful financial policy which resulted in lifting the gold embargo.

TAKING OF RARE PANDA DESCRIBED BY ROOSEVELT

Before two Chicago audiences yesterday Kermit Roosevelt, son of the late President, told the story of bagging a panda, the rare animal which is said to be a link between the raccoon and the bear, on the snowy wastes of the Himalayas, 10,000 to 15,000 feet above sea level in Tibet.

The first lecture was before the Traffic club at noon at the Hotel La Salle, and the second at the Hotel Sherman in the evening before the Harvester club. Today at noon Mr. Roosevelt will recount the Asiatic adventures of himself and his brother, Theodore Roosevelt Jr., before the Chicago Association of Commerce at the Hotel La Salle.

While here Mr. Roosevelt is a guest at the Union League club and of C. T. Bradford of the International Harvester company. William V. Kelley, Chicago business man, financed the Roosevelt expedition and was a guest of honor at yesterday's luncheon.

The giant panda killed by the Roosevelt expedition last summer is now being mounted for the Field museum.

BOSTON BRUINS DEFEAT BLACKHAWKS, 5 TO 1

RASSLERS, BIG ONES, BARRED BY RING CHIEFS

Commission Blames Ban on Trusts.

BY EDWARD BURNS.

The Illinois state athletic commission, after careful investigation, decided yesterday that maybe heavyweight wrestling is not without its moments of deceit. Ever striving for all that is pure and good in sport, the commission ruled that henceforth, until further notice, heavyweight wrestling will not be permitted in Illinois.

GEN. JOHN V. CLINNIN.

While the ruling of the commission does not make heavyweight wrestling a felony like bank wrecking, safe blowing, picking pockets, holdups and porch climbing, it was felt at commission headquarters that the edict would be a thorough deterrent to the staging of heavyweight wrestling bouts hereabouts.

When the whole panorama leading up to the disbarment scene is reviewed it appears that the commissioners are more concerned about keeping wrestling out of Illinois than wrestlers are to keep it in the state. Disrespectful as it may seem, some of the country's most noble wrestling gentlemen virtually have thumbed their noses in hailing our austere commission.

About That $100,000 Purse.

The commissioners, who are men of mettle, are not persons to be given the razz by wrestlers. They felt called upon to rule with an iron hand. So now we are to have nothing but bootleg heavyweight wrestling, with the greater likelihood that there just won't be any heavyweight wrestling at all in so far as Illinois is concerned.

There are many surprising phases to the present dire situation. Among these has grown a suspicion that $100,000 which Joe Coffey advertised as the purse to be given to the winner of a wrestling tournament was looked upon by the contenders as Confederate money, which has depreciated greatly in value since it was printed in 1863.

When Doc Krone put on his recent renaissance show at the Coliseum, beautiful literature was passed among the customers. On one page was printed a 1,500 word letter from the commission setting forth the crying need for a heavyweight elimination tournament to decide the world championship. On another page was the announcement of the $100,000 which Mr. Coffey claimed to be toting, to be awarded to tournament winners and near winners. On a double page spread were the portraits of some of our finest wrestlers, with the ears retouched.

Failed to Thrill Wrestlers.

While this specimen of the printers' art was impressive to the fans, it did not, apparently, thrill the mat artists. The broadside said that entries would have to be in by Jan. 15, and specified the rules. The big push around then started, with Gus Sonnenberg, described by Commissioner Clinnin as the world champion representing the western trust or club, refusing to participate in the elimination rounds. On the other hand George Shikat, who holds the position of world champion for the eastern trust, refused to rassle Sonnenberg.

In discovering all this, the commissioners' suspicion was aroused regarding the sincerity and intensity of the heavyweight wrestling as a competitive sport. The state ban was then issued, calling off the tournament and suspending all heavyweight wrestling indefinitely.

It was reported after the edict that the right of the commission to disbar wrestling as a sport rather than by individual suspensions, was questioned and would be fought in the courts if necessary.

Tips on How Practice Game Idea Might Be Extended

BY WESTBROOK PEGLER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Jan. 21.—Ward Lambert, the basketball coach of Purdue university, may or may not have contributed to intercollegiate athletic competition a novel idea which, if adopted as a precedent in sport, would lead to very interesting developments.

Mr. Lambert's team has an engagement to play Loyola university of Chicago at Lafayette, Ind., on Jan. 30, and although the Loyola team has been coached to use the zone defense, Mr. Lambert, it was reported, requested Lennie Sachs, the Loyola coach, to use the man to man defense.

I am not quite certain that this was made a requisite condition by Mr. Lambert (he says the Loyola coach misinterpreted him and denies intending to exact such a promise), but it appears that Loyola was quite eager for the boon of Purdue's distinguished athletic company and consented to the handicap, possibly on the theory that if this were the only way to achieve such a desirable association, the end would justify a slight sacrifice of sporting principle.

Now There's Villa Nova.

It is not an uncommon type of concession even in the affairs of individuals with social or professional ambitions and colleges of the sort commonly described as minor, of which Loyola is one, to have a tendency to bow and scrape before the major schools after the manner of a department store clerk guffawing at a buyer's wit.

I understand that Villa Nova college has ambitions to be taken up athletically by Harvard university, especially in football, and now that a precedent has been openly established for this sort of thing, Villa Nova might come at Harvard with a promise not to use any forward passes. As to Harvard, however, I would hasten to add that such a proposition would not be entertained, as Mr. Will Bingham, the athletic director, and Mr. Arnold Horween, the coach, have rather old fashioned conceptions of sport and the purposes thereof, and the winning of a game under such conditions would do their personal pride no good.

It is explained that the contest with Loyola is regarded as a practice game in the Purdue program and that Mr. Lambert wished to avoid any interruption of his coaching which is designed to meet the man-to-man defense practiced by all the Western conference universities.

The term "practice game" was devised as a pride saver in the first place, and I notice that the coaches of the superior teams in such contests always send in their stars to win, if possible, when the going becomes too robust for the scrubs.

In the event that the so-called minor team is too good to be beaten, even with the stars on the ground doing their utmost, the excuse always exists and is put forward by adroit suggestion that the contest served to point out the team's weaknesses and also to give the scrubs valuable experience. In some cases, the so-called minor schools have objected to such belittlement and one year, within recent memory, the acting captain of the Columbia university boat crew frankly wrote to the captain of another university's crew one week before their dual race, saying:

"I notice that in the races which your crew has lost to date this season you boated your second varsity team, but in your winning races, you used your first crew. Please let me know at once whether you intend using your varsity or your second varsity against us, so that we may do the same as we do not wish you to concede us anything."

Might Create Queer Situations.

The alleged Purdue-Loyola agreement would create many droll situations if accepted as a fair sporting policy in other lines, for by this principle Mr. Bobby Jones, playing through the national amateur tournament, might reasonably insist that his early rounds be regarded as practice matches in preparation for the final and could stipulate that his opponents hit their drives left handed, or he might only demand that they do their putting with umbrella handles, so as not to interrupt his victorious progress toward the final match for the championship.

By the same token Babe Ruth might demand that the opposing pitchers throw him nothing but roundhouse curves on a level with his belt.

Of course, there have been somewhat similar pre-arrangements in the prize fight business for years, but at that I have never heard of a heavyweight champion with quite the effrontery to demand that his opponent refrain from ducking any and all left hooks.

Butler Whips DePauw, 39-29, for 11th Victory

Greencastle, Ind., Jan. 21. — [Special.]—Playing its thirteenth game in a strenuous season the Butler university basketball team here tonight hung up its eleventh victory and also broke its road game jink by defeating De Pauw university, 39 to 29.

De Pauw is rated a good team this year, having previously defeated both Indiana and Illinois. In the first ten minutes tonight the score was tied five times. Thereafter Butler's scoring trio, Hildebrand, Christopher, and Allen, who made 36 points, started firing away and Butler's lead at the half was 22 to 14.

NEW SOX BOSS HAS SECRET TALK WITH ART SHIRES

Manager Donie Bush of the White Sox and the club's well known young man, C. Arthur Shires, had a private visit in the former's hotel yesterday, but later the participants, as well as Secretary Harry Grabiner, said the party had not been to discuss a contract for the first baseman.

Bush and Shires have met before on several occasions and one of the first persons to comment on Donie's appointment as Sox boss was Shires.

This Wake Is Conducted By Harvey T. Woodruff.

BASEBALL VS. BOXING.

ORGANIZED baseball has written "Finis" to the pugilistic career of What-a-Man-Shires and other diamond luminaries who might heed the financial lure of ring appearance. Organized baseball can do that very thing, for no big business holds its employés in more abject serfdom than does this same organized baseball.

By the stroke of a pen, or, more correctly, by a typewritten statement for the press, baseball's high commissioner accomplishes this purpose. When organized baseball appointed a high commissioner, with no higher court to review and reverse, a czar was created whose edicts became baseball law. The player can take or leave them. If he leaves them he leaves organized baseball and his livelihood.

The Wake holds no brief for ball players in pugilism. We can appreciate the business reasons back of the boxing inhibition. Such bouts bring undesirable publicity, they might engender enmities to be carried onto the diamond during the playing season, they might result in injuries impairing a player's baseball value. So, while approving in a general way such a decree, we mildly resent not the decree but the power to issue such a decree governing a player's conduct outside the playing season.

Just as frankly we admit the business necessity for a baseball trust. Otherwise there would be competition and chaos, wrecking financially all but the strongest clubs. That, in the end, would be detrimental to the ball players, undoubtedly more detrimental than present conditions. Public opinion and self-interest urge club owners to take fewer advantages than they otherwise might.

So our views do not get us anywhere. We object to the system because, potentially, it is all in favor of the club owners; yet we recognize its necessity for sport prosperity, in which the players share.

CARNEGIE HEAD DENIES CHARGES OF PROF. AIGLER

New York, Jan. 21.—[Special.]—The repercussions of "Bulletin 23" continued today, with a denial by Dr. Howard J. Savage that documents taken from the files of the University of Michigan had been wrongfully withheld. Prof. Ralph W. Aigler, the chairman of the university's board of athletics, had claimed in his annual report that letters were removed and when he asked for them he received only photostatic copies.

Dr. Savage, who was in charge of the staff that compiled the famous bulletin for the Carnegie foundation for the advancement of teaching, also declared that the statements in it were called to the attention of the president of the University of Michigan nine months ago and were "not disagreed with."

This referred to Prof. Aigler's criticism of remarks in the bulletin regarding his university's athletic affairs. Dr. Savage said that the foundation had discovered no reason as yet for altering any of the statements in the bulletin.

Lane Heavies Nip Roosevelt in Overtime

Lane Tech and Roosevelt tied for the heavyweight lead in the north section of the City league, met on the former's floor yesterday to settle their argument for first place, and it required an extra period before the Techs won out, 37 to 35. They led 21 to 15 at the half and by the end of the third quarter appeared to have the game tucked away with a 30 to 20 lead.

Roosevelt, led by Gebbie and Capt. Cohen, brought the score to 34 to 30 with three minutes to play. Then Irv Barnofsky dribbled in for two successive stepin shots to tie the score. In the overtime, Valcek counted a free throw for Lane and Irv Silver cinched it with a short shot. Holm accounted for Roosevelt's other point on a free throw. Valcek, Kopczynski, and Silver starred for the victors.

Boston, Mass., Jan. 21.—(AP)—The Boston Bruins evened the season series standing with the Chicago Blackhawks by defeating them 5 to 1 here tonight in a bruising National league hockey conflict. The teams have clashed four times this season and have divided the victories.

Chicago was outplayed at every stage. The Bruins' ability to poke-check halted many Chicago drives.

Cooney Weiland opened the scoring, his tally not only placing him back on top of the National league scoring list but giving his team its 100th tally of the season. Dit Clapper also scored for Boston in the first and Weiland pushed his second puck into Goalie Chuck Gardiner's cage in the next period. The Bruins scored twice in the final session on shots by Hitchman and Barry.

The Hawks were seldom loose inside of the Boston blue line and their best play came in the second period when Mush March and Duke Dutkowski uncorked a scoring drive, the former slashing the rubber past Tiny Thompson.

CENTRAL A. A. U. CHAMP ENTERS GOLDEN GLOVES

75 at Peoria

PEORIA, Ill., Jan. 21.—[Special.]—Final tabulation of names entered in the Peoria Journal Transcript-Chicago Tribune Golden Gloves boxing tournament here revealed 75 competitors tonight. While the majority of entries are from Peoria, letters from Macomb, Champaign, Pekin, Bloomington, Lacon, Quincy, Washington, Kewanee and Bradley have been nominated.

George Meyer Jr., heavyweight champion of the Tribune's Golden Gloves tournament last year, is one of five entries from Quincy.

THE TRIBUNE'S third annual Golden Gloves amateur boxing tournament at the Coliseum, Feb. 25 to 28, promises to set new standards both in the caliber of competition and interest of the fans.

Nearly every entry received is accompanied by a letter from the boxer stating he is in active training not only to win in his class in THE TRIBUNE finals but to make the Chicago team which will meet New York in an intercity tourney of sixteen bouts at the Chicago Stadium March 19.

Included in the local batch of entries yesterday was that of Benny Goldblatt, the Central A. A. U. featherweight champion. Benny is a clever boxer and has had enough experience to carry him a long way. Goldblatt will represent the Hippodrome. He will compete in the trials at the Ashland Boulevard auditorium.

If entries continue to be received in such large numbers, it may be necessary to hold trials on two nights instead of one in the local districts.

Tickets for the Golden Gloves finals at the Coliseum Feb. 25, 26, 27 and 28 and the intercity tourney with New York at the Chicago Stadium March 19 will be placed on sale at THE TRIBUNE'S public service office, 1 S. Dearborn street next Monday. The prices will be one, two and three dollars. There will be no advance sale for the sectional tryouts. No seats will be reserved. The prices will be fifty cents and one dollar.

Pilkington vs. Herrera Added to Stadium Card

Irish Jack Pilkington of New York and Tony Herrera of Fort Worth yesterday were added to the card which Friday night will support the Jackie Fields - Vince Dundee battle at the Chicago Stadium. They will appear in the eight round semi-windup.

VINCE DUNDEE.

The addition of these light weights to the card brought the total bouts to six and the total number of rounds to forty. Pilkington and Herrera fought here last fall and it was their showing in that meeting which caused Matchmaker Nate Lewis to sign them for the runner-up spot on the coming card. In the fall appearance Filkington surprised the wise boys by winning a decision over the young man from Texas.

Both Champion Fields and Dundee continued training yesterday but will start to taper off this afternoon. Both are in excellent shape. Fields will fight slightly above the welterweight limit while Dundee expects to go in at 152 pounds. The fights on the card in addition to the windup and the semi-windup are as follows:

Johnny Burns, San Francisco, vs. Joe Gordon, St. Paul; 6 rounds at 162 pounds.

Harry Dublinsky, Chicago, vs. Jimmy Hackley, Indianapolis; 6 rounds at 133 pounds.

Barney Ross, Chicago, vs. Johnny Andrews, Chicago; 4 rounds at 132 pounds.

Chip Freeman, the Buffalo, N. Y., middleweight, and Chuck Hoffner of Denver, Colo., will complete preparations today for their eight round bout, feature of Promoter James C. Mullen's boxing show at the Fronton tomorrow night. Each boxed four rounds yesterday with sparring mates and will engage in light gymnasium workouts this afternoon to keep at weight.

Johnny Freeman, a brother of Chip, will clash with King Levinsky of the west side in the eight round semi-windup. They completed strenuous training yesterday. Both are well under 175 pounds. The third eight rounder will bring together Danny Delmont and Ted Henry, local lightweights. Two other fights round out the card.

The Marshall lights then tumbled the Crane ponies into a second place tie with themselves by taking a 27 to 11 verdict. Meanwhile Harrison lights took the section lead by defeating Tuley for their fourth consecutive win.

Free throws proved to be the winning margin in the Crane-Marshall heavyweight battle, both teams scoring six times from the field, while Crane counted eight charity tosses to Marshall's one. Harry Denenberg dropped in seven of that eight, and Kapland counted the losers' only free throw.

Marshall's light also relied on free throws for their victory, scoring 11 out of 13 attempted. Capt. Kleinberg featured with seven points. Lineups:

BY THOMAS FURLONG.

Several stocks on the Chicago exchange got away for gains yesterday under the stimulus of good news.

Bendix, Auburn, and Houdaille-Hershey issues moved ahead, and Acme Steel advanced three points following the release of the annual report showing an increase in earnings during 1929 and the action of directors in placing the new stock on a $4 annual dividend basis.

Acme stockholders approved the increase in the $25 capital stock from 300,000 to 500,000 shares and directors formally declared a stock dividend of 25 per cent, payable Feb. 15 to holders of record Feb. 1. The rate on the new stock is equivalent to $5 a share on the stock, which paid $4 annually.

Net Is $2,553,214.

The report shows net income for the year ended Dec. 31, after charges and federal taxes, was $2,553,214, compared with $2,183,408 in 1928, representing an increase of more than 12 per cent. The 1929 net is equal to $9.30 a share on the 274,437 shares, against $11.93 a share on the smaller capitalization in the previous year.

The balance sheet as of Dec. 31 shows current assets of $8,873,402, against current liabilities of $1,126,530. Profit and loss surplus was $3,325,664, compared with $4,143,180 at the close of 1928.

More than 11,000 shares of Bendix changed hands and the stocks climbed 2 points to 35¾. The Houdaille issues continued to gain following the report of earnings for the eleven months ended Nov. 30. Net for the period totaled $2,999,118 after all charges, compared with $2,230,232 for the calendar year of 1928. After dividend requirements on 174,707 shares of class A stock the eleven months' earnings are equal to $4.91 on the 528,853 shares of class B stock. The class A shares are convertible into class B at any time on a share for share basis.

Meets Heavy Trading.

Grigsby Grunow was heavily traded in again yesterday but showed little change for the day. Atlas Stores dropped the gain it had made on the previous day and finished at 20, Balaban & Katz broke 8 points to 67 on odd lot sales.

Gardner Denver improved a point on light trade. The company announced yesterday that it had acquired additional land in Quincy, Ill., for expansion of its present facilities.

WOOL.

LONDON, Jan. 21.—(AP)—A large number of buyers attended the opening of the first series of wool auction sales here today. A superior selection, amounting to 11,500 bales, was offered, but only 5,000 were sold. Considerable hesitation ruled and withdrawals were large, due to low bids. Fine merinos were quoted at 10 to 15 per cent lower and below the December averages, and other grades of merinos 15 to 20 per cent. Crossbreds ranged from 20 to 25 per cent lower, and Cape of Good Hope and Natal 15 to 20 per cent. Home traders were the chief buyers.

OTHER things being equal, you should select the most convenient bank, because it economizes your time and encourages the more frequent visits that enable your banker to serve you better.

This Bank was organized 19 years ago, as a convenience to the businesses, the executives, professional men, workers and shoppers who frequent the Lake Front and State Street retail districts. Now it is recognized as "the Financial Center of the Lake Front."

There must be a reason.

In these eventful years, Michigan Avenue has become the Fifth Avenue of the city. The founders of this bank were right in believing that Michigan Avenue must become the city's retail style center. But even more important, they were right in establishing a bank which seeks to serve people in the direct, sincere, mod

CHICAGO CORP. ENDS 1ST YEAR; MAKES REPORT

Net Profits Reduce Asset Shrinkage.

BY O. A. MATHER.

The Chicago corporation, the $80,000,000 trading and investment concern formed last February, issued a preliminary annual report yesterday for its first year of existence. Although the company made considerable profits, it also incurred an even larger depreciation in assets as the result of the collapse of the stock market in October and November.

Realized net profits between Feb. 9 and Dec. 31, 1929, were $4,224,443, of which $2,888,737 was received in interest and cash dividends. These profits, however, do not include cash dividends declared but not received until after Dec. 31. These may be shown in the pamphlet report to be mailed to stockholders shortly before the annual meeting on March 4.

Paper Values Decline.

On the basis of the figures made public yesterday it is indicated that the company had a market or paper loss of $11,750,000 on its holdings of securities at the end of 1929. Deducting the realized profits, the net depreciation was $7,525,557. Dividends paid on the 750,000 preference shares totaled $1,687,485. Thus the corporation started on Feb. 9, last year, with total assets of $59,375,090, and ended the year with assets of $50,161,958, or a shrinkage of $9,213,042.

Holdings of securities on Dec. 31 were worth approximately $31,700,000 at market values and the company also had more than $18,400,000 in cash, call loans and short term credits. There are outstanding 750,000 preference and 1,750,000 common shares. Originally the stock was offered in units of one preference and one common share at $66, while an additional 1,000,000 common shares were sold at $12.50 a share. The preference shares are entitled to $55 in liquidation, which would give the common share a present

Reforestation Hindered by Indifference, Taxation

BY SCRUTATOR.

One of the great puzzles to those not fully informed about forestry problems in the United States has been the apparent reluctance of the lumbermen as a whole to take steps toward regrowing timber; this in the face of reports in the past about a possible wood famine.

The lumbermen's view has been rather ably presented by Wilson Compton, secretary of the National Lumber Manufacturers' association. He holds, to begin with, that there is no threatened famine of timber, and that the lumberman is not justified in investing in projects that at best will return dividends forty to a hundred years later.

Needs Future Security.

"Private enterprise in forestry, as in every other commercial activity, must support itself from its own income," according to Mr. Compton. "The more definite, therefore, the assurance of future security of forest investment, the greater the incentives to forestry enterprise. Even at best the future demand for forest products is uncertain; the future policies of public authority with respect to forest taxation are undetermined; protection against destruction of forest property by fire, and by the ravages of disease and insects is insecure.

"All these uncertainties might, I believe, be dissolved were there reasonable assurance of sustained and liberal public use of forest products in their diversified commercial form."

This authority places the timbered acres in the United States at a half billion now, or half the original forested area. His organization believes that no good purpose would be served in the government buying up several hundred thousand additional acres of farm lands for forest growing, as has been proposed by some of the extreme and more impractical conservationists.

Would Check Substitutes.

The problem as the lumber industry sees it is to prevent the further encroachment of alternative materials to wood. The Compton figures show that Americans a quarter of a century ago used 500 board feet per capita annually and now use only 300. The aggregate consumption of all lumber and wood products has fallen 24 per cent in the same period.

Seen in this light, it is easy to understand why the lumbermen are, with some exceptions, in no hurry to go about the business of financing forests. There is no assurance that the timber can be sold when it is fully grown.

Paper Needs Expanding.

Possibly the needs of the immense paper industry are not fully covered in the discussion. Our paper needs grow greater annually. Mr. Compton has pointed out that lumbering probably will become less a saw milling business exclusively and one handling a diversity of forest products. In that case it would still need trees. We need them now, with large quantites of paper being imported from Canada.

The thing most necessary is to show the commercial users of wood that they can grow trees and make a profit. It is to be suspected that chances would be taken if the taxation feature was definitely settled.

North American Trust Shares is one of the largest fixed investment trusts. In connection with abandoning its plans Distributors Group, Inc., pointed out that over 4,000,000 shares, totaling in excess of $44,000,000, have been placed throughout the United States since organization of the trust in February, 1929.

Warburg Says Young Plan Is Milestone to Stability

New York, Jan. 21.—(AP)—Paul M. Warburg, international financier, speaking on the signing of the Young plan at The Hague at the annual meeting of the International Acceptance bank, of which he is the chairman, said that the plan is another milestone on the road to final economic peace and stabilization, and that the hope "seems fully warranted that for the next years to come bankers may look forward to conditions of political and economic stability in which credits may be extended in reasonable safety and business once more may take its normal course."

Would Curb Speculative Use of Reserve Credit

Washington, D. C., Jan. 21.—(AP)—After months of study, Senator Glass, Democrat, of Virginia, a former secretary of the treasury, will introduce tomorrow legislation to curb the use of federal reserve credit facilities in speculation and will propose before a meeting of the senate banking committee an inquiry into the banking situation.

Senator Glass has drafted a modified resolution of inquiry for the resolution proposed last spring by Senator King, Democrat, Utah, who is not on the committee. Committee members predicted tonight that the Glass substitute would be approved at tomorrow's session.

The Virginian hopes that the bill he has drafted will be the basis for the proposed investigation by the senate. His measure also would restrict chain banking, allow greater income for member banks of the federal reserve system and permit an expansion of branch banking.

Condenses Subject Matter.

The substitute resolution covers much the same ground proposed by the Utah senator, but it is more condensed. It will propose a study by the senate banking committee, or by a select committee of the senate, of the banking situation generally, of the use of federal reserve facilities in the speculative markets and of the situation surrounding the increasing amount of brokers' loans by member banks of the federal reserve.

Chairman Norbeck of the banking committee has called a session for tomorrow at which the Glass proposals will be considered. Should the committee act favorably upon the resolution of inquiry, it would have to be approved then by the senate before the study could be undertaken.

Just what attitude will be taken by the senate has not been disclosed. Likewise the position of the administration has not been shown.

Congressional leaders were loath to take any step during the recent unsettled conditions of the stock market which would hinder a recovery of stability. They now feel that stability has returned, and there appears to be a prevailing sentiment in the senate banking committee for studying the situation.

Withholds Text.

Senator Glass is generally credited with authorship of much of the federal reserve act which was enacted while he was a leader in financial affairs in the house. He helped to administer that act as secretary of the treasury during the Wilson administration. Members of the senate banking committee are inclined to heed his leadership on matters touching the act.

Pending the meeting of the committee tomorrow, Senator Glass withheld the text of his resolution of inquiry and also of his banking bill. The bill is a voluminous affair and covers a wide range, including amendments to both the federal reserve act and to the national banking act.

Spain's Peseta Active in Foreign Exchange Mart

New York, Jan. 21.—(AP)—Attention was centered on the Spanish peseta in the foreign exchange markets. The peseta dropped to 12.84 cents, then rallied to 13.06 on announcement of the resignation of Finance Minister Sotelo, whose stabilization program has met with unfavorable results. Other foreign currencies held fairly steady. The Japanese yen was firmer on announcement of a shipment of $7,000,000 in gold to New York.

BY FRED HARVEY.

New York, Jan. 21.—Stocks perked up a bit in the late trading today. The close found bear covering and short turn buying in swing in all directions, with prices up from 1 to 5 points above the previous finals. Volume increased to 2,233,230 shares.

The turn for the better reflected a more cheerful sentiment prevailing generally in speculative quarters. Not that operations reached the stage of buoyancy—far from it—but the tone was appreciably more favorable than it had been for several days and in some sections trading was quite brisk.

There were a number of developments to help operations for the rise along. President Hoover's statement that for the first time since the market break employment was increasing throughout the nation undoubtedly contributed as much as anything to the improvement.

Receive Better Reports.

Better reports came from the steel and motor industries, and the further heavy liquidation of bank credits as revealed in the weekly consolidated member banks statement tended to bolster the easy money theory.

Is your insurance real protection for your family?

It is no fault of life insurance that a large percentage of insurance money paid to individual beneficiaries in a lump sum is used up or dissipated within a few years.

Most men carry life insurance, but their idea of what it should accomplish for their dependents is often vague and indefinite.

They think of their insurance as a round sum, rather than in terms of the income which the proceeds will produce.

Have you carefully planned your insurance program so as to provide adequate and continuing safeguards for each individual in whose welfare you are interested? The procedure to this end is not complicated, and the protection which can be afforded your beneficiaries is practically certain.

An Insurance Trust can be created under which your insurance policies will be payable to the HARRIS TRUST AND SAVINGS BANK, as trustee. In a simple trust agreement you specify how the income, and ultimately, the principal, will be distributed. No charge is made until after your death, unless the agreement be revoked or amended in which case there is a nominal charge. Any of our Trust Officers will gladly explain to you the details of a Life Insurance Trust.

This interesting subject is covered more fully in our new booklet—
"MY ESTATE—How Shall It Be Administered?"—a copy of which we will gladly send you on request.

WHEAT MARKET ADVANCES AS SURPLUS SAGS

Short Covering Factor in Late Rally.

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

The wheat market is extremely sensitive to any good buying or selling and speculative operations rather than specific news were largely responsible for erratic fluctuations yesterday.

An early advance was followed by a break to below Monday's finish, but there was no material pressure on the market and toward the last short covering and commission house buying absorbed the surplus in the pit and brought about an upturn of 2@2¼c from the inside figures, with the close within a fraction of the top, with net gains of 1¼@1⅝c. March wheat closed at $1.24⅝@1.24¼; May, $1.28½@1.28⅝, and July, $1.30¼@1.30⅜.

Short covering was also a factor in causing a sharp upturn at Winnipeg, with the finish there at net gains of ⅝@1c. Liverpool was ⅜@⅞d higher on buying induced by reports of a better cash demand and an increased call for flour. Buenos Aires gained ⅞c and Rosario, ⅝@1⅛c, an advance of ⅛c in the exchange rate being a factor.

Foreign Demand Improves.

Amount of nearby wheat afloat for Europe is small and foreigners show a little more disposition to buy from North America owing to the short time it is on ocean passage. Export sales at the seaboard were estimated at 650,000 to 750,000 bu, including Manitobas to the United Kingdom and hard winters to Antwerp, while sales at the gulf were placed at 640,000 bu hard winters, Greece taking some No. 1 hard. The gulf basis was ¼c higher at the last. Milling demand here was the best in some time, with sales of 65,000 bu.

Elimination of trading in futures will result only when farmers are 100 per cent strong in coöperative marketing organizations, according to a member of the federal reserve board. The coöperatives bought one car of No. 1 northern spring wheat at Duluth during the day at $1.25. Basis on No. 1 amber durum in that market is $1.14 and ordinary No. 1 durum, $1.13.

Corn Has Narrow Range.

Corn prices held within a range of ¼c, with the action of wheat the main influence, with the close at net gains of ¼c, March being 90¼c, May, 93⅝c, and July, 95⅝@95¾c. Trade was largely of a local character, although there was some selling by commission houses early. Country offerings were small and are expected to remain so until weather conditions improve. The spot basis was steady to 1c lower, the latter on poor quality grain. Buenos Aires closed 1⅝@2¼c higher, with May, 66⅝c, or 2⅞c under Chicago, compared with 31c a few days ago.

Buying of March oats against sales of May at 1⅝c difference by cash interests and selling of May by the northwest furnished a good part of the trade in that grain. Buying of May was on resting orders and by shorts. Prices had a range of ¼@⅝c for the day, with the close unchanged to ⅛c higher. March closed at 46¼c; May, 47½c, and July, 46⅝c.

There was considerable selling of March rye against purchases of May, which the trade assumed for leading holders of the nearby month. The close was ½c higher to ⅝c lower, the former on May, which was 95½c. March rye finished at 96½c and July, 94⅝c.

LARD PRICES LOWERED

Lowering of hog prices early yesterday led to fair offerings of lard and bellies, while buying was not so brisk or general. In all it was a quiet day, with net losses on lard of 2½@5c and on bellies of 5c, on May, the only month traded in. Hogs were sharply lower early, but closed stronger.

Liverpool lard was unchanged to 3d lower. Export clearances of lard from the seaboard were 3,280,245 lbs and of bacon 1,275,500 lbs. Cash trade was fair. Prices follow:

SHORTS BUY BUTTER

Short covering sent January butter futures up $120 a car, or ⅝c per lb on the Chicago mercantile exchange, with the close ⅜c higher than the February delivery. The Tribune's article on cheaper butter was held by some traders as contributing to the demand. Sales were 76 cars and receipts, 12,385 tubs.

Better prices in St. Louis and light supply in the southwest induced upward movements in egg futures, together with more lively storage withdrawals in the four markets. The leading advance was ⅝c, $75 a car, in January fresh. Sales were 116 cars and receipts, 8,904 cases. Prices follow:

WORLD'S GRAIN MARKET NEWS

Less bearishness was observed among wheat traders and commission houses had more buying orders. With the exception of an early break selling pressure was greatly reduced and short interest was also said to have been cut down, although there is no particular change in the open interest, which is slightly over 200,000,000 bu. Traders are more disposed to consider increasing operations of the coöperatives, backed by the farm board, more seriously, and selling on breaks is less popular.

World's shipments of wheat since July 1 aggregate 354,000,000 bu, compared with 492,000,000 bu for the same time last year. At that time heavy shipments were being made to the Orient and much low grade Manitoba wheat went to the continent.

ALBERT GROSBY PLANS 7 STORY FLAT BUILDING

Will Be Erected at 5471 Blackstone Avenue.

BY AL CHASE.

Albert Grosby has taken out a building permit for a $175,000 seven story apartment building to be erected at 5471-77 Blackstone avenue from plans by Architect L. G. McNamara. The structure will occupy part of the 90x150 lot which Mr. Grosby purchased last January. Work is scheduled to start about March 15.

The building will contain ninety-six apartments of one, two, and three rooms. The design will be in the Spanish renaissance with the front elevation of stone. Mr. Grosby erected a seven story building near by at 5455 Blackstone avenue, called the Reno, a year ago.

Albert Pick has transferred title to the apartment building property at the northeast corner of Drexel and Hyde Park boulevards, 190.65x221 feet, to Walter A. Greenholt.

Jeffery Oppenheim has purchased the thirty-two flats at the southeast corner of Sacramento and Berteau avenues, lot 97x125 feet, from Joseph Newman. Arkin, Berman & Marks were attorneys.

Joseph A. Gabel has transferred the property at the northeast corner of Washtenaw avenue and Rockwell street, 575x269 feet, to the Pacific Mutual Door company.

Theodore Eiseman has transferred the property at 362-64 West Erie street to Lina Chaveriat for an undisclosed consideration. The ground, 48x100, is improved with a one story building and a three story building. Harry C. Kastens & Co. were brokers. Chaveriat & Chaveriat were attorneys.

The property at 1029 North Branch street, consisting of eight lots, has been transferred by Sidney W. and Warner G. Baird to the Great Lakes Dock and Dredge company. The property has been occupied by the buyer as a yards. Baird & Warner were brokers.

BELLAIR HOTEL COMPANY BUYS "HAYES NORTH"

The Bellair Hotel company has been formed to take over and operate the hotel at 420-28 Diversey parkway, which on its completion five or six years ago was known as the Bellair. Later it was acquired by Frank and John Hayes and operated as the Hotel Hayes North. It now resumes its original name of Bellair. Members of the hotel company are DeForrest A. Matteson, Margaret E. Matteson, and Fred Osterman. Monahan & Monahan were attorneys.

Cash Register to Remodel Its Boul Mich Building

The National Cash Register company has taken out a permit for remodeling the three story building at 315-23 North Michigan avenue from plans by Holabird & Root. The alterations will cost $84,700, according to the permit. A new front of granite and stone is to be installed.

REDUCE COTTON ACREAGE

A campaign to reduce cotton acreage to 40,000,000 acres this year is to be started in Memphis today, as indicated by advices from that section.

Weather conditions were mostly unfavorable. Some plowing has been done, but work is being delayed by cold weather and floods in some sections. Liverpool closed 3 to 4 points net higher with spot sales of 5,000 bales and the American spot market was unchanged at 17.45c in New York, with sales of middlings 900 bales. New Orleans was 17c, sales 150 bales. Galveston was 17.35c and Houston 17.30c. Prices follow:

VOTE $42,000,000 FOR IMPROVEMENT OF 3 VAN SWERINGEN RYS.

Cleveland, O., Jan. 21.—(AP)—Expenditures of $42,000,000 for additions and improvements to the Chesapeake & Ohio, Hocking Valley and Pere Marquette railways was voted here today by the board of directors of the roads on the recommendation of President J. J. Bernet.

The sum voted today is exclusive of the previous authorization of an expenditure of $40,000,000 for rolling stock for the Van Sweringen roads. Officers of the roads intimated that the expenditures during 1930 will closely approximate $100,000,000.

For the Chesapeake and Ohio the 1930 budget authorizes expenditures of $27,000,000, of which $5,000,000 is for completion of projects carried over from 1929. Seven millions of dollars will be spent on the Hocking Valley, including $4,000,000 carried over from last year. For the Pere Marquette the 1930 authorization is $8,000,000 with $2,000,000 carried over from 1929.

The expenditures, officials of the roads say, have been planned with a view to the development of the Chesapeake and Ohio as the nucleus of one of the great eastern trunk line systems which will eventually emerge for the present plans for railroad consolidation.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Jan. 21.—Great interest has been aroused in financial circles concerning the annual report of the Bethlehem Steel corporation which is to be made public Thursday. It is expected that the company's net income for the year will approximate $41,000,000, or about $12.75 a share on 3,200,000 common shares outstanding.

Estimates are that net income of Bethlehem Steel corporation in the final quarter of 1929 was between $1,250,000 and $9,000,000, equal after preferred dividends to between $2 and $2.25 a share on the full 3,200,000 common shares outstanding at the end of 1929. The report will be made public Thursday.

Bethlehem's statement will reflect the reduction which occurred in production and shipment of steel during the final three months of last year, and particularly following the slump in the stock market in October and November.

Bethlehem's share earnings naturally were reduced fn 1929 because of the substantial increase in the amount of common outstanding. In April the corporation offered stockholders rights to subscribe for one new share to each three held at $35 a share, and again in September common holders were asked to subscribe for one new share for each three then held at $15 a share.

"Both my husband's family and my family had investments with Baird & Warner at the time of the Chicago fire. I do not know how much Baird & Warner lost then, but neither one of these families has ever lost a dollar."

"It is quite an interesting fact that the fourth generation of our family are looking to you as safe custodians of their little property. My Grandmother invested with you when I was a little girl, and now my daughter, who is just twenty-one, is asking if she cannot have some of her money placed with you."

"Dividends and interest receipts on present security holdings and loans, at current rates, are more than sufficient to meet annual dividend requirements on the convertible preference stock," President C. Buys After Break in Market.

"The sharp liquidation of the stock market brought prices down to an attractive basis as regards both dividends and earnings. Beginning on Oct. 24 the corporation made substantial purchases of listed stock, which, as of Dec. 31, 1929, constituted approximately 23 per cent of the market value of its stock holdings. The maximum investment in Willys-Overland common stock amounted to 250,000 shares, which is still owned."

Following is a list of stock which comprised 95 per cent of the corporation's common stock investments at market values as of Dec. 31, 1929:

Upturn In Steel.

A sharp upturn in steel production, a decline in crude oil output and an increase in commodities moved by railroads were the chief favorable items in yesterday's general news.

Steel ingot production for the industry as a whole jumped above 69 per cent of capacity, compared with under 65 per cent last week and below 60 per cent two weeks ago. However, a year ago the average was around 83 per cent. The United States Steel corporation now is around 73 per cent and independents are at 67 per cent. Mills in the Chicago district are running between 70 and 75 per cent of capacity.

The daily average gross crude oil production last week totaled 2,661,650 barrels, a decline of 27,600 barrels a day from the previous week, according to the American Petroleum Institute. About half of the decrease occurred in Oklahoma. Refineries operated at 73 per cent of capacity.

Loadings of revenue freight for the week ended Jan. 11 totaled 863,191 cars, an increase of 86,932 over the preceding week, although a decrease of 51,247 from the corresponding week last year, it was reported today.

WILLIAM FOX DENIES CHARGE OF SPECULATING

New York, Jan. 21.—(AP)—William Fox, motion picture magnate, in a statement published today denied that he had speculated in Wall street with funds of the Fox Film corporation.

His denial was in answer to charges in a suit for an equity receivership for the corporation filed by Mrs. Susie Dryden Kuser of Bernarsville, N. J., one of the principal stockholders.

He also denied that he had received a salary of $150,000 a year from the Fox Film corporation, voted him by "dummy and rubber stamp directors," as charged in Mrs. Kuser's application.

The statement said in part:

"I deeply resent the published statement taken from the bill of complaint filed by Mrs. Anthony R. Kuser in federal court. Whatever may happen to me, I propose to maintain my honor. There is not a word of truth in the assertion that I have speculated with the money of Fox Film or Fox Theaters corporation or with the funds of any company with which I have ever been connected.

"It is also stated that I have received hundreds of thousands of dollars in salary. In point of fact I relinquished my salary three and a half years ago and never since received a dollar.

"The companies are overwhelmingly solvent. The only question is one of a little patience on the part of the creditors until new financing now under consideration can be completed."

The class "A" stockholders' committee today requested holders of Fox Film corporation class A stock to deposit their holdings on or before Feb. 15, 1930, with the Commercial National Bank and Trust company of New York.

Directors of Calumet and Hecla Consolidated Copper Mining company have declared a dividend of $1 a share. Three months ago $1.50 a share was declared, prior to which $1.25 a share was paid at quarterly intervals.

Top yesterday, $14.00; average, $13.25.

A marked increase in hog receipts broke prices 25c at the opening yesterday, but fully 10c of the loss was recovered in mid session, with closing sales 10@15c above the low spot of the forenoon.

The extreme top for load lots dropped to $10.40, although a small lot averaging 170 lbs., reached $10.50. The general average price moved down 20c at $9.90, but still 5c above the close of last week. Receipts at 45,000 were 11,000 above the advance estimate and with the 11 markets total at 147,000 comparing with 86,000 the previous Tuesday, buyers were well in control of the situation at the start.

Buy Freely on Decline.

All interests were buying hogs freely on the break and only 6,000 remained at the close, the high point of the day, in face of the 40,000 estimated for today.

There was a brisk demand for "specialties" in the cattle market yesterday. Steers of outstanding quality were extremely scarce and some sales of these kinds were among the highest in recent weeks, considering weights.

Prime 1,339 lb steers brought $16.00, the peak, equaling the highest sale of heavy cattle since October, 1929. Some 1,195 lb steers sold at $16.00, while $15.25 bought the best yearlings available. Few cattle were good enough to bring more than $14.00. Cows and heifers were slow and weak. Calves advanced 25c. Stockers and feeders were quiet.

Lamb Market Weaker.

Sheep receipts at 17,000 were above expectations and prices ruled steady to slightly lower soon after a dull top heavy opening. Losses of as much as 15@25c were cited in late sales.

Choice handy weight lambs to packers topped the list at $14.00, while most 80@90 lb averages brought $13.50@13.75, and 92@100 lb averages sold mostly at $12.75@13.35. The few aged sheep on sale were bought at steady prices. Yearlings ruled weak. Feeding lambs sold steady.

Receipts at Chicago for today are estimated at 10,000 cattle, 40,000 hogs, and 18,000 sheep, against 10,166 cattle, 23,857 hogs, and 12,990 sheep the previous Wednesday, and 7,369 cattle, 21,096 hogs, and 12,851 sheep a year ago.

Virginia-Carolina Chemical.

W. L. W.: Virginia-Carolina Chemical corporation manufactures commercial fertilizers and fertilizer materials.

For the year ended June 30, 1929, the corporation reported net profit of $1,515,501. There were outstanding 122,700 shares of 7 per cent prior preference stock, par $100; 213,392 shares of 6 per cent preferred, par $100, and 486,700 shares of no par common. Net profit in the preceding year amounted to $2,510,702.

As of June 30, 1929, surplus was $4,128,285. Current assets were $21,146,720 and current liabilities were $403,641, leaving a net working capital of $20,743,079, which compares with $20,802,597 on June 30, 1928.

Dividends are being paid on the prior preference stock. On the participating preferred stock an initial dividend of $3 per share was paid Sept. 1, 1928, applying against accumulations from July 1, 1927, to June 30, 1928. On Oct. 1, 1929, a payment of $2 per share was made. No dividends have been reported on the common.

The prior preference stock is medium grade. The participating preferred is somewhat speculative. The common is highly speculative.

General Laundry Machinery.

E. B. K.: General Laundry Machinery corporation, incorporated in June, 1927, to acquire the business of Tolhurst Machine Works and Willey-Ellis company, manufactures and sells laundry machinery and specialized machinery for other industries.

In 1927 net income was $324,638, equal to $3.25 per share earned on 100,000 no par shares. In 1928 net income was $348,644, or $3.17 per share on 110,060 shares. For the six months ended June 30, 1929, net income was $114,416, or $1.04 per share on 110,060 shares.

At the close of June, 1929, current assets were $3,051,830 and current liabilities were $559,194, leaving a net working capital of $2,492,636. Funded debt amounted to $1,913,500. The company recently passed the dividend on its common stock. The last previous dividend was 40 cents per share, paid July 29, 1929.

The stock is a speculation at present.

Georgia Power.

Mrs. G. R.: Georgia Power company first and refundig five per cent bonds, due March 1, 1967, are secured by a first mortgage on certain electric light and power properties aggregating about 50 per cent of the value of the company's entire fixed properties. They are further secured by a direct mortgage on the remaining fixed property, subject to prior liens.

Earnings in the two years ended Dec. 31, 1928, averaged 2.4 times interest charges on this issue.

News and Gossip of Stock Marts

Trade Improvement.

Improvement in New York Central was traced to new buying by interests which have been chief supporters of the stock in the past. Central "rights" expire at the end of January, after which a much belated move is looked for in the stock, which has been hampered by these outstanding privileges for some time.

Continue Gains.

Both National Biscuit old and new "when issued" stocks continued to gain ground, reaching new highs for the year. Investment buying has been a factor in Biscuit for some time. The company is planning additional expansion for the current year. It is believed that the management will follow its usual liberal policy of distributing a larger share of earnings in the form of an extra cash dividend.

Auburn Report Favorable.

The Auburn annual report was regarded as a favorable summary of earnings. Per share net exceeded $21 on 169,686 shares, against $10.77 on 141,450 shares in the previous year. While few expect these record earnings to continue, the remarks of E. L. Cord, president of the company, are indicative of another good year.

Lookings Ahead.

Reports of a $75,000,000 International Telephone and Telegraph bond issue are believed to be based on nothing more substantial than that some time, of course, the company will need more capital. No loan, it is understood, is now under consideration.

BANKRUPTCIES.

SENATE SLASHES TARIFF ON CORK PEN STOCK GRIPS

Duty on Imitation Pearls Also Reduced.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 21.—[Special.]—Numerous items in the sundries schedule of the tariff bill were disposed of today by the senate, thus clearing the way for consideration of the highly controversial sections applying to hides, leather, and shoes.

Increased rates on toys and dolls as provided in the house bill were reduced by the senate on the recommendation of the finance committee. In the only roll call of the day the coalition forced the adoption of an amendment offered by Senator David I. Walsh [Dem., Mass.] levying a duty of 1½ cents a board foot on cork insulation, cork waste, and ground cork in blocks, slabs, boards, or planks. The rate on these products proposed by the house was 2¾ cents per foot, while the finance committee propsed 2¼ cents.

Approve Duty on Caps of Fur.

On the motion of Senator Royal S. Copeland [Dem., N. Y.] the duty on imitation pearls, valued at not more than ½ cent each and not more than 5 cents an inch, was reduced from 90 to 60 per cent. The house rate of $2 a pound on perforated cork penholder grips was reduced to $1.50 a pound in accordance with a recommendation of the finance committee.

Other items on which duties were approved during the day included hats and caps of fur, tooth brushes, and cork stoppers.

Enlivens Proceedings.

Senator Walter F. George [Dem., Ga.] enlivened the proceedings with an attack upon experts of the tariff commission. The commission, he said, is packed with wool and sugar experts who will undertake to sustain any duty proposed upon these products.

Noncontroversial items in the free list was disposed of during the day. With the exception of hides, leather and shoes, and a number of other items passed over, the senate has now concluded consideration of committee amendments in all schedules of the tariff bill. After all committee amendments are acted upon, numerous individual amendments will be offered.

Issuance subject to authorization by the Board of Public Utility Commissioners of the State of New Jersey

Mr. Thomas N. McCarter, President of the Company, has summarized as follows his letter to us describing these Bonds:

BUSINESS AND TERRITORY

Public Service Electric and Gas Company, one of the largest companies of its kind in the world, owns or controls electric and gas systems serving a rapidly growing population in New Jersey estimated at over 3,000,000, or over 80% of the population of the State. The territory served extends from the Hudson River opposite New York City southwest across the State to the Delaware River opposite Philadelphia and includes Newark, Jersey City, Paterson, Trenton, Camden, Elizabeth, Bayonne, Hoboken, Passaic, the Oranges, Perth Amboy, Union City and New Brunswick.

SECURITY

The First and Refunding Mortgage Bonds, of which $87,300,000 will be outstanding upon completion of this financing, are secured by mortgage on all of the Company's mortgageable property and by pledge of leasehold estates. The value of the mortgaged and pledged property, as fixed in 1924 by independent engineers plus net additions to date at cost, is over twice the aggregate of the Company's funded debt plus the securities of leased companies to be held by the public upon completion of this financing.

The property on which these Bonds are secured by first mortgage includes over two-thirds of the electric generating capacity of the system—the Kearny power plant of 238,332 kv.-a. installed capacity and the Essex power plant of 214,444 kv.-a. installed capacity—and is valued, as above, at substantially more than the principal amount of the First and Refunding Mortgage Bonds to be outstanding.

EQUITY

The Company's funded debt and the securities of leased companies held by the public, totaling $169,124,848 as of January 1, 1930, after giving effect to this financing, are followed by its outstanding $71,739,300 Preferred Stock and 15,000,000 shares of Common Stock, the latter representing a cash investment of $150,000,000. All of the Company's common stock, except directors' shares, is owned by Public Service Corporation of New Jersey.

PURPOSE OF ISSUE

The proceeds of these $20,000,000 Bonds will reimburse the Company in part for expenditures made and to be made for additions and improvements to the properties.

SYNOPSIS.

John Andrew Kellogg, heir to millions, asks Barbara Thornton to marry him. She agrees but not very graciously. When she hears that he has just lost his job she scolds him and calls him a playboy. He calls on his attorney, David Craig, who tells him that he will never inherit the money his father left if he doesn't prove himself capable of managing his life in a sensible way. He tells him that since he has lost one job after another he will have to double five thousand dollars in thirty days or live on an income from a trust fund for the rest of his life. John Andrew telephones this to Barbara and she offers to give him five thousand to turn over to Craig. He refuses and tells her he is going out to Hollywood. She is furious with him and breaks the engagement. He decides to go to San Francisco and starts for California. On the train he meets Anne Ames, who is on her way to Hollywood with a letter of introduction to a movie producer. They become interested in each other. Before saying good-by in Utah John Andrew tells Anne that he will see her in Los Angeles in a few days.

Arrived in San Francisco John Andrew meets an old school friend, Peter Merriam, on the street. Pete is selling Mercury cars and tries to sell one to John Andrew. They go for a trial spin and with John Andrew at the wheel have a slight smashup. In order to keep Pete from losing his job John Andrew buys the custom built roadster for $4,850. He also gives all but a hundred dollars of his expense money to an old man with an invention without asking what the machine is. He drives to Los Angeles in the Mercury and sees Anne at the Consolidated studio where she is being tried out. He makes an engagement to take her to dinner. Before starting out he looks at the old man's plans and learns they are for a noiseless camera. He sells the patent rights to Consolidated for twenty-five thousand, the money to be turned over to him on the receipt of the signature of Blake, the inventor.

In the meantime the hotel people become suspicious of John Andrew and ask him to pay his bill. He decides to pawn some belongings. He receives a telegram from the inventor's attorney asking for five hundred additional or lose the contract. He tries to sell the Mercury and offers it for two thousand dollars. Before the deal is completed he is arrested by order of the Mercury Motors of San Francisco. Their attorney calls on John Andrew at the jail and tells him it was all a mistake. Fitzgerald of Consolidated lends John Andrew the five hundred necessary to send to Blake, and the Mercury people pay his hotel bill.

INSTALLMENT XXXIX.

A FRIEND INDEED.

At a few minutes before seven on Saturday morning John Andrew reached for the telephone beside his bed in the Poinsetta, and ordered grapefruit juice and coffee sent to his room; by seven he had shocked himself wide awake under the shower; when his breakfast was brought a minute or two later (John Andrew in terrific hued bathrobe), the telephone rang just as the waiter arranged the collapsible table and accepted Kellogg's sprawled name on the check: "A gentleman was waiting to see you," John Andrew was informed. "He has been here for some time, and is from one of the newspapers——"

"Tell him I left last night," Kellogg suggested.

"We already informed him to that effect, sir, but I'm afraid he knows that you are here——"

John Andrew found and lit a cigaret before he replied, "Well, send him along up." Better have the reporter in friendly mood, for Anne's sake.

Anne! Three times, the previous evening, John Andrew had called her, only to have some one where she lived tell him that Miss Ames (the first two times) was out, and (the third time) asleep, leaving orders not to be called to the telephone nor disturbed. John Andrew did not see why she was angered. This morning, as soon as he could, he intended driving to her house and finding out.

If you want a story you can get one from Consolidated.

Fitzgerald, impatient, had wired the Consolidated offices in San Francisco a brief summary of the situation concerning the soundless Blake-Kellogg camera, together with $500; before John Andrew had gone to bed (very late, and after a triumphal entry through the deserted Poinsetta lobby, with the manager out of sight) the Consolidated engineer had telephoned him that San Francisco was on the job, and reported that:

$500 had been paid Blake, through his attorneys Blake had signed everything requested. Consolidated now had possessions of the patent rights. It would be satisfactory to pay Kellogg the agreed price. Blake's attorneys had demanded $500 from the old man as their fee, and under pressure (Blake had gone to them since friends feared that Kellogg and the dreaded big corporation would take his invention and leave him nothing) the inventor had allowed them to wire for the money to Kellogg.

and so John Andrew was, or would be as soon as Consolidated's Hollywood offices opened, the possessor of $12,500, less only the $500 he had wired through Fitzgerald. . . .

Kellogg, late the night before, had sent a telegram to Craig:

ONLY TOOK A WEEK STOP IF NECESSARY CAN NOW DOUBLE TWELVE THOUSAND IN ANOTHER WEEK STOP WENT TO JAIL BUT GOT OUT STOP THINK I AM GOING TO BE MARRIED BUT NOT SURE STOP I AM BUT THE GIRL IS NOT STOP WIRE NECESSARY INTRODUCTION SOME LOS ANGELES BANK STOP IT COULD HAVE BEEN WORSE

and wondered what the old attorney's reply would be. John Andrew knew that this matter of doubling $5,000 was over. Craig would ask no proof other than John Andrew's wire.

The calm way that Fitzgerald had given him the money to clear the last obstacle pleased Kellogg immensely; he felt, and rightly, that assuring the camera for Consolidated was not the only reason the engineer had done it. It pleased him doubly that, at the time he feared there was no such thing as friendship, a man could be . . . a friend.

Only Anne's attitude remained to disturb him this bright morning, disturbing because he did not understand it. Hadn't the matter of selling the machine been cleared up entirely? Wasn't it—his going to jail—accidental? He hadn't been able to help it; he'd been up to his neck in a dozen problems, squirmed from under them, and then had Anne hit him just when he was rising. He couldn't think of a thing which should now provoke her, unless . . .

The thought came to him that she might feel badly because he had succeeded, and she failed, and her unhappiness at Consolidated not being able to record her voice—which meant failure as a star—had caused her to slip away. This idea he discarded. Anne faced things. She was frank, outspoken. She could take blows standing up. Why, then, had she left him standing on the curb outside of the jail?

John Andrew, now, called cheerfully, "Come in . . ."

"I'm from the Californian, Mr. Kellogg. We've had quite a time finding you."

Kellogg grinned. "You fellows must need news pretty badly. There was just a little misunderstanding, and it's all over. Have a cigaret? Or coffee?"

"We've been after you ever since yesterday," the reporter smiled. "Tell me about the misunderstanding."

"You can get all that from the authorities . . . or you've already got it, haven't you?"

"All we know is that you were locked up on a check charge, but that the check was good . . . we had a job finding you; the boys have been looking for a Mercury roadster all over town."

"I drove it back here last night," John Andrew said. "But that isn't news, is it?"

"Why was Mr. Fitzgerald of Consolidated with you yesterday?"

"He's just a friend of mine."

John Andrew sipped at his grapefruit juice. "Don't you know?"

"We think she's an actress, but they didn't know at the jail, and we haven't been able to recognize her from the description."

John Andrew set down his empty glass, dropped a lump of sugar into his cup, poured cream, and then filled the cup with coffee.

"I've a"—he paused, and eliminated the word "valet," which might cause more trouble, "I've a Japanese friend in the east, who says that philosophy is a great thing; 'it enables us to excuse ourselves,' he has the saying, 'for the follies of yesterday, but, alas, it does not prevent the follies of today or tomorrow.'"

"What's that got to do with the lady?"

"Not a thing," John Andrew said.

The reporter wrote rapidly, and then said, "You won't tell who she is?"

"That's it," John Andrew agreed, grinning nevertheless; "you were writing down quite a bit, old man; don't make me out a tough character just because I don't want to tell you what you yourself wouldn't tell——"

This time the reporter grinned. "That's all right," he said. "We can work up that part of the story from a different angle, maybe. I was just writing down that you know about Japan, and that it's safe to assume that you're the Kellogg heir."

"If you want a story," John Andrew said hurriedly, "you can get one from Consolidated; I've sold them a new sort of camera that'll . . . er . . . revolutionize the industry. I'm no heir. Kellogg's common name. You mean . . . the New York Kellogg, don't you? I'm not even a poor relation."

"The wire service's checked with New York already; they've told us that you came to the coast a week ago, and——"

He stopped as some one rapped at the door; "come in," John Andrew called, and took a telegram from the boy; with "pardon me," to the reporter, he tore the envelope open, and read swiftly:

THANK HEAVEN AVOID ACTRESSES DOBSON CALIFORNIA SOUTHWESTERN COME HOME GLAD

and while the reporter stared out of the window, proceeded to decode what had been perfectly plain to Craig in sending the message.

Good morning!

I guess we all like surprises, therefore I guess we're all going to like "South Sea Rose," which starts out as if it's going to be just like a thousand and one other South Sea romances—and fools us!

The story isn't particularly credible. As a matter of fact it goes to extravagant lengths to enlist your interest and inspire your laughter. The point is—it does both.

Lenore Ulric is, of course, the South Sea Rose. She plays a French girl who has been reared in an island convent where the nuns have a hard time keeping her "put." She loves to run down to the town and play "native" for tourists who never fail to be enthralled by her beauty and the songs she has culled from visiting Broadway song pluggers. One written especially for her by these boys is "South Sea Rose."

Rose's father is dead, but his former pal, captain of a merchant boat, knows—or thinks he knows—that Rose has much money coming to her from an uncle in Bordeaux. He arrives at the island, heavily in debt to his first mate. This gentleman he has promised that he will marry Rose, get control of her inheritance and settle his debt.

The girl is all eagerness to sail away with the handsome captain, who was a hero of her little girl days. The two are married at sea and the scheming husband leaves his bride with his aunt in a staid New England town, while he sets sail for Bordeaux and the money.

As you may imagine, Rose and the New England ladies don't hit it off well—which is stating the situation mildly. They fear she is a cannibal and she lets them keep on fearing. Incidents attendant on a certain club meeting will cause you to laugh heartily.

The young town doctor becomes enamoured of the visitor which provides an intriguing complication and snaps things up for the return of the captain who has found Rose to be penniless, but also has discovered that he is crazy for her just the same. I'll let the film detail further particulars for you.

Miss Ulric plays her part nicely and sings charmingly. You'll go away humming "South Sea Rose." Charles Bickford as the captain is a satisfactory cave man. Kenneth MacKenna is in character as the nice young doctor and all other rôles are intelligently managed.

The picture has been excellently directed, staged and photographed and is a good bet if you're out to put your money on an entertaining movie.

Symphony Orchestra from Minneapolis Gives Concert Here

BY EDWARD MOORE.

The Minneapolis Symphony orchestra and Henri Verbrugghen, its conductor, stopped off at Orchestra hall last night to make one visit on a winter tour that is to take it, so it is said, as far as Havana before it turns homeward again. Chicago engagements have become practically annual events with this organization, an excellent idea, since it is a good orchestra and commanded by a director with plenty of original ideas.

Hearing it in such works as Debussy's "L'Apres-Midi d'un Faune" and Strauss' "Don Juan" discloses its merits in details as well as a whole. The string section is warm and mellow, and there are individuals in the wood-wind choir that lift that section into a notable plane of its own. A first flute and a first oboe are particularly eminent here.

There were times, it is true, when the orchestra was more striking for the emotional uplift with which it began a phrase than for that which ended it. At the same time, its good tone and the first rate musical ideas of Mr. Verbrugghen made the program an important contribution to the season's supply of concerts. In addition to the compositions already cited, the orchestra played the overture to Weber's "Euryanthe," the first number, and the second symphony written by Beethoven. The final number was the prelude to Wagner's "Die Meistersinger von Nuernberg."

While Mr. Verbrugghen and his men from Minneapolis were holding forth at Orchestra hall, Helen Protheroe, soprano, and Aldo Del Missier, violinist, were giving a joint recital at Kimball hall. This theater was reached just at the time that Miss Protheroe was engaged upon a group of folk songs that included several in the Welsh language. There has been occasion in the past to note that Welsh is an uncommonly musical language, even to one who speaks no word of it. It was a curious phenomenon to be so charmed by the sounds of words that registered nothing in the understanding.

Mr. Del Missier gave an able performance of two movements of the Saint-Saëns concerto in B minor. His tone was excellent and he easily negotiated all the items of technical display that lay in his path. Wherefore he scored a definite success.

The recital of modern music announced for this morning at the Blackstone hotel by Mary Garden, Muriel Dartan, and Jean Dansereau has been postponed without further notice. Miss Garden is appearing in "Pelléas et Melisande" at the Civic Opera house this evening, and two appearances in one day are more than she cares to undertake.

Would you want a son of yours to go into business or a professional career?

A. H. Kretschmer, 2235 North Springfield avenue, accountant—A business career. A man can do more things in that than in a profession. But in a professional career he can do much for mankind. A business career holds more interest and excitement.

Mrs. Emily Manusos, 7723 Yates avenue, housewife—I have a son. I should like him to be in a profession. Whether he will I don't know. I want him to be a lawyer, and I am trying to see if he has inclinations and talent in that direction. A lawyer is prepared to follow a business, professional, or even a political career.

Fred W. Langhenrich, 4832 North Keystone avenue, architectural draftsman—A business career by all means. I am in a profession. Professions in general require so much time and sacrifice for the returns they give, unless one feels at least partly repaid by the joy and thrills of professional achievement. However, I like my profession and wouldn't give it up.

Mrs. George L. Blake, 1829 North Austin avenue, bookkeeper and stenographer—I would help him to be what he thought he wanted to be. I wouldn't want him later on to look back with regrets and say, as so many persons do, I wanted to be this or that and was not allowed to try.

John J. Crowe, 333 North Central avenue, cigar store proprietor—If I had a son I would by all means have him take a professional course. If he didn't follow it at least he wouldn't blame me. I had the pleasure of becoming a professional man—a chiropractor—and though I am at present in business, I much prefer the profession.

Jesuits Obtain Laymen's Aid to Run Loyola

Business Council Formed; Some Non-Catholics.

Loyola university last night stepped out of the beaten path of the conduct of Catholic educational institutions. That university acquired an administrative council composed entirely of laymen, including non-Catholics. Trustees of the university were hosts to the members of the new board, all prominent Chicago business men, at a dinner at the Chicago club. There the future of Loyola was the principal topic of conversation and discussion.

In announcing this radical innovation in the management of a Catholic college conducted by a religious order the Rev. Robert M. Kelley, S. J., LL. D., explained that because of the rapid growth of Loyola and the enormous increase in its purely business affairs the Jesuit fathers who form its faculty had been impressed with the need for sound business counsel and guidance. The council as organized will proceed at once to reorganize the fiscal structure of the university on a basis of modern methods of university management and direction.

"For more than half a century," Father Kelley said, "Loyola has carried on unaided by any assistance from the outside except that derived from tuition fees and voluntary contributions of our Catholic people.

"From a small college on the west side with a mere handful of students the institution has grown in a few years to one of the largest Catholic educational institutions in America, with a total student body of more than 7,000.

"With this growth in numbers has come a corresponding increase in our problems, which present difficulties not of a scholastic nature. Rather they are problems of business management, of building and rebuilding, of expansion and finance. These are the things with which we wish the council to cope."

Stuyvesant Peabody, president of the Peabody Coal company, is president of the council. The other members are Peter J. Angsten, David F. Bremner, Charles F. Clark, Edward A. Cudahy, Samuel Insull Jr., Matthew J. Hickey, Edward J. Mehren, and Martin J. Quigley.

What is now the university named after Ignatius Loyola, founder of the Society of Jesus, was called St. Ignatius college while it was located on the west side.

THEATER

"THE MATRIARCH":

Play, in three acts, by G. B. Stern, based by her (and Frank Vernon) on her like-named novel (which is known as "Tents of Israel," also); made known in Chicago (by the Dramatic League of Chicago) January 21, 1930, in the Princess Theater, with this cast:

Anastasia Rakonitz ..... Constance Collier
Oliver Maitland ..... Hecketh Pearson
Sophie Maitland ..... Paula Sabina
Mrs. Mitchell ..... Violet Ley
Wanda Rakonitz ..... Ines Bensensan
Toni Rakonitz ..... Jessie Tandy
Simson (the butler) ..... E. A. Walker
Susan Rakonitz ..... Georgian Wynter
Danny Maitland ..... Derck de Marney
Val Power ..... Dorothy Dunkels
Maximilian Rakonitz ..... Earle Grey
Isaac Cohen ..... Abraham Safaer
Elsa Rakonitz ..... Laura Smithson
Felix Rakonitz ..... Alan Keith
Louis Rakonitz ..... George Cross
Otto Solomonson ..... Albert V. Edwards
Gerald Rakonitz ..... Henry Lewis (jr.)

ENJOYING the play by Miss Stern is in no sense a matter of having first read the rich and fine novel by Miss Stern; for so much of "The Matriarch" as she has placed on stage is a complete and an ample and a self-contained comedy. Her indebtedness to Major Vernon is acknowledged in a note in the playbill. As one who has not forgotten and never shall forget the novel, itself, I say that they have taken for stage-use the part of the tale most serviceable in the Theater. The American première of the play made for a late first-night, so that there isn't at midnight time to say all that I would say of the play; but there is time to say that it is something different from anything else in plays now on view or in prospect, and that it is the most interesting play of Jewish life and character staged here or in England in the years that are gone since "Children of the Ghetto."

But, if you haven't read "The Matriarch," do not be misled by the reference to Zangwill's play into the notion that Miss Stern's is of like theme. The old play dealt with the rigid technical interpretation of the Levitical dogma: Miss Stern's deals, as adoring and witty comedy, with the survival and persistence of tribal leadership even down unto the very day that is today. She takes from the book the incidents and episodes in the adult career of Anastasia Rakonitz which have to do with Oliver Maitland and his casual son by Plymouth Nell, Danny. The scene throughout is England; and a quarter-century is spanned in the time of action.

Oliver, in the brief prologue, runs away from Sophie after she has taken the boy and informed the family that it is her own. Oliver refuses longer to be led by Anastasia: he turns his back on the Rakonitz wealth and its possibilities because he feels that he is, as a goy, an outsider, and is tolerated only because he is Sophie's husband. He isn't mistaken: Anastasia has no use for Oliver.

And, as Danny Maitland, the boy is raised into manhood as a Rakonitz: only Sophie knows that he isn't. He is, in time, betrothed to the lovely Toni, whom he believes to be his cousin. He loves her, he says, but doesn't like her; the goy in him rebels against what he detects in her to be a spiritual resemblance to Anastasia. Then, twenty-five years after his flight, Oliver returns, tells the lad the truth about his birth, and gives to him a thousand dollars with the fatherly implication that the best use the lad can possibly make of the gift is to run away from the Rakonitz family.

Danny runs away; but Toni is the true heiress to all that is Anastasia, who, a tired and fed-up old leader, passes to the grandchild the crown and the torch: as the final curtain slowly falls, Toni is the new Matriarch, and about to put herself to the task of restoring the Rakonitz fortunes.

There, I think in my haste, is a fair epitomization of the tale told in this new, fresh, and stimulating comedy—a worthy and an admirable addition to the list of new plays already put forward in Chicago by the Dramatic League. It is alive with varied studies in recognizable and plausible character, and twinkling and sparkling through the prologue and the three acts with humor and fund.

Whatever Mrs. Patrick Campbell may have done with Anastasia to have enticed London back to adoration of her, I am content with what Miss Collier does in the rôle. She doesn't see Anastasia as a shrew, as a virago, as a termagant, nor as a bully, but as one spiritually sure of the tradition which makes of her the Matriarch of the Rakonitz strain. Her Anastasia is the eternal housewife, mother, guardian, and guide to all who are in contact with her—a woman authentically out of the East. And Miss Collier's associates—most of whom were Mrs. Campbell's in London—are about what they should be with due and rapt regard for the requirements of the play.

Yes: see "The Matriarch."

Over Million Visit Chicago's Art Institute

Report for 1929 Shows Growing Interest.

Far reaching activities of the Art Institute of Chicago during 1929 were reviewed yesterday at the annual meeting of its governing members. The report was read at the institute by Robert B. Harshe, director.

The attendance figures showed 1,006,122 visitors. The membership stands at 10,017, a gain of 910 over 1928. Net receipts from the membership department were $122,457.86, making the life membership fund the largest restricted endowment of the institute, that fund now being $1,135,245. The report further says:

"A memorial fund of $26,636 was raised in memory of William McCallin McKee, curator of the department of prints and drawings. The new Burnham library was dedicated, a new studio theater added to the Goodman theater by Mr. and Mrs. William O. Goodman, and a fund of $3,200 forms the nucleus of an endowment in memory of Mrs. Herman J. Hall, founder of the museum instruction department.

"The Association of Arts and Industries presented the institute with $260,000 in cash and securities to be used to maintain an industrial art school. The principal of the fund will be supplemented by a gift of $100,000 from the general education board [Rockefeller foundation] of New York. This forms the beginning of a school of industrial art in which the training of the American designer will be developed."

The director emphasized the proposed building of an addition to the present structure to house the department of fine arts in the 1933 World's Fair. He said such a building should be permanent, so as later to house collections of the institute now in storage.

Potter Palmer, president, presided at the meeting. Trustees elected for the next seven years are David Adler, Cyrus McCormick Jr., and Charles H. Worcester. Max Epstein was elected as a trustee for a three year period. Percy B. Eckhart is a new vice president.

Red Cross Appeals for Funds to Aid Indiana Flood Victims

An emergency appeal for funds to aid in the flood stricken areas of southern Indiana and Illinois was issued yesterday by the Chicago chapter of the American Red Cross through James B. Forgan Jr., chairman. The appeal is in response to reports of suffering and need among more than 2,000 families in the inundated area.

"The severe cold weather has complicated the task of eight workers on the scene of the disaster, and an appeal for funds is being conducted throughout Indiana and Illinois," Mr. Forgan said. "Money should be sent to the Chicago chapter headquarters, 616 South Michigan avenue."

Mr. Forgan added that the report received by the Chicago chapter stated that 2,015 families are involved in the area where 100,000 acres of farm land are inundated. Already 925 families have been driven from their homes, and it is estimated that more than 1,100 families will need Red Cross assistance.

Foot Ease Often Means Ease of Mind and Body

What an ingrown toenail can do to a nice, sweet girl is just terrible! One said, not long ago, that she could trounce her infant chee-ild for nothing while that toe of hers pained.

Of course, the youngster's continued happiness could be assured, did its mamma not possess the Cinderella complex so peculiarly obvious at shoe-buying times among women, generally. I've decided, after years of pondering the subject, that adult foot troubles date back to those days of heavy reading about the little girl who won her prince by a tiny foot length.

However, that doesn't ease the pain of an ingrowing nail, does it?

Sometimes the short stocking is to blame. And here, again, you have to battle with the soundly planted Eve instinct about reducing the nether extremities to the tiniest possible denominator. The great trouble at stocking counters is to get a stocking long enough in the sole and at the same time get one that spans the ankle tightly. Compromise is usually made for ankle glory.

But a tight stocking can pull that nail back until it presses painfully upon the flesh. So it isn't always short and narrow shoes that threaten husband or chee-ild, or whatever handy human object happens to be around at the time.

To correct an ingrown nail, scrub the part thoroughly first. Lift the ingrowing corner or corners and push a small pledget of cotton into the space. Slowly increase the size of the piece of cotton until the edge of the nail is permanently lifted above the flesh and irritation is stopped.

If the flesh grows over the nail, you may have to push it back and hold it tethered in position with a strip of oxide of zinc plaster.

But the chief corrective and preventive is to give the toe breathing space by sacrificing vanity to a half-inch greater length of shoe or stockings.

Then, too, you must follow the commonly administered advice to use your scissors straight across the toe and not bother trying to round the corners artistically.

BEAUTY ANSWERS

HELEN D.: YES, THE KIND OF food you eat is important in the care of the skin. Creams and lotions alone will not improve the condition of your skin. Eat plenty of green vegetables and fresh fruits. A certain amount of roughage is necessary. Chew your food well, and drink from six to eight glasses of water daily. Other suggestions may be had for a stamped addressed envelope.

Bright Sayings of the Children

The Tribune will pay $5 for each childish saying printed. The story told must never have been printed in any magazine or paper. It is not possible to acknowledge or return unavailable contributions. Write on one side of the paper. Address bright sayings to Aunty Bee, The Tribune, Chicago.

Julius has a little friend he sometimes invites to dinner. One Sunday, knowing that we were going to have a good dinner, the little friend came uninvited. He was welcome, for we thought the boys would play together in the afternoon. But immediately after dinner the loyal friend declared: "Now, I am going home again."

Next day Julius asked him: "What do you thing we have, a restaurant?"

"No," was the answer. "In a restaurant I would have to pay, and here I don't!" W. U.

Chicagoan, Now Countess, Will Visit Her Mother

BY THALIA

The Countess de Gramedo of Paris and the Château de Ranville in Normandy has arrived within the last few days in New York City, where she will probably visit with her sister, Mrs. Charles Counselman. Later she will come on to Chicago to be the guest for a few weeks of her mother, Mrs. Harry Spenser Brown of the Ambassador hotel.

The countess, who has lived almost all her life in France, is the mother of Consuelo de Gramedo, who has been popular here during her infrequent visits with her grandmothers. The countess has not been in Chicago, where she was born since the sudden death of her husband 10 years ago.

He was born in Paris and was connected with many families of the French aristocracy, but was a Spaniard, the son of the late Count de Gramedo, Marquis de Bethmare, and a grandee of Spain. The countess is the great granddaughter of Oliver Austin Crary, who came to Chicago in 1837 from Connecticut.

The Tuesday night opera boxholders seem to be waiting until the close of its season, at the end of next week, before departing on winter vacation trips. Most of the regular attendants were in their places last evening. The Frederick H. Rawsons, who are leaving soon to cruise in their yacht, Gadfly, in southern waters, were there, with D. Mark Cummings, Miss Edith Cummings, Vernon Shaw-Kennedy of New York City, and Mrs. Henry Field as their guests.

Mr. and Mrs. James Simpson were accompanied by Mr. and Mrs John T. Pirie, Mr. and Mrs. John P. Wilson, and Dr. Samuel S. Drury of the St. Paul school, who is visiting here for a few days. Dr. and Mrs. Wilhelm Ludwig Blaum and Mr. and Mrs. Frederick T. Haskell were with Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Swift.

Howard Linn's guests included Mr. and Mrs. Rosecrans Baldwin, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Orr, and Mrs. Cudahy McCormick. Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Stackpole had with them, in the Charles B. Pike box, Mr. and Mrs. James B. Forgan, and Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert E. Porter III.

At the annual meeting of the board of the Three Arts club yesterday morning reports revealed that the last year has been highly successful.

The officers, Mrs. Charles E. Kohl as president; Miss Gwethalyn Jones as vice president, and Mrs. John C. Pitcher as treasurer, all were reelected. Other women interested in the organization, who were present, included Mrs. James C. Ames, Mrs. James Cathcart, Mrs. Erich Gerstenberg, Mrs. John A. Holabird, Mrs. Samuel Insull Jr., Mrs. Clay Judson, Mrs. Bowman C. Lingle, Mrs. Selim W. McArthur, Mrs. M. Paull Noyes, Miss Harriet Stuart, Mrs. William J. Stenson, Mrs. Charles H. Swift, and Mrs. Paul Walker.

Mrs. Henry C. Murphy was elected to succeed Mrs. Laird Bell as president of the Vocational Society for Shut-ins at the annual meeting held on Monday at the Woman's Athletic club. The other officers for the year include Mrs. Dexter Fairbank and Mrs. James Condon, first and second vice presidents, respectively; Mrs. Anna B. Marks, who is to continue as treasurer; Miss Gertrude McCarthy, recording secretary, and Mrs. Leo Nicholson, corresponding secretary.

George Stuart and his daughter, Miss Harriet Stuart, of 999 Lake Shore drive, are to leave in a few weeks for a trip south. They will go first to Biloxi, Miss., and then motor to Palm Beach. Mr. Stuart's other daughter, Miss Elizabeth Stuart, and his son, Charles Stuart, plan to join them for part of their trip.

Mrs. Stanley Field of 1550 State parkway leaves today for Sarasota, Fla. There she plans to spend the late winter at the Field winter estate.

The Alexander H. Revells of the Drake hotel have left for their annual winter stay at Palm Beach. Mrs. Finley Barrell, also of the Drake, has gone to La Jolla, Cal.

Sculptor Is Rescued by Critic, Who Then Praises His Work

BY ELEANOR JEWETT.

It is not every day that I save a sculptor in distress so now that the unique happening has occurred I rush to shriek it from the housetops. At the Arts club yesterday, in the morning before the formal opening, I found the sculptor, José de Creeft, and his very charming wife figuratively tearing their hair and nearly throwing their exhibit back into its boxes for swift withdrawal to New York, because the draperies they had been promised were not arranged and M. de Creeft's work looked like nothing at all [or even less] stuck up tight against the reddish walls.

M. de Creeft uses various mediums and gray granite, brown wood and black lead do not look their best except in contrast. They must have either space or background of the right color to throw them into relief. The background was impossible, so we gave them space and pulled and tugged and arranged and rearranged until each figure and group was back slowly its individuality and the walls were left to themselves and the sculpture grouped toward the center of the gallery.

José de Creeft is a Spanish sculptor with a Dutch surname and he does not speak English. He speaks French fluently. He is a Modernist with a feeling for the ancient sculptures of Greece and Asia and a sincere sympathy with whatever material he chances to work in. For example, the modern light metals that give themselves to pliant curves are right for the surrealiste art of today; granite and wood take different treatment; marble still different. His creed is to let each speak with its own tongue; to leave each its own character. So we see the beautiful "Enigma," that strange mingling of the Sphynx and the Virgin; so we see the strongly maternal in the granite "Maternité;" so we see delicacy and beauty of line in the ebony figurines and in the charming Cordovan marble, rose colored and warm, the "Bather;" and so we see amusing cleverness in the "Portrait of a Costa Rican" fashioned from French hardwood and possessing a captivating duck's tail at the nape of the neck.

It is a curiously interesting exhibit and possibly the more so because it is flanked by paintings of Raoul Dufy, that gorgeous spendthrift of pothooks [you will find flocks of these quaint symbols in his trees and seas].

PROF. BAKER RECALLS SAD '80S AND '90S OF DRAMA'S DISCONTENT

Despite much contrary opinion, drama never has been more alive than at the present time. Not even in the good old days, according to Prof. George Pierce Baker. He recalled the days when one peering cautiously about dared to see Sir Arthur W. Pinero's "The Second Mrs. Tanqueray."

The far cry from the old melodrama to the present more truthful drama was described by Dr. Baker, head of Yale university theater and former director of the Harvard 47 Workshop, yesterday. He addressed the Chicago Drama league at a luncheon in the Blackstone hotel.

"One led a somber life in the 80's and gay 90's," Prof. Baker declared. "We never went to the theater expecting to hear witty lines. One of the wittiest plays was 'Our Boy,' which had the worst collection of puns imaginable. Then came George Bernard Shaw, and we began to preen, and say the 18th century wit was coming back to the stage.

"A most daring product of the period was 'The Second Mrs. Tanqueray.' People literally crept in to see it until it was discovered that William Dean Howells was there, making it admittedly safe. Our attitude 35 years ago was that this country was the most moral nation on earth.

The great contribution to drama was made by Shaw, who, Prof. Baker said, set a revaluation on what had been accepted as the conduct of human life. Since "the great catechism of the war" Eugene O'Neill has been an important figure in the drama world, he said.

"Drama is tremendously alive, and has never been more so than in the last twenty-five years," Prof. Baker continued.

Prof. Baker declared a new school of producers is needed.

"I don't believe the movie and talkie are undermining the drama," he concluded.

Pope Receives Lambs, Recalling St. Agnes' Death as a Martyr

[Copyright: 1930: By The Chicago Tribune.]

ROME, Jan. 21.—The snow white lambs were solemnly blessed by Msgr. Borgonini-Duca, papal nuncio—during the ritual attending the anniversary of the martyrdom of St. Agnes. The ceremony was in the ancient church just outside Rome in the Via Nomentana, near the grave of the beloved Roman saint.

The lambs were sprinkled with holy water and incense, then they were carried through St. Agnes church on a litter carried by little girls dressed in white. The lambs then were taken by automobile to the Vatican. There they were received by two papal chamberlains who presented them to Pope Pius. The pope caressed the lambs, addressing a few words to the assembled audience on the holiness of St. Agnes.

Following these rites at the Vatican, the auto bore the animals to the Monastery of Santa Cecilia, in Trastevere.

Why Invite Trouble by Rummaging in All His Pockets?

BY DORIS BLAKE.

Another one of those tales of a wife who goes scouting through her husband's pockets and brings to light something she wasn't looking for! Or is it some evidence she was looking for?

Personally, I suspect women who go pocket hunting! Maybe not of looking for evidence—but certainly of looking for trouble! Why do you women do it?

Why don't you insist on your mates emptying their pockets into secret drawers of which they only have the combination? The morning the mate's suits are due for the tailor's you could just as well say: "Clear out the pockets, for I won't!" If husbands forget, then let the tailor take the risk of whatever disclosures lie therein. Give him an envelope and tell him to seal it and return it sealed with the suit.

It's so simple a precaution against the trouble that may otherwise be precipitated. And I am convinced, after the tales of pocket disclosures I have had to listen to, that there is no ignorance so blissful as that which lies in the unrummaged pocket.

That telephone number—that letter in feminine handwriting—that notation to call so and so! Maybe the first only the bootlegger's connection; maybe the second a nonsentimental appeal from an old girl friend, or maybe even from a new feminine acquaintance with few scruples about whether men are married or not. Maybe the notation to call so and so is no more serious of purpose than to fix up a poker date.

Or more serious maybes! Maybe the telephone number and the letter and the notation are all you suspect. The point is, if you are not ready to clear out you'd better remain in ignorance as long as you can.

There's something so mean and unfair about rifling pockets, anyway, that no self-respecting woman should be guilty of it. And opening mail not addressed to her is despicable, regardless of claims as wife and self-appointed censor.

But don't let us moralize on the right and wrong of it. Simply refuse to be a Pandora, lifting the lid on trouble you can escape touching by letting the gent or his tailor do the pocket cleaning.

You know Kotex is safe
because hospitals prefer it

Trust the guidance of great American hospitals . . . 85% of them prefer Kotex

KOTEX IS SOFT...
1—Not a deceptive softness, that soon packs into chafing hardness. But a delicate, lasting softness.
2—Safe, secure . . . keeps your mind at ease.
3—Fastidious . . . the sign of true daintiness.
4—In hospitals . . . Kotex is the identical material used by surgeons in 85% of the country's leading hospitals.
5—Deodorizes, safely, thoroughly by a special process.
Regular Kotex—45c for 12
Kotex Super-Size—65c for 12
At any drug, dry goods or department store.

KOTEX is dainty, Kotex is comfortable . . . but the fact that should mean most to you and every woman is this:

Kotex is hygienically safe. It protects health at a time when vitality is low. And it is backed by overwhelming medical preference.

Think of it! Over 85% of America's leading hospitals use Kotex absorbent. And not for one or two purposes alone . . . but for important surgical purposes as well.

Medical science has produced no finer absorbent. And now every woman in America can have this same splendid absorbent for her own personal, sanitary use! She can give herself the same hygienic care that famous hospitals give their patients.

Kotex is so highly absorbent that moisture never gathers on the surface. The surface stays delicate, soft, fluffy, clean.

Why Kotex is different

Remember that Kotex is not made of cotton, but of Cellucotton absorbent wadding. Cellucotton is a cellulose product which has 5 times the absorbency of the finest cotton.

Kotex has many other advantages which appeal to fastidious women. Some are noted at the right. Others can be learned only by actual use. This much is certain: after using Kotex, other ways seem impossibly crude, unclean, and unhygienic. Kotex Company, Chicago, Illinois.

CAN'T U. S. CURB R. C. A. RAPACITY? SENATORS ASKED

Witness Wants Mitchell Called on Carpet.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 21.—[Special.]—Oswald F. Schuette of Chicago, secretary of the Radio Protective association, today climaxed his testimony before the senate interstate commerce committee with a demand that Attorney General Mitchell be summoned to explain why he has failed to prosecute the Radio Corporation of America for violation of the anti-trust laws.

Two weeks ago, Schuette asserted, he appealed to the White House for an order directing the department of justice to take action to curb the radio corporation's intimidation of independent radio manufacturers and dealers. George Akerson, one of President Hoover's secretaries, told him, Schuette continued, to find out what the department's attitude was, and inquiry brought the response that the department was investigating, but that the matter was "very complicated."

White House "Powerless."

"I reported that to Mr. Akerson," said Schuette, "and he told me that if that was the situation the White House could do nothing."

The appeal to the White House was made, according to Schuette, in anticipation of a meeting of the independents in New York to determine whether they could continue their fight against the alleged "extortions and exactions" of the Radio corporation, which, Schuette warned the senators, has already forced many independents into bankruptcy.

"I told them it did not look as if any immediate action could be expected from the department," said Schuette, discussing his report to the conference of independents, "and they replied that if aid did not come soon, either from the department or this committee, it would be too late. Since then I have heard that one tube maker has capitulated and accepted a license from the Radio corporation."

Claims 3,500 Patents.

In all, the "monopoly" claims to control more than 3,500 patents covering virtually every phase of radio development, and in spite of the fact that many of the patents are of doubtful validity, control of the industry, Schuette said, is maintained by intimidation of independent manufacturers and dealers.

The intimidation has taken the form in some cases, Schuette continued, of letters threatening dealers with costly patent infringement suits if they attempted to sell tubes or other accessories manufactured by unlicensed independents. The letters were written on letterheads listing as counsel for the Radio corporation the foremost patent attorneys in the country, a list imposing enough in itself, according to Schuette, to frighten the average dealer.

Resents Couzens's Remark.

In the course of his testimony, Schuette registered a vigorous objection to the statement of Senator James Couzens [Rep., Mich.], chairman of the committee, yesterday, that the independents seemed to lack courage to fight the Radio corporation and "had come crying to congress for help."

"I object," said Schuette, "to the theory that only those are entitled to the protection of the law who will take the law into their own hands. The law is there and the justice department should enforce it instead of sitting back and forcing these small independents to go up alone against this six billion dollar monopoly."

"It has been tried, of course. The De Forest company tried it and spent more than $300,000 in legal action, only to be forced into bankruptcy before the suits were settled. After the company was dead, the suits were decided in its favor."

Radio Swells Elmer's Store of Knowledge

He Trails Alice Through the Looking Glass.

BY ELMER DOUGLASS.

"Alice in Wonderland's" little sister, "Through the Looking Glass," was given in dramatic, musically illustrated form from New York through W-G-N, 8 to 8:30, last evening. It was a lively performance. The musical background was culled from Tschaikowsky's "Nutcracker" suite.

I had never read "Through the Looking Glass." Nor had I learned until last evening that Lewis Carroll, of whom we hear so much in radio, was the pen name used by Charles Dodgson, and that Dodgson was an English mathematician as well as an author of imaginative stories for children. Radio often plays the part of instructor as well as entertainer.

Popularly preferred dance tunes of 1929 were played exclusively on Jean Goldkette's W-G-N orchestra program, 8:30 to 9. Listeners who were not too tired after listening to the 5 to 7:30 a. m. broadcast from London had here a dozen or more tunes to dance to, among them being, "Why Do You Love Me?" "The One Girl," "Louise," "Lucky Star," and "I Kiss Your Hand, Madame."

The Pace Jubilee singers had the W-G-N 9:30 to 10 period entirely to themselves, and they made good use of their time. "I Done My Work," a plantation work song, elaborately arranged, was a fine concert performance example. "Sinner, Please Don't Let This Harvest Pass" was an unusually interesting declamatory song and written in the minor key.

COUNCIL FLAYED BY CLEVELAND'S OUSTED MANAGER

Cleveland, O., Jan. 21.—(AP)—Calling his removal from public office a week ago "a political assassination," W. R. Hopkins, deposed Cleveland City manager, today attacked the council majority who voted for the ouster, with charges that he was deposed because he fought increased rates for the East Ohio Gas company, conflicted in policies with Maurice Maschke, Republican leader, and refused to allow councilmen to run the police department.

Hopkins made his charges as a counter attack on the list of reasons which the council said a week ago were the explanation of his dismissal. They had accused him of failure to provide for proper maintenance of the municipal light plant, negligence in failing to prevent a playground deal in which the city was swindled out of $33,250 and usurpation of powers of council and mayor.

The former city manager's attack was embodied in a 16,000 word prepared speech which he read before a crowd of several thousand citizens and over the radio.

"Where facts are alleged," he said, "they are, with few exceptions, inaccurate, incomplete and untrue."

At the conclusion of the deposed manager's address his friends in the council caused immediate adjournment without making a fight.

DETROIT'S RADIO FIRE ALARM SYSTEM HALTS; R. C. A. REFUSES TUBES

Detroit, Mich., Jan. 21.—[Special.]—Construction of two radio sending and receiving stations for the Detroit fire department has been suspended, it became known today, through the refusal of the Radio Corporation of America to sell the necessary tubes to the department for operating the sets.

Robert Karber, a Detroit radio engineer, was employed by the department to construct the sets at a cost of $12,000. Work on their construction was stopped when the radio corporation notified the department that because their materials were not being used and for the additional reason, he added, that "certain patents are believed infringed," the Radio Corporation of America and the Westinghouse Electric company would not sell the department the required radio tubes.

To provide means for increasing the salaries of professors and instructors in line with the policy of President Hutchins, the University of Chicago announced yesterday that tuition in all departments of the graduate schools of arts, literature and science and in the law and medical schools, will be raised, beginning with the summer quarter. COPS GET FIRST RADIO FOR WAR ON CRIMINALS

One of the three radio transmitters ordered by the police department was received yesterday and will be installed immediately at the Warren avenue station. Lieut. Kenneth R. Cox of Detroit, who is in charge of setting up the equipment, said the first tests would be made next week.

The three transmitters will broadcast crime information to police squad cars in the three principal geographical divisions of the city. They will be operated with a power of 500 watts and may by synchronized to broadcast a message at the same time or may be operated separately. The sets will be in operation by April 1.

The city had proposed to construct the transmitters at a cost of $28,000 by buying separate parts. This plan was abandoned when Commissioner of Police Russell was informed by the Radio Corporation of America that the installation might infringe on patent rights. As a result the cost will amount to $80,000.

Cast Depleted.

In a certain play I represented an old beggar trying to sell his white dog to a rich man, in order to get a morsel of bread. A group of boys sitting in the front row began to whistle for the dog.

He immediately jumped from my arms and ran off toward the boys. The crowd just roared, while I stood on the stage stunned. R. T.

At a Spell Down.

Years ago when I attended a country school we were having a spell down. No one could spell, "thoroughly" correctly. When my turn came I was sure I could spell it, so I spelled "throughly" and walked straight up to the front of the line.

You can imagine how I felt when the teacher asked me if I would kindly take my seat. M. K.

Teacher Writes a Plea to Mothers About School Togs

By GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

A "Play Booklet" by Mrs. Bevans for mothers of pre-school children will be sent free on receipt of a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Don't you groan sometimes in the cold, slushy weather when you have to get the younger children ready for their outing? And if their rubbers are too tight, or their galoshes won't go on or off without a struggle, or their coats are too snug in the sleeves, or their sweaters have a neck opening that's too small—don't all those things make it even worse?

But suppose you were a nursery school or kindergarten teacher and had all these obstacles multiplied by twenty or thirty or forty—wouldn't your groan be a deep one?

Here is a letter worth reading for the sake of the young school children and their teachers:

"Dear Mrs. Bevans: I am a kindergarten teacher at the ——— school, and I find your articles of great help to me in my work. I wish you would make a point in them, some time, with regard to children's school clothes.

"First, galoshes—always a problem in the lower grades. Let mother buy them large enough so the child can slip them on or off, himself. This also applies to rubbers. A child is never so happy as when he can do something for himself.

"Secondly, try to have buttons on coats that children can fasten — at least have buttons!

"Put a little loop as a hanger at the coat collar and the coat will not find a resting place on the floor.

"Next, mittens. Buy woolen ones instead of finger gloves or leather gloves with elastic or buttons. Woolen mittens are warmer, and dry without stiffening when snow men are in order. Gloves with elastic at the wrist are objectionable as they are hard to pull on or off, and many interfere with circulation. Attaching the gloves to a piece of tape to be run through the sleeves of the coat prevents loss.

"Finally, put the child's name on his coat, his hat and in his galoshes or rubbers. Ink on adhesive tape is durable and simple. Do not use initials; they are meaningless to children, though they readily learn to recognize their own name.

"Mothers should realize that children's coats, hats, and galoshes are more or less standardized and in a group of forty-eight children from six to twelve galoshes, coats, cap or hats may be identical.

"If mothers would follow these suggestions, many precious minutes of school time would be saved, and many childish tears would remain unshed. Little children take their clothing seriously and a missing coat, hat or rubber causes real anxiety. We try to give our children an outdoor recess every pleasant day, but sometimes we almost despair of getting all buttoned and properly dressed.

"I hope these suggestions will prove worthwhile."

Tailored Dinner Dress Is Popular

BY BETTINA BEDWELL.

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)

PARIS.—(Special.)—It's probably a reaction from the too-sweet dinner dresses that pall on the appetite, or maybe it's a good New Year's resolution, but anyway Paris has a weakness for the tailored dinner frock now. Crisp, simple dresses that can go anywhere and stand almost any strain are being more and more worn. They look modern and they don't lack the old S. A., either. No puffs, ruffles, or skin tight fitting about them. Just beautifully long, civilized lines patterned after nature's own.

These tailored dresses revive the chic of taffeta, flowered and brocaded. They are made of moire, and when they're for formal feasts stiff ivory white satin is the smartest fabric for them.

You can wear these unpretentious frocks and hang yourself with precious jewels as some opulent Parisiennes do, or their simplicity may be gay enough without the jazz of gems. A fancy of the moment is a dinner dress of silvery gray brocaded taffeta, moire, or satin with necklaces and bracelets of garnets. Nothing prettier has been seen around these parts for long and weary seasons.

The dress shown in the accompanying sketch is the color of a brand new dollar. It's taffeta with hothouse size velvet butterflies in darker gray flying over its surface. With it is worn a small three strand necklace made entirely of slender bars of garnet, and a long necklace of square cut garnets. The color scheme is a knockout, and, my dears, it's practical because it isn't even a teeny bit gaudy, and can keep in favor during a long run of public appearances.

Lucile Paray made this frock just as simple as any of those chemise dresses we used to wear, and at the same time she has given it a charm of sophistication by the big petal panels that are placed on the skirt. There are two in front and two in back, set on at irregular heighths. There is a taffeta belt around a waistline that is only near normal and therefore easy to wear.

A FRIEND IN NEED

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

Widow Is in Want.

"I am a widow, 60 years of age. I have lived in Chicago 41 years, the orphan of a civil war veteran. Today I am alone, sick and unable to find work. I raised a family, but none of my children is living. I have neuritis and asthma and am badly in need of everything.

"I am living with a widow who gives me a home for what little I can do, but I need warm clothes. I do not car for a coat or hat, as I cannot go out, but I could use warm underwear and dresses. I wear size 44.

"Mrs. A. S."

Isn't old age a sad, pitiful state when one is alone and without any means of providing even necessities? This poor woman who should be living in comfort and enjoying the reward of years of service finds herself almost destitute and is asking for sufficient clothing to keep her warm.

TRIBUNE COOK BOOK

BY JANE EDDINGTON.

The Globe Artichoke.

In the latest book by Alice Foote MacDougall, the enormously successful woman in New York City who built up a string of restaurants—a book of great value to anybody in that business—she says: "With the best intentions in the world you sometimes come a cropper, as in our case with the person whom I have dubbed the 'Lady of the Artichoke.' This dear person proceeded to cut her artichoke with her knife and fork and eat it bodily. She complained that it was tough and choked her. We believed it did, substituted spinach, and all was serene."

It is no wonder that this green bud called the globe artichoke, which really is the head of a thistle all set to blossom, should represent an eating problem to people totally unacquainted with it. The Italians do eat the whole bud, but their artichokes in general are smaller than what we see; nevertheless they have what we might expect in the case of a thistle, a little thorn at the end of each leaf of this calix of what would be the blossom. This latter is composed of little filaments, and is the "choke" of the bud.

Some people to whom the artichoke is served looking like a great opening pond lily, press down the outer leaves and pull out with their thumb and finger the inner leaves which are much tenderer and have more of the soft part, which the eater pulls off with his teeth by closing them on the leaf and pulling. Someone has spoken of this business as "sucking the meat" out of each leaf, but it really requires more force than that to get the bit of food out of the meaty lower end of each leaf of the calix. After the leaves are all pulled out the bottom is eaten with a fork. The soft bottom, which the French call a "fond," is eaten with a fork after it has received some sauce. The lower leaf ends are dipped in the sauce.

To cook an artichoke do not trim it or break its seal. Wash it, drop it into boiling water, then rinse it with ice cold water, and cook it for fifteen minutes in water to cover.

FARM AND GARDEN BY PAUL POTTER

There is a growing tendency to use fruits, especially fruit trees, for ornament as much as utility. It is not difficult to appreciate this, for their flowers certainly are a whole show in themselves, and the fruits often make striking effects in contrast with the foliage. Flowering shrubs and trees, especially those bearing colorful fruits, always are in demand. There is surely no reason to disregard domestic fruits.

In localities where commercial orchards exist, people come from great distances to see the trees in bloom. The early cloudlike masses of white bloom on the cherries, plums, and pears, and the exquisite pink glory of apples in full bloom are sights to be remembered. And withal they fill the air with fragrance borne far by the breezes. As the season advances and the branches bow with clustered fruit, a great appeal is made to the eye, as well as the palate.

Make fruit trees a part of your flower scheme. Often a large mass of color, such as a full blooming fruit tree offers, is just the thing to make a picture that will stand out in your memory in contrast with the pictures presented by the landscape planting at other periods of the season.
